1928 Greeted Hilariously by Thousands at New Year's Eve Celebration

HOTELS, CLUBS CROWDED WITH 5,000 REVELERS

Observance Said to Be Most Extensive and Gay Since
Pre-Volstead Days

MANY PRIVATE PARTIES

Special Revues Feature
Public Celebrations in Hotels, Night Clubs

With the tolling of bells, blowing of whistles and hilarious celebrations that lasted into the wee small hours of the morning, Rochester last night assisted Father Time in writing finis to 1927 and turning over the page to 1928.

It was one of the most extensive observances of New Year's Eve held in the city for years. At least five thousand persons gathered in clubs, hotels and night clubs for the supper dances and entertainments which ushered in the New Year with appropriate ceremony. Not since pre-Volstead days had there been such gaiety. The spirit of leap year already pervaded the atmosphere.

The actual moment when 1927 passed into history was signaled by the dimming of lights and the striking of chimes for midnight. All over the city bells and whistles marked the hour of 12, and at the various social entertainments pandemonium broke loose. Clappers, whistles and other noise makers were pressed into use and confetti and streamers were showered over the guests. Colored lights broken up into a million flecks of shifting brilliance by crystal reflectors made a scene of scintillating beauty.

Taps and Reveille Sounded

At one celebration the stroke of midnight was greeted by the blowing of taps for the old year and reveille for the new. At another a dancing novelty, in which a ballet dancer stepped out of a mammoth snowball to pirouette amid a shower of tiny glistening snowballs thrown by the guests, had been arranged. As the last stroke of the hour died away the guests joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne" and other songs appropriate to the occasion.

Elaborate decorations and souvenirs marked many of the parties. At the Hotel Seneca each feminine guest found beside her plate an attractive vanity case. Bridge sets, with cards and score pad enclosed in a leather case, were distributed at the Odenbach Restaurant, while at the Elks Club each woman was given a pocket manicure set and cigaret holder. Dressing table powder boxes were the souvenirs at the Rochester Club, and at Oak Hill Country Club. The Sagamore distributed dainty powder cases that could be pinned to the wearer's gown.

Laurel ropes, holley wreaths, mistletoe and other decorations reminiscent of Christmas were used in many of the clubs and hotels. At the Hotel Seneca, where five hundred guests were accommodated in the ballroom, an unusual effect was gained by butterfly streamers hanging from the ceiling and secured with a lace work of silver thread. Tiny Christmas trees and Jerusalem Cherry trees were used as table decorations at several places.

Large Parties at Hotels

Among the largest parties were those at the Hotel Seneca, the Powers Hotel and the Odenbach Restaurant. Each of these establishments entertained between four and five hundred guests. Dancing students of Mrs. Florence Colebrook Powers gave programs at the two last named places.

The Sagamore roof was crowded to capacity by 375 guests. Dance music and entertainment was furnished by Hughie Barrett and his orchestra. Dinner dances for members and their friends attracted 350 revellers to the Oak Hill Country Club and the Rochester Club. At the latter club Mrs. Enid Knapp Botsford and her pupils gave exhibition dances.

Another large party was that at the Elks Club where three hundred guests dined and danced. The Plantation accommodated more than one hundred guests, as did the Chateau and other establishments of the night club type in and about Rochester. The Rochester Lodge of Moose turned out two hundred strong for the celebration at the Moose Temple, and several hundred merry-makers attended the dinner dance at the Rose Garden.

Several private dances were given. Among the largest was Mrs. Walter S. Meyers's New Year's Eve party at the Irondequoit Country Club and the dinner dance at which Mrs. Barbara Bonbright and Charles C. Stearns entertained at the Country Club of Rochester. Nearly one hundred guests were present at both parties.

Strong Hockey Combination in City Seems Certain This Winter

Harry Scott, crack player who was compelled to stand on the sidelines a year ago when the hockey team was in action due to a head injury, will be back with the Rochester Hockey Club this year, it was learned last night. Scott was one of the mainstays of the 1926 team and his return to the game will be pleasing to the old supporters of the outfit. He gained his experience with the St. Kits outfit.

Several other promising candidates for the team have been dug up during the past week. Among them are Leo O'Halloran, a student at the Eastman School of Music. The club tried hard to land O'Halloran last year but he did not feel he could give the necessary time then. He was a star player with Guelph two years ago and considered one of the foremost amateurs in Canada.

Leon Worthall, who played a mean game at goal for the Parkdale Club of Toronto last year and Ralph Boncham, of Kingston, are two others who look like real good material.

Canadians Are Classy

Although present conditions are hardly favorable for ice hockey, followers of the sport are squeezing hard for more seasonable weather the early part of this week to insure ice for the opening game scheduled for Thursday night on the Country Club of Rochester rink in East avenue. Victoria College, of Toronto, will be the opposing sextet. The Canadians are rated with the best college hockey combinations in the Dominion and it looks very much as if the Rochester club has undertaken a man's size job in booking such a formidable team for the opening game.

If it would only freeze up hard enough to-day to permit skating on the Eastern Widewaters rink tomorrow afternoon, Coach Philip Burnham plans to hold another workout. The team has not had a real practice this year but managed to iron out some of the kinks last Monday. As there was no pen on the ice, real hockey practice was impossible.

In view of this fact, Coach Burnham will be satisfied if his charges make a favorable showing against the strong Canadian collegians in the opening game.

The club is going right ahead preparing for the opener. The four-foot boards will be up and the flood

George Christ, Reilly Fifth

Miami, Jan. 1. — George Christ, professional of the Country Club of Rochester and champion of the Western New York Professional Golfers' Association, paired with Robert Reilly, amateur of the Country Club of Rochester, here to-day to finish fifth in the amateur-professional best-ball tourney at the Bay Shores course. Christ and Reilly had a best-ball score of 69, two under par on the 71 course. Gene Sarazen and partner won the event which attracted such other pro stars as Farrell, Walker and Kline.

HOCKEY CLUB STARTS WITH VICTORIA SIX

Crack Toronto Team Here
To-morrow; Upper Is Named Captain

Lloyd Upper will captain the Rochester Hockey Club on the ice this season. Upper was elected to the post at a meeting last night. Phillip Burnham was officially named coach. Other officers of the club were elected as follows: Honorary president, William J. Anderson; president, John W. Holden; secretary and treasurer, Howard H. Kemp, and manager, Robert P. D. Kidd.

Manager Kidd returned yesterday from Boston where he completed negotiations with the Boston University Club for a game in that city some time this month, the date to be announced within a few days. The Boston team is one of the crack teams of that city and numbers among its players George Owen, a former Harvard captain and All-American football player in 1924.

The Victoria College team which will oppose the locals in the opening game to-morrow night on the Country Club of Rochester rink promises to give the locals a real battle. The Toronto collegians defeated Syracuse University last year and have held the Jennings trophy in Toronto for the past two seasons. The team did not lose a game in the competition last season.

The visitors will arrive in the city early to-morrow afternoon in charge of W. J. Little. The squad includes H. D. Wallace, W. B. MacDonald, G. K. McMillan, E. A. Allen, captain; M. D. Hager, A. P. Stanley, F. R. Lindsay, W. E. Plewman and T. C. Sparling. All but Sparling are veterans.

The rink at the Country Club of Rochester is now ready for the opening encounter. Flood lights and boards were put in place yesterday and the team will work out in the pen for the first time to-night at 6 o'clock. Tickets for the opening game will go on sale to-day at Spalding's store in Clinton avenue north.

HOCKEY CLUB DRIVEN HARD BY BURNHAM

Wells, Newcomer, Displays
Speed; Oppose Toronto
Six Here Thursday

Under the most favorable weather conditions of the season, the Rochester Hockey Club put in a strenuous afternoon on the Eastern Wide-waters rink yesterday afternoon, working out all afternoon against three or four combinations. Competition for places on the team promises to be more keen than ever this year and a number of new faces seem certain to be seen in the line-up when the team gets under way.

One of the strongest bidders for a regular berth with the Rochester team this year appeared in this practice. He is Charles Wells, crack center and left wing of the Trenton, Ont., intermediate team last year. In yesterday's practice session, he was in the thick of the play from start to finish and impressed Coach Philip Burnham very much. So much in fact that Wells is certain to be seen in action in the first game Thursday night when the local six opposes the crack Victoria College team, of Toronto, on the Country Club of Rochester rink.

Sharpe Works Out

Harold Sharpe, crack goalie, made his first appearance with the squad and appeared to be in first class shape for his task, giving his usual good exhibition of keeping the puck out of the goal.

After yesterday's practice Coach Burnham said he probably would use the following line-up in the first game: Sharpe, goal; Upper and Kidd, defense; Jackman and Fowler, wings, and Richards, center. Harry Scott and Wells look like the best reserve material to show thus far and will be in the cage. While this probably will be the team that will start against Victoria College, Coach Burnham declares there is plenty of room for improvement in the combination and is keeping a sharp eye out for likely material.

The matter of naming a captain for the team will be attended to Thursday night, just before the team takes to the ice for the opening game.

There will be a meeting of the club to-night at the Democrat and Chronicle at 8 o'clock.

George Christ in Miami Beach Open Money List as Sarazen Cops Win

ROCHESTER PRO HAS TOTAL OF 304 FOR EVENT

New York Italian Scores
292- Total for Four
Rounds in Wind

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen, former National open champion, to-day successfully defended his Miami Beach open golf crown, winning that event with a card of 202 for the seventy-two holes of medal play.

Johnny Farrell, New York and St. Augustine professional was second with 295, while Joe Kirkwood, the Albany, Ga., pro, was one stroke behind him in third place. Alex Ayton, of Chicago, 297, was fourth and Willie Klein, Miami professional, was fifth with 298.

Cold weather and high winds made the play especially difficult both yesterday and to-day. Farrell, who figured in early rounds to win, had considerable trouble in sinking putts to-day.

Christ in Money List

Others in the prize money were Emmett French, former Ryder Cup player, from Southern Pines, N. C., 302; Tom Kerrigan, New York, 303; George Christ, Rochester, 304; Arthur Andrews, Davenport, Iowa, 304; Charles Thom, Chicago, 305; Charles Mayo, Jacksonville, 306; Lewis Myers, Providence, R. I., 307; Jock Hutchison, 312; Johnny Golden, 313; and Wilfrid Reid, 322, demonstrated what happened to numbers of seasoned players because of bad weather.

Sarazen and Farrell carried the gallery. There was nothing spectacular about the play. Farrell produced three birdies in a row on the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth this afternoon, but a six on the par four tenth and a string of fives cut him down to 74 for the round. Sarazen, with only one birdie to show, was more consistent with a 73.

Hockey Club After Battle for Friday; Amherst Game Off

Defeated by the Nichols hockey team of Buffalo but convinced that the better team was beaten, the Rochester Hockey Club returned home yesterday from its invasion of the Windy City which resulted in the 3-to-2 defeat Saturday. A freak goal by Cass was the margin of the victory.

To make matters worse for the local team, it was learned upon their return that the scheduled game with Amherst at the Country Club of Rochester next Friday is off. When the Amherst Athletic Council learned the strength of the local club, that body immediately refused to confirm the scheduled game here Friday because of the intercollegiate contest with Hamilton, at Clinton, the following night.

Manager Bob Kidd is confident that a fast team will show on the Country Club rink this week however. The showing the Rochester team in Buffalo last Saturday made a host of friends for Phil Burnham's crew and several teams sought games with the team in this city, one of them being the crack Niagara Falls outfit.

The hockey players will practice to-night on the Country Club of Rochester rink at 8 o'clock.

Rochester vs Niagara Falls on Country Club Rink This Afternoon

HOCKEY CLUB MEETS CRACK COMBINATION

Large Crowd Expected to Witness Exhibition
Here To-day

Niagara Falls, one of the outstanding hockey combinations in this neck of the woods, will oppose the puck chasers of the Rochester Hockey Club on the Country Club of Rochester rink this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The Country Club of Rochester is located in East avenue, a short distance east of the city line and is easily reached by motor or the East avenue bus.

It will be the first Sunday hockey match of the year and was booked by the Hockey Club only after numerous requests for a game Sunday afternoon had been received. If the game is successful, it is quite probable that one or two of the outstanding teams in the country will be brought to the city this winter, including the crack Curtiss Aeroplane six and the University Club of Boston. The latter team recently established itself as one of the premier amateur hockey combinations in the world by defeating the Toronto University Grads, claimants of the world's title, in a match at Boston. The Bostonians have asked for a date here and have also invited the Rochester club to play in the Boston arena.

Graham Thomson has joined the local squad and looks like a real find according to Coach Chief Burnham who plans to use the newcomer in part of to-day's game.

The ice at the Country Club rink was in excellent condition last night and is expected to retain its smooth surface for the game to-day, which indicates fast play. The teams will line up as follows:

ROCHESTER	NIAGARA FALLS
Sharpe	Blue
	Goal
H. Kidd	McLean
	Left Defense
Upper	Stone
	Right Defense
Poston, Wells, H. Kidd	Train
	Center
Richards, Jackman	Mart
	Left Wing
Fowler, Scott, Thomson	Kinghorn
	Right Wing

Cold weather failed to keep some 500 fans from "looking in" at the hockey game at the Country Club of Rochester. These games are open to the public and the Rochester Hockey Club is playing a type of game that should be supported.

HOCKEY CLUB DEFEATS ICE SIX OF FALLS

Power City Team No Match for Re-vamped Line-up of Coach Burnham

Rochester Hockey Club's rejuvenated line-up smashed the Niagara Falls jinx yesterday afternoon at the Country Club rink, smothering the invaders under an 11-to-3 score. It was the first victory ever scored by a Rochester six over the team from the Power City. Last year when the two teams of puck chasers met at Niagara Falls, they battled through three extra periods to a draw decision.

Coach Chief Durnham's shifting of Bob Kidd from his defense post to a wing, and his moving of Jackson from wing to center, strengthened the offense of the locals to such an extent that they had possession of the rubber disk most of the time. Scott, who traded places with Kidd, performed well on the defense, to make the switch a complete success.

The offensive work of Harry Jackman and "Red" Richards, center and wing, respectively, and the defensive power of the goalie, Sharpé, were outstanding in the Rochester team's victory. Jackman was all over the rink, breaking up the enemy advances, and passing and shooting with unerring accuracy. He was the afternoon's best goal shooter, sneaking five attempts past the Buffalo goal guardian, Blue.

Jackman Tops Scorers

Every one of Jackman's counters were unassisted, and four came after he had taken the puck away from one of his Blue and White opponents. Besides his five scores, the center scored assists on three of the other goals scored by his mates.

Richards was next to Jackman in scoring, having three goals and an assist to his credit. His prettiest play came with fourteen minutes of the third period spent. He took a pretty pass from Jackman way on the side of the pen and flipped the puck past the opposing goalie so fast that he made no attempt to stop it.

The Falls outfit had several individual players who won the praise of the 500 spectators by their clever maneuvering with the puck. These individual players, however, tried to break through the local defense single-handed, only to have the disk taken away from them by the ever alert Rochester defense men.

Martin, an Indian, who played right wing, was the only team player in the line-up of the visitors. He worked hard throughout the entire sixty minutes of play. Martin could not win the game single-handed, however.

Rochester scored three goals in each of the first two periods, and added five scores in the final session. Four of the last five Rochester tallies in the final two minutes of play. Buffalo scored once in the first session and twice in the final period.

AIRPLANE SIX NEXT FOE FOR HOCKEY CLUB

Strong Buffalo Team Will Appear in Game Here
Sunday Afternoon

The Curtiss Aeroplane six, leaders in the Buffalo City League, will be the next attraction for the hockey fans of the city, the Buffaloians being scheduled to oppose the Hockey Club on the Country Club of Rochester rink Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Negotiations for the game were completed last night by Manager Bob Kidd.

Manager Kidd tried hard to land the Nicholas outfit for this game. The Nicholas club is the only outfit to mar the record of the Rochester six this year and how it was accomplished is a matter of wonderment to followers of the Hockey Club and members of the Niagara Falls team as well. The Niagarans, after being trounced, 11 to 3, Sunday asked, "How did you ever lose that game to Nichols?" The Niagarans declared the Rochester club to be the best outfit on the ice they have seen this year.

The victory over Niagara Falls Sunday was more pleasing to the Rochester puck chasers in that they beat Blue and beat him plenty. If ever a goalie has thwarted Rochester victories in the past, it was this same Blue of the Niagara Falls club. In the last game, however, Blue was under fire all the time and he soon became tired stopping the barrage of shots in his direction.

Scott Disabled

Although victorious on the ice, the game extracted a heavy toll in that Scott probably will be out of the game for several weeks with an injury to his shoulder. The injured shoulder was X-rayed yesterday and the attending physician expressed doubt that Scott will be able to play for at least three weeks. This probably will mean that Coach Burnham will be compelled to send Kidd back to the defense unless a new candidate appears.

In preparation for this game, the Hockey Club will practice on the Country Club of Rochester rink Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

The game is proving very popular with members of the Country Club, so popular in fact, that it will have a hockey team of its own. This combination will play its first game at the Sedgwick Farms rink in Syracuse Saturday afternoon. Sedgwick Farms defeated the Rochester Hockey Club two years ago, so it would appear that the Country Club skaters are not picking soft opposition.

Hockey Club Will Practice To-night

The Rochester Hockey Club will hold a work-out to-night at the Country Club of Rochester rink, in preparation for its game with the Curtiss Aeroplane Club six Sunday afternoon on the Country Club of Rochester rink. The Country Club of Rochester team will play the Sedgwick Farms team, of Syracuse, at Syracuse Saturday afternoon to add to the ice program.

Bob Kidd Back in Line-up for Game With Buffalo Six

Fears that Bob Kidd would be out of the line-up of the Rochester hockey combination for the game with the Curtiss Aeroplane six, of Buffalo, on the Country Club of Rochester rink Sunday afternoon were allayed last night. Kidd, who has been confined to his bed with a hard cold, has recovered and while unable to practice with the team last night, will be on hand for the game Sunday.

This was good news to Coach Burnham who is anxious to have his men at top speed for the Buffalo game. The visitors have played four games this year and have won them all. A fair line on the ability of the team is found in the fact that only two goals have been scored against it this season. The team leads both the Municipal and Industrial loops in Buffalo.

Rink Becomes Lake So Hockey Contest Is Postponed Week

Water was too deep on the Country Club of Rochester rink for skating and not deep enough for swimming yesterday so the big pool was idle. It will continue to be idle to-day, also as the scheduled game between the Rochester Hockey Club and the Curtiss Aeroplane six of Buffalo, was called off last night by Manager Kidd.

As considerable interest had been aroused in the scheduled match between these two clubs, Manager Kidd has arranged to bring them to Rochester next Sunday. He is also angling for a match with the Dartmouth College six which is on a western jaunt this week being booked in Buffalo to-morrow night.

The Rochester Hockey Club has suffered only one defeat this year, that defeat coming at the hands of Nichols A. C. in Buffalo. That defeat is offset somewhat by the fact the Victoria College, trimmed by the local puck chasers, turned around and sent Nichols down in defeat.

Honeycombed Ice Prevents Contest With Curtiss Six

Poor ice conditions made it necessary for Manager Bob Kidd to cancel the scheduled contest between the Rochester Hockey Club and the Curtiss Aeroplane six of Buffalo for the second time yesterday.

The Country Club of Rochester rink, where the games are played, was flooded Saturday night. During the night it snowed and turned to slush as it settled on the water, causing the ice to be badly honeycombed when it formed.

Will Decide Hockey Championship of Western New York Here To-day

CURTISS SIX WILL OPPOSE LOCAL OUTFIT

Brothers Captain Rival
Teams at Country
Club Rink

The hockey championship of Western New York will be decided on the Country Club of Rochester rink this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when the Curtiss Aeroplane six of Buffalo, leading contender for the title meets the Rochester Hockey Club. The game was arranged on a moment's notice yesterday morning and two things caused the Buffalo outfit to accept the offer of Manager Bob Kidd. One was the largest guarantee ever offered a visiting club and the other was the threat of the Rochester club to lay claim to the title.

The record of the Rochester team was too impressive to make this an idle threat and the Airmen decided to come with their skates and settle the argument. They will go direct to the Rochester Athletic Club upon arriving in the city and then will make the jump out to the Country Club rink in East avenue.

A real red-hot hockey contest is promised the fans. Two brothers will be opposed to each other in the conflict. Vince Upper, captain of the Buffalo team, is the leading scorer in the Buffalo district.

Jackman Has Edge

Followers of the Rochester club think pretty much of Jackman, the local pivot man and the battle between the pair will be a fast one. The local crack should have an edge on his opponent as the visitor will have to beat his brother, Lloyd Upper, who captains the Rochester team and plays one of the defensive posts.

Jackman Has Edge

Followers of the Rochester club think pretty much of Jackman, the local pivot man and the battle between the pair will be a fast one. The local crack should have an edge on his opponent as the visitor will have to beat his brother, Lloyd Upper, who captains the Rochester team and plays one of the defensive posts.

The locals will be without the services of Manager Bob Kidd, the dashing wing-man. Recently up from a sickbed, he still is too weak to scrimmage on the ice and his absence will be keenly felt. His loss is partially offset, however, by the return of Scott, who will be sent in on the defense. The teams will take to the ice as follows:

ROCHESTER	Position	BUFFALO
Sharpe	Goal	Wickes
Scott	Left defense	Fleming
L. Upper	Right defense	Cudmore
Jackman-Wells	Center	V. Upper
Fowler-H. Kidd	Left wing	Theoret
Richards-Foxton	Right wing	Benson

Rochester Six in Deciding Tilt With Curtiss To-morrow

The third and deciding contest for the hockey championship of Western New York will be played in Buffalo instead of Rochester, Manager Bob Kidd, of the local six, announced last night. The Rochester boys will play the Curtiss Aeroplane puck chasers in the Nichols rink to-morrow night.

As the teams stand now, they are all even up. Rochester handed the Curtiss boys their first setback of the year on the Country Club of Rochester rink two weeks ago, 4 to 2. Last Saturday night the Curtiss boys evened the score by winning, 7 to 5. Thus each team has won a game and scored nine goals.

In both games the Rochester club showed a strong offensive but the defense was off color. Coach Burnham has been working hard to correct this fault but found himself handicapped. If he strengthens his defense he weakens his offense. He will go to Buffalo to-morrow working on the theory that a strong offense is the best defense. The boys have been drilled in keeping possession of the puck and if they can keep it away from the Buffalonians, it is fairly certain the locals will return with the championship.

Personal Mention

A subscription dinner will be given at the Country Club of Rochester to-morrow evening, preceding the performance of "Come Seven."

to be given by the Community Players at the Playhouse, in Meigs street. Those attending will be: Mr. and Mrs. William E. Sloan, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Maro S. Hunting, Mr. and Mrs. James Frederick Hunting, M. Hazelton Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Allerton Read, of Albion, Thomas R. White, Miss Louise DePuy, Kenneth Keating, Mrs. J. Howard Kidd, Jr., Mrs. Heywood H. Hopkins, Mrs. Fairfax H. Gouverneur and Erickson Perkins, Fairfax H. Gouverneur and Dr. Heywood H. Hopkins are taking prominent parts in the play.

East avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knight, who have been abroad for several weeks, are present hunting stags at Chant

Mrs. Frederick M. Whitney, Audubon street; Mrs. Allen Crocker, of Audubon street; Mrs. R. H. Webster, of Ram park, will leave this evening to spend three weeks in Florida.

Frederick M. Whitney, of Audubon street, and Nathaniel M. Bowie, Westminister road, spent last week end in Ithaca.

Mrs. Harry C. Goodwin, of Roringham street, entertained at luncheon and bridge on Thursday, at Oak Hill Country Club.

FIRST SECTION PRO EVENT SET FOR MAY 14TH

Western New York Golfers to Gather at Genesee Links for Tourney

First golf announcement of interest to Rochester links followers emanated from Buffalo yesterday when the Western New York Professional Golfers' Association announced that the first tourney of the season will be held at the Genesee Valley park course, May 14th. Other dates, to complete a schedule of tourneys run every two weeks, will be announced at the May 14th event, a thirty-six hole medal play contest for the pros.

Other tourney dates will be offered at various clubs of the circuit, which includes all Buffalo and Rochester clubs, as well as those as far east as Newark and Canandaigua. The other tourneys will take the form of medal play events, pro-amateur contests, and match play events with the Central New York pros and perhaps with the Pittsburgh district pros.

Interest in the coming of Harry Cooper to Buffalo will add to the interest in the tourney play if the rocky westerner competes in the events here. George Christ, of the Country Club of Rochester, is the champion of the association, won after a tough fight with Jack Gordon, now of the Transit Valley club. Christ won his third straight title at Niagara Falls. It is likely that the championship play will come to this city this year.

Officers of the association are: Jack Gordon, president; George Christ, vice-president, and Harry Brit, secretary.

Here's the probable line-up at the Rochester courses, barring a change or two which may take place before the season officially opens at all of the lay-outs. George Christ, the champion of the W. N. Y. association, will be at the Country Club of Rochester again, with his assistant, Clarence Dozer, in active charge of the shop.

COUNTRY CLUB TO MEET

The Country Club of Rochester will have its annual meeting Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the clubhouse. The new locker house will be opened formally at a stage dinner at 7 o'clock.

HAGEN, COOPER WILL CLASH AT COUNTRY CLUB

First Half of Match Listed at Rochester Links
for May 25th

Final arrangements have been made for a hand-to-hand encounter between Walter Hagen, Professional Golfers' Association champion, and Harry Cooper, of the Meadowbrook Country Club, Buffalo, according to announcement by Bob Harlow. Hagen and Cooper will meet for the first half of a seventy-two hole match, Friday, May 25th, over the Country Club of Rochester links, and will adjourn to Buffalo for the final play of the battle, Sunday, May 27th, over Cooper's Buffalo links.

This is the first definite good golf news to result for Rochester fans from the arrival in Buffalo of one of America's greatest links stars. Cooper was signed by the Bison City Club during the past winter, and is known as one of the leading tournament players in the country.

A couple of years ago, Cooper challenged Hagen to a match and defeated the "Haig" in match play in Texas, being the only player to accomplish the feat in close to four full seasons of play. Hagen has won twenty straight matches in the P. G. A. title play and has scored victories over Bobby Jones, amateur champion, and Abe Mitchell, of England, in other important single-handed clashes.

Hagen left New York last night on the Aquitania for England, where he will compete in the British open, an event he has won twice. While in England he will play Archie Compston in a special match, and also will play Arnaud Massey, in France, on this trip across the pond.

Cool Weather Fails to Stop Golfers; 200 Play Oak Hill Links

The cool blasts that swept over Rochester golf links yesterday failed to stop play at the various country club courses. The largest turn out of the day was reported at Oak Hill Country Club where 200 were out for their Sunday golf.

Brook-Lea Country Club, with four temporary greens in use, reported ninety out for the day; Country Club of Rochester reported thirty and Locust Hill seventy-five. All of the courses have rounded into shape rapidly although the dampness in the ground has slowed up the greens considerably.

Municipal links golfers will have to mark time until the courses are opened to-morrow. At that time both the Genesee Valley courses and the Durand-Eastman layout will be thrown open.

Walter Hagen Wins British Open Championship with Score of 292

Walter Hagen Wins British Open Crown for Third Time; Sarazen Takes Second Place

Sandwich, Eng., May 11.—(AP)—Walter Hagen to-day won his third British open golf championship with a seventy-two hole score of 292, coming through with what the British call "a Hagen finish." The American golfer scored two 72's on his last two rounds, taking the lead in the morning and holding it to the end.

He was followed home by Gene Sarazen, another pro from the United States, who needed only 294 for his seventy-two holes, 73 in the morning and the same score in the afternoon. Archie Compston, British leader, also finished with a pair of 73's for a score of 295 to take third place.

The other two Americans remaining in the competition also finished "in the money," Jim Barnes going into a tie for sixth and Bill Mehlhorn finishing ninth.

The Prince of Wales put the seal of royalty on Hagen's artistry as he handed him the famous trophy which was won by Bobby Jones last year and the year before and with Hagen's victory to-day has been in the hands of golfers from the United States in seven of the last eight years.

"I congratulate that fine sportsman, Walter Hagen," said the Prince in presenting the cup.

Silences Stories

Winning to-day as dramatically as he lost a special match to Archie Compston two weeks ago by the one-sided score of 8 up and 17 to play, Hagen effectively silenced stories that his defeat by the giant Compston marked the beginning of his decline as a player in important competitions.

Hagen's victory gives him the sensational record of three victories, one second and one third in the British classic since 1922, when he won for the first time over this same Royal St. George's course.

Three strokes behind Jose Jurado, the Argentine, this morning Hagen went out to play himself into the lead by a stroke at the end of the

AMERICAN PRO SCORES THIRD WIN IN CLASSIC

Two Sterling Rounds of 72
in Final 36 Holes Bring Title to 'The Haig'

A hard round and a two-stroke lead when all the returns were in.

The bronzed, boyish Sarazen, was the last threat. Jurado, a featherweight with a lot of nerve, slipped from his leading position of the morning to a tie with "Long Jim" Barnes and Aubrey, Boomer for sixth place.

The wee Buenos Aires pro lost none of his popularity as he faded from the picture under the gruelling test. He fought a gallant fight against men almost twice his size and with years of experience to help them.

Jim Barnes Rallies

To him Barnes, who has also won the title in years gone by, went the honor of having the best round of the closing day. His 71 was a great performance and landed him well among the first ten when he seemed doomed to finish far back after taking 76 this morning and with the nightmare of the 81 brought over from yesterday.

The final day's play resolved itself into a battle between four men of three Nationalities, Haig, Sarazen, Compston and Jurado. Not until the home stretch was reached could the winner be certain, so close was the margin Haig had over Sarazen and Compston.

Under a brilliant spring sky, with a gallery of 4,000 to 5,000 persons drawn from all Britain and including the Prince of Wales, who watched Haig and Sarazen, as he entered his royal path through the cheering crowds like any other golfer, the championship struggle continued. Bad putting put Jurado out of the running early in the afternoon and the fight was narrowed to Haig, Sarazen and Compston, the last two challenging the 292 Haig had set for them to shoot at.

Rounding the turn and emerging from the hills, valleys and gigantic sand dunes, Sarazen knew, as he started the stretch leading to the long homeward inns, that he had to do 79 to beat Haig.

Mehlhorn Blows up

Sarazen was the last player to leave the first tee for the last time in the championship and just in front of him was Compston. He, too, knew that he had to do 69 to win and difficult as that task was he struggled heroically and never gave up. A birdie 2, at the sixteenth hole aroused cheers carrying all the way to the clubhouse but Compston needed two birdie 3's to tie Hagen and they were not in his bag. He finished with a four and a five.

Just behind him the cheerful little Sarazen, who never lost his smile, was in a similar position, he sailed merrily along the outward journey in even 4s. With a little luck he would have been under 4s coming home. Two long putts were close enough to the cup to look in but remained out. They might easily have been 3s.

Earlier in the afternoon Bill Mehlhorn lost his chance when an ugly seven went down on his card. Compston also had a seven this morning when he frittered away two strokes in a bunker, and Sarazen had one yesterday when he dubbed two wood shots. These lost strokes were enough to lose them their championship chance.

Not a single six got on Hagen's card in any of the four rounds.

"After the Moor Park match I did a lot of thinking," Hagen said, "and I resolved during this championship whenever I got into trouble I'd take a shot to get out and go on. Determined to take no long chances, but play my game well within myself and I stuck to it."

Hagen said the first and only time he departed really from this resolve was after the situation was well in hand. It was a shot which, if any one shot means more than another in such events, won him the championship—a shot from a bunker at the difficult fifteenth which enabled him to get a four and gave him confidence to go on home in par.

Rochester Boy Wins His Third British Open Title

Walter Hagen is shown in three views above, all taken after he arrived in England on quest of his third British open, the quest which was realized with success yesterday for the Rochester boy as he scored a 29 for seventy-two holes to lead the care van of the links. Walter is playing out of a trap on the upper left. On the right he is shown in his jovial mood and on the lower left as he arrived, rather fat and well-dressed. He's still the shaker of the links, however, both in clothes and play.

Thousands Look on as Prince Presents Cup to Sir Walter

Sandwich, Eng., May 11.—(A)—
The Prince of Wales presented the British open golf championship cup to Walter Hagen to-day as thousands of persons rushed from the eighteenth green to see the American professional take it for the third time.

"Overseas entries have added keen competition to our open championships," said the prince, in presenting the cup. "We are getting a little jealous but always want the best man to win. We hope the overseas golfers will continue to come until, as they say in America, we are able to 'put one over' on them."

Rufus Adams Sibley Dies in His 87th Year; Founder of Sibley, Lindsay & Curr

The death of Rufus Adams Sibley, president of the Sibley, Lindsay & Curr Company, from the modest beginning of this firm in 1868 until 1924, occurred yesterday morning at his home, No. 930 East avenue.

Mr. Sibley was in his eighty-seventh year. His health had been declining for several months but he retained a lively interest in affairs until the end. Since his return to Rochester four weeks ago from his winter home, at Augusta, Ga., his illness has become steadily more aggravated.

For years Mr. Sibley was one of the outstanding figures in Rochester mercantile, educational, and charitable activities, and his death came as a shock to hundreds of people who admired his successful career and his whole-souled interest in humanitarian endeavors. Mr. Sibley was always a loyal supporter of Rochester enterprises, and his life during the last half century was closely interwoven with the civic movements that have spread the renown of Rochester to all parts of the world. The mercantile business he established with Alexander Lindsay and John Curr sixty years ago has developed into one of the leading department stores of the country, and is comparable with stores in cities many times the size of Rochester.

Tributes Paid by Friends

Tribute to Rufus Adams Sibley, merchant and philanthropist, one of the founders of the Sibley, Lindsay & Curr Company, was paid last night by men associated with him for many years in the city, and attached to him by strong personal ties.

THOMAS B. RYDER, president of the Sibley, Lindsay & Curr Company:

"I have known Mr. Sibley for more than fifty years, having entered the employ of the company in my early boyhood days. Mr. Sibley was a kindly and lovable man, deeply interested in his employees, and constantly studying ways for improving their welfare and comfort. I would say that this is one of his chief characteristics. As an instance of this deep interest, I recall that at the time of our great fire twenty-four years ago, his great concern was not the great loss, but rather how we should take care of these employees. I shall greatly miss him."

the University of Rochester:

"In the death of Rufus Adams Sibley, Rochester has lost one of the wisest and most public spirited of its citizens. Known as a business man whose business acumen and industry brought him large success, it is not so generally realized that the same acumen and industry was repeatedly given to the guidance of some of the city's important philanthropies and educational agencies—in witness of which his services as trustee of the University, the Reynolds Library, the old City (now the General) Hospital and the Highland Hospital and St. Andrew's and St. Paul's Churches. Few except those who were associated with him in these organizations knew the extent and the value of his services.

"Associated with such able service was his generosity in aiding these and other activities with liberal gifts of money. Some of those gifts were reported and more or less generally known. Many more were quietly given and were known only buried was swapped to James, and the north side of Main street at Bridge was closed the south side being open.

Monument to His Founders

In the starting of the new business a new era. In the rising market and without its competitors and competitors but Mr. Sibley and his partners held rigidly to their sides of high standards in manufacturing and today the state stands as a monument to the business acumen and sterling character of Mr. Sibley and his associates.

Mr. Sibley was born in Spencer, Massachusetts, on December 4, 1841. His father was Brigham Sibley, who was born in 1807 and died in 1881. His family was one of the earliest to emigrate from England and settle in Massachusetts, as one of his ancestors, John Sibley, sailed to America with Captain John Endicott two years before Governor Winthrop came and settled at Boston.

Mr. Sibley's mother was Adeline Adams. One of her ancestors was Henry Adams, who came from England and settled in Braintree. The line of descent is direct from Henry Adams, through Edward, John, Obadiah, David, born in 1716, and David, born in 1744, to Rufus Adams, the grandfather of Rufus Adams Sibley, who inherited the ancestral land.

The grandparents of Mr. Sibley were Paul Sibley, Jr. 1768 to 1851, and Abigail Livermore, and on his mother's side, Rufus Adams, 1784 to 1864, and Susanna Gilbert. Rufus Adams was representative in the General Court three or four terms and was selectman and assessor for many years.

Three Taught School

Rufus Adams Sibley attended the public schools of Spencer and completed his education at the high school. He taught school for two periods when he was 16 and 17 years of age. As a boy he was interested in work on mathematics including surveying and engineering.

At the age of 17 he entered business by taking a position as a bookkeeper, through his preference was to become a civil engineer. At the age of 22 he took the position of bookkeeper and cashier in a Boston drygoods store. While engaged there, he met Mr. Lindsay and Mr. Carr. In 1868, Mr. Sibley organized the firm of Sibley, Lindsay & Carr Company to conduct the Boston Store in this city. This business was afterward turned into a corporation with the same name and he became president. He was also vice-president of the Erie Dry Goods Company, and at one time the firm had mercantile interests in Milwaukee and Niagara Falls.

Sibley, Lindsay & Carr Company's distinctive departments for years were a leader in many fields but changed methods of merchandising resulting in that line of business being abandoned a short time ago for the extensive parcel of retail trading to a state covering twenty-three acres of their store.

Promoter of Education

Mr. Sibley has been a trustee of the Rochester Savings Bank and the Security Trust Company. He has for years a keen interest in the University of Rochester. Although a college man, his interest in educational affairs, especially the development of the University of Rochester, was one of the greatest sustaining factors in the growth of that institution. He has been trustee emeritus of the University for some years, having been previously a member of the Executive Committee, treasurer, and president of the Board of Trustees.

The interest that Mr. Sibley manifested in hospital work and in institutions for the amelioration of the suffering of mankind has been pronounced. He was an honorary trustee of the Hahnemann Hospital, now the Genesee Hospital, and of the Institution for the Deaf. He was chairman of the Board of Directors of the Rochester City Hospital, now the Rochester General Hospital, and was especially active in the upbuilding of those institutions.

Liberal contributions were made by Mr. Sibley to the fund for the erection of St. Paul's Church and the Genesee Hospital, and to the endowment funds of the University of Rochester. He was vice-president of the Reynolds Library and formerly president of the Chamber of Commerce. He was one of a committee of five to prepare a constitution and bylaws for the Chamber.

Jersey Cattle His Hobby

Although Mr. Sibley devoted himself untriflingly to business life, his diversified interests in communal endeavor was a source of inspiration to those who knew him. Despite his many interests, he had time to devote to a hobby, and his favorite recreation was the breeding of Jersey cattle. Some of the finest cattle in the country were bred by Mr. Sibley, and up to ten years ago, when he was succeeded by his son, John R. Sibley, he owned the Moose Hill Farms, in Spencer, Mass., and took a great interest in the improvement of farm lands and livestock. The farm is one of the show places of Massachusetts, and the cattle raised and the milk produced there are said to be unexcelled anywhere. Mr. Sibley has been president of the American Jersey Cattle Club.

Mr. Sibley was a lifelong Republican, but never was active in politics. He was a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church. He has been vestryman of St. Andrew's and St. Paul's Episcopal Churches of Rochester, and was six times deputy to the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church. He was a member of the Genesee Valley Club, the Country Club of Rochester, the American Jersey Cattle Club, the Rochester Art Club, and the Sons of the American Revolution.

Mr. Sibley on October 10, 1870, married Martha A. Haven, daughter of Rev. John Haven of Charlton, Mass. She died on November 16, 1883, leaving one son, Dr. Edward R. Sibley, of Philadelphia. Mr. Sibley married Elizabeth Conkey, of Rochester, on November 21, 1885. They had two children, John R. Sibley, of Spencer, Mass., and Elizabeth Sibley Robins, of Rochester, wife of the late Kingman Nath Robins. There are three grandchildren, Russell Adams Sibley, Carolyn Sibley, and Susan Louise Sibley.

The second Mrs. Sibley died on August 26, 1918. She was the daughter of Eleazer and Sarah Munger Conkey, and granddaughter of Percy Munger and Zerviah Chapin, and of David Conkey and Eunice Thompson. She was a descendant of Robert Abercrombie, who came from England to Pelham, Mass., about 1718.

Funeral To-morrow

The funeral services are being arranged for to-morrow afternoon. They will be in charge of Rev. Murray Bartlett, D. D., president of Hobart College, at Geneva, who was rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church when Mr. Sibley was actively identified with its affairs.

The first structure of importance erected by the Sibley, Lindsay & Curr Company was the Granite building, which was erected in two sections, the first in 1890 and the second in 1893. After the great fire of February 26, 1904, the present store was started. Mr. Sibley still being in active charge of the business management. Additions to the store were made in subsequent years, and the moving of the business eastward had a tendency to develop the East Side of the city greatly.

While "Sibley's" is a Rochester institution, it really has world-wide connections. Purchasing offices are maintained in the principal merchandising centers of Europe, as well as in New York and other large cities in America.

Nearly forty years ago the Rochester firm acquired the Minneapolis Dry Goods Company. This business, under the guidance of Mr. Sibley and his associates, became one of the largest department store enterprises in the Middle West.

Mr. Sibley was untiring in his efforts to help suffering Rochesterians. At the time of the lantern works fire in 1888, when a number

Cop Pro-Amateur

By JOSEPH T. ADAMS

George Christ, champion of the Western New York Professional Golfers' Association for the past three years, started off on another campaign yesterday morning at the Genesee Valley Park links, winning the initial event of the season, a medal play round of eighteen holes, with a score of 73. While the event lost some of its thunder of virtue of the non-appearance of the heralded Harry Cooper, of Buffalo, who was reported at his club as ill, the pros had a fine turn-out, a great day and found the course in extra-fine condition.

In the afternoon half of the event a pro-amateur contest, was staged with the instructors each taking a wild-shooting simon-pure at his partner. Elwin Nagell, who finished the morning turn over the lay-out with a 76 drew the steady Gil Lewy for a partner, and working on a fair-sized handicapp to Gil, they toured the eighteen holes for a best-ball score of 66.

Wins First Event

GEORGE CHRIST

Sixteen Straight 4's

Christ did not start so well in his morning round, taking a six on the new first hole of the municipal links. He then obtained a birdie three on the second and, from that point on, his card was all four's. Whether Christ established a record is not known, but it is certain that his sixteen straight four's, starting with the third hole, ties one. It was a strong finish for a wobbly start. His four on seventeen was the only birdie of the lot.

Christ's 73 gives the Country Club pro a course record for official competition on the new lay-out. Steve Riley's 64 now may be written into the books as a standing mark, as the old lay-out is no more. And the new lay-out is strokes tougher, although but one has been added to par.

Charlie McKenna, of Oak Hill, finished in second place, with 75 and Elwin Nagell tallied a 76 for third money in the event. Fourth place found Steve Riley, Wilbur Nagell, of Stafford, and Jack Gordon, of the Transit Valley Club, Buffalo, in a tie at 78. Gordon was the low man of the Buffalo contingent, which numbered six players.

Best-Ball Play Is Fast

The best out-going nine holes was registered by Steve Riley with a 36, while coming in Christ had the best total, his 36 being two shots better than Wilbur Jack and Charlie McKenna could show.

In the best-ball play, Christ and Jacobs had 32 out as did the winners, Nagell and Lewy. Coming in, however, Nagell and Lewy kept plugging away and turned off the final green with a 4 while Christ and Jacobs slipped to 37 on the second nine.

Ray Feller and Herb King finished with 68 to tie for second with Bobby Jones and "Red" Vagg. Feller and King came home in 32 while Vagg and Jones had two 34's for the nine-hole totals. Scores:

Mrs. Dewitt Macomber Wins Low Net in Initial Women's Tourney

Buffalo, May 17.—(Special)—Mrs. Dewitt B. Macomber, of the Country Club of Rochester, captured low net prize in Class A in the opening tournament of the Women's Golf Association of Western New York conducted to-day at the Transit Valley Country Club. At the end of the regulation eighteen-hole round Mrs. Macomber was tied with Mrs. W. F. Chapin, Buffalo Country Club, each having a card of 100—8—92.

In the play-off, the Flower City woman triumphed on the first hole, breaking a par four while her opponent was forced to take a five. Mrs. Macomber drove into the rough on this deciding hole, but she made a remarkable recovery. Her second shot reached the green.

The other Flower City contestants did not fare so well, the steady rain hampering their game considerably. Mrs. Wendel J. Curtis turned in a score of 119-14-96, while Mrs. Max Adler had 129-14-111. In the class B competition, Mrs. Charles W. Smith had a score of 112-22-99.

Mrs. Arthur Harrison, Buffalo Country Club, had the low round of the day, a 92. Miss E. Y. Gemmill, Transit Valley, defeated her clubmate, Mrs. J. W. Hanks, in the play-off for low gross prize in Class B. Each finished their regulation round in 105 strokes.

Low net prize in Class B went to Mrs. Harry Elwood, Transit Valley, while Mrs. W. S. Branchie, Buffalo Women's Golf Club, annexed low gross in Class C and Mrs. W. R. Campbell took low net honors.

Mrs. A. D. Weller, Brook-Leaf, had 108 in Class B.

BRITISH PRO DROPS MATCH TO 'THE HAIG'

Walter Takes 36-Hole Play in First Appearance on German Course

Berlin, May 17.—(AP)—Walter Hagen, American golfer who last week won the British open golf championship for the third time, defeated Percy Alliss, 6 up and 4 to play, in a thirty-six-hole exhibition match to-day.

Alliss is a British golfer and a professional at the Gulf-Und-Land Club at Wannsee. It was Hagen's first appearance on a German course.

District Golf Association Organized by Four Groups

The Rochester District Golf Association was organized last night at a dinner meeting of presidents and four members of each of four prominent organizations who were guests of S. Rae Hickok, president of the Oak Hill Country Club, in the Oak Hill clubhouse. Country clubs figuring in the association are the Oak Hill Country Club, the Country Club of Rochester, the Monroe Golf Club and the Brook-Lea Country Club.

Officers of the new association are: L. W. Chapin, of the Oak Hill Country Club, president; W. B. Macumber of the Country Club of Rochester, vice-president; Matthew D. Lawless, of the Monroe Golf Club, treasurer; J. D. Boucher, of the Oak Hill Country Club, permanent secretary; chairman of the Trophy Committee, Frank Sage, of the Brook-Lea Country Club.

Tourney Committee Named

The Tournament Committee will include Mr. Macumber, chairman, and B. E. Heughes, of the Oak Hill Country Club; Frank Enos, of the Monroe Golf Club, and George Lynn, of the Brook-Lea Country Club.

The district association plans to have a seventy-two-hole, two-day medal tournament in September, the days for which will be determined later, open to member players with handicaps of 20 and under, who will be divided into groups according to their handicaps, with a champion and runner-up in each group. The low gross winner of all divisions will be adjudged district champion.

Works on By-laws

After the first thirty-six holes of the tournament are played, the five low gross men from each club—regardless of division—will form teams to play the final thirty-six holes, as representatives of their respective clubs, the winning team to be declared district champions.

Plans are being made also for a one-day medal tournament to include players from all four clubs. Tournaments including junior and other classes will be arranged.

The Rochester District Association has been modeled after those already established in other cities and it is planned to add representatives of other clubs in the vicinity as soon as the charter organization

COUNTRY CLUB PLANS PLAY
Country Club of Rochester will stage a tombstone tournament Memorial Day morning. A sweepstakes will also be run off which will be open to men only. In the afternoon driving contests will be held for both men and women.

CLARK IS LOW NET WINNER AT OAK HILL CLUB

E. T. Mills Best at Country Club; Rutherford Wins at Locust Hill

The largest turnout of the season for sweepstakes at the various local Country Clubs was recorded yesterday when scores were turned in at four clubs. Oak Hill, Country Club of Rochester, Locust Hill and Brook-Lea all had many entries in their Saturday events. It was the first sweepstakes of the season at Brook-Lea.

Donald G. Clark won low net honors at Oak Hill with a score of 72. He turned in a gross card of 89 and had a handicap of 17. R. C. Milow with a score of 73, was second for low net honors.

E. T. Mills was low net at the Country Club with a 70. His gross score was 91 but a handicap of 21 brought it down to the best of the day. F. C. Goodwin was one stroke behind Mills for second place honors.

M. Rutherford led a big field over the Locust Hill links with a low net score of 70. He scored an 86 and had a handicap of 16. A. D. Van-Dusen and R. C. Sheppard with 72's tied for second place.

...ed for second place.

At Brook-Lea W. B. Head won low gross honors in Class A., and C. Fagen low net. Head shot a round of 88 while Fagen's 76 was the best low net mark. C. R. Fisher took the low gross prize in Class B. with 106 and W. F. Rayhill low net with 81. Scores:

George Christ Scores 150 to Win Western New York Pro Tourney

COUNTRY CLUB STAR WINS OUT BY ONE STROKE

Wilbur Jack Flashes Form to Finish in Second Place; Gordon Third

Buffalo, May 28. — (Special) — George Christ, of the Country Club of Rochester, again won a medal play tourney of the Western New York Professional Golfers' Association over the Transit Valley Country Club's snappy links here to-day with a thirty-six hole total of 150 strokes. Closely following the champion of the association in this second event of the year was Wilbur Jack, who has just taken a post at the Hillcrest Country Club. Jack was one stroke behind Christ, scoring 151 through the light and heavy rains which almost washed out the event.

Christ scored a sensational 72 in the morning round, but when the downpour was on in earnest in the afternoon Jack turned the same trick, on a course over which par has never been broken. Christ had a 78 in the afternoon to offset the 79 that Jack compiled in the morning, eighteen to win by a stroke.

Has Seven 3 Holes

The Country Club of Rochester has tallied a 38 going out in the morning but on the twelfth hole he began to shoot in his best manner. He took his par three on this hole and followed the effort with two par four holes before he snared a birdie on the 300-yard fifteenth. On sixteen he took an easy par, obtained his three on the seventeenth and notched another birdie three on eighteen. His approach shot on eighteen, which is 405 yards from tee to pin, rested but a foot from the cup for an easy bird.

In the afternoon Christ started as he had finished in the morning. He had three three-holes in the first five, but then slipped away for several holes. From the twelfth tee in the morning to the sixth tee in the afternoon, playing twelve holes, Christ had seven holes in three. Christ finished with a six on eighteen in the afternoon, where he had birdie three in the morning.

Jack's afternoon eighteen, the 72, found the Hillcrest pro in his usual rainy-day brilliance. Jack won two events last season in the rain and he showed an even scoring game in his attempt yesterday. He was out in 35 and back in 37, with a two on the fourth to help him along. He also had three threes and finished the final six holes with five fours and a three.

This round edged Jack Gordon, of Transit Valley, into third position, his little Scot star finishing with 63, the result of two rounds of 76 shots. Charlie McKenna, of Oak Hill, finished fourth with 154 and his brother, Ned, took fifth with 155, carrying the colors of the Eric Towns, Buffalo, club. Scores:

Rochester players took three of the first five positions, with a Rochester homebred, Ned McKenna, gaining one of the other two places for the Buffalo delegation.

Four players of the district have entered the National open qualifying rounds. George Christ, Elwin Magell and Jack Gordon will compete in the qualifiers at Oakmont, Pa., June 11th, while Earl (Pete) Lowley will play his rounds at the Detroit Country Club on the same day.

The next tourney of the season will be held June 18th, with the Monroe Golf Club as the scene of activity. Three weeks elapse between the two tourneys, the June 11th qualifiers for the open moving back the next event one week.

Five strokes over the first five players in a field of twenty indicates the closeness of the struggle, where a missed putt meant moving out of the prize list for the day.

Charlie Bemish, Rochester boy who holds the reins at the Buffalo Country Club, arrived late in the afternoon to meet the pros. He may be unable to enter the major share of the tourneys as his new post demands much attention.

Charlie announced that some twenty-five of the leading women golfers of the country will be competing in the international women's invitation tourney of the Buffalo Country Club next month, from the 25th to 30th.

Sam Dodgers defeated the Eastern Con Currs, 9 to 6. It was the 11th straight victory for the Dodgers. The game was called in the seventh.

EXPECT HEAVY GOLF PLAY AT CLUB COURSES

Sweepstakes Will Keep Players Busy Over Memorial Day

Local golf clubs will fairly hum with activity to-morrow when the season will officially get under way. Memorial Day sweepstakes usually bring out record throngs to the links and with fair weather local courses should be clogged with holiday players.

Golfers at Oak Hill Country Club will qualify in four flights in to-morrow's play. There will be prizes for low gross and low net, second low gross and low net. Prizes will also be given to winners of each flight, runner-up in first flight and best four-ball.

At the Country Club of Rochester a tombstone tournament will be held in the morning. In the afternoon the regular sweepstakes will be run off and there will also be driving contests for men and women.

Frank Callaghan, professional at Locust Hill, has made elaborate plans for the day at his club. He intends to run the play off in three brackets, sixteen in each bracket. There will be prizes for low gross and low net. Players will also be given a chance to qualify for the June flight. Cal also plans on several other events which will be announced to-morrow.

Players at Monroe Country Club will play a qualifying round for the spring handicap to-morrow. Brook-Lex and Irondequoit will run off sweepstakes and both clubs expect large turn outs.

The Genesee Golf club will hold a handicap tournament to-morrow with prizes going to the low gross and low net winners in the various classes.

Golf Notes

The first of a series of sweepstake events scheduled for the woman members of the Brook-Lea Country Club was staged yesterday, with more than thirty entries reporting at the first tee. Play was conducted in three classes and found the following members taking victories. The play was followed by a luncheon at the club. Prize winners:

CLASS A

Low Gross

Mrs. Harvey Haddleton.

Low Net

Mrs. Nell D. Preston.

CLASS B

Low Gross

Mrs. Harry Emory.

Low Net

Mrs. George Hatch.

CLASS C

Low Gross

Mrs. Warren Lee.

Low Net

Mrs. George Fuller.

Plenty of links play is listed for to-day at Rochester and surrounding-town clubs. The list follows:

Brook-Lea Country Club—Qualifying round for match-play through June in two sixteens.

Oak Hill Country Club—Qualifying round for match play in four flights. Prizes will be offered for low gross and low net with seconds in each class.

Country Club of Rochester — Morning play consists of a tombstone tourney, with afternoon sweepstakes and driving contests for men and women.

Locust Hill Country Club—Qualifying round for match play in three sixteens. Prizes for low net and low gross.

Monroe Golf Club—Qualifying round for spring handicap match play tourney.

Irondequoit Country Club—Sweepstakes tourney.

Genesee Golf Club—Handicap tourney, with qualifying round for match play in A and B divisions of club members.

H. C. Morse Takes Low Net Honors in Country Club Play

H. C. Morse scored an 86 over the Country Club of Rochester links yesterday and this along with his handicap of 16 brought him low net honors in the weekly sweepstakes. His low net card was 70 and three strokes better than those of S. R. Curtis and L. B. Fitch who finished in a tie for second with cards of 73. S. E. Durand, W. B. Macomber and R. G. Wiess with 74's were deadlocked for fourth place.

M. M. Bonney's 73 was the best low net of the day at Oak Hill. E. C. Coughlin turned in a net of 74 for second place.

Al Parker with a fine 70 led the low net field at Locust Hill. S. A. Clute with 72 took down second place honors.

At Monroe Country Club Harry Harmon shot an 86 for low gross honors while G. W. McBride's 78 took the low net prize.

S. Kochental was low net at Iron-dequoit with a 77. Scores:

STATE'S FIRST OPEN LISTED NEXT MONTH

Hickok Cup Goes to Club of Winner; Replica Will Be Offered Individual

New York state's first open golf championship tournament will be held over the links of the Onondaga Country Club at Syracuse July 6th and 7th. The tourney will be open to all professionals and amateurs, whose handicaps do not exceed six and are legal residents of the state.

One of the features of the open will be a championship trophy donated by S. Rae Hickok of Oak Hill Country Club. The trophy will be known as the "Hickok Cup" and will be awarded to the club whose representative wins the championship. A small replica of the trophy will be given to the champion.

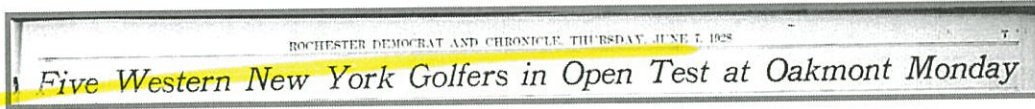

First prize to the professional winning the event will be $500. Second place will be worth $250; third $125, fourth $100; fifth $75; sixth $60; seventh $50; eighth $40; ninth $30 and tenth $20. Any amateur winning the title will be given a trophy in plate.

Rochester Men on Committees

The competition will consist of seventy-two holes medal play. Thirty-six holes will be played each day and all the competitors whose scores at the finish of thirty-six holes come within the first sixty shall be allowed to continue in the tournament the second day.

An entrance fee of $5.00 will be charged and all entries must be mailed not later than July 2d to Lester A. Palmer, executive secretary, New York State Golf Association, No. 250 Park avenue, New York city.

F. H. Gouveneur, of the Country Club of Rochester and S. Rae Hickok, of Oak Hill, are members of the Executive Committee while F. K. Robeson of the Country Club is on the Tournament Committee.

GEORGE CHRIST AND NAGELL IN SECTION EVENT

Will Vie for Right to Play in Open; Jones, Gordon and Eldred Entered

Rochester and Western New York will be well represented at Oakmont Country Club, Pittsburgh, Monday where a sectional qualifying round for the National open tournament will be held. Two golfers of this city, George Christ and Elwin Nagell will tee off for their chance to compete in America's golf classic along with Jack Gordon, of Transit Valley Country Club, Buffalo; Vincent Eldred, Olean Country Club, and Bobby Jones, of Sodus Bay Country Club. Christ will carry the Country Club of Rochester colors in the sectional while Nagell will play as an unattached professional.

Golfers from all over the country will vie for sectional honors at seventeen courses Monday. Pittsburgh has been allotted fourteen places, exceeded only by Chicago which has twenty. New York has also been given fourteen places. Players with scores that place them in the first fourteen at Oakmont will be eligible for the National open at Olympia Fields Country Club, Matteson, Illinois, June 21st, 22d, and 23d.

Tom Davies Seeks Place

Although his golf prowess is practically unknown here, Tom Davies, coach of the University of Rochester football team, is also entered in Monday's play at Oakmont. Davies is one of Pittsburgh's leading players and will be making his first bid for golfing fame. Two other players known in this district who will also compete are George Underwood, Wilkesburg, Pa., and Carl Kauffman, of Pittsburgh, who won the National public links title at Buffalo two years ago.

George Christ is the leading Western New York golfer entered at Oakmont. The Country Club star qualified over the same course last season by winning a play-off for last place. George scored a birdie on the first hole of the play-off. Jack Gordon, Christ's biggest rival in Western New York ranks, stands a good chance of finishing in the coveted list.

126 Entered at Oakmont

One hundred and twenty-six players will tee off at Oakmont. This is an increase of thirteen over the number that competed in the sectional over the same course last season.

There will be 118 places decided Monday and this along with the thirty-two exempt players, who will compete at Olympia Fields without qualifying, rounds out the open quota of 150. The exempt list includes Bobby Jones, Atlanta, Ga.; Harrison Johnston, Milwaukee; twenty-five professionals who finished in the first thirty at Oakmont last year; Harry Vardon, of Great Britain; Aubrey Boomer, of France; Rufus Stewart, open champion of Australia; Ted Cerrin, of Bermuda, and R. R. Burton, of the Royal Wimbledon Golf Club, London.

WALTER HAGEN DUE HOME ON MAURETANIA

Will Arrive at New York
To-morrow; Plays with Compston Saturday

When the Mauretania docks at New York to-morrow a group of Walter Hagen's admirers will be on hand to welcome back the British open champion. A reception in Hagen's honor is planned to-morrow night in New York by the Hagen Welcome Home Committee.

With Hagen will come Archie Compston, Great Britain's leading golfer. Compston and Hagen, who recently met in a special match in London, with Compston winning by a one-sided margin, will be teammates Saturday afternoon when they oppose Johnny Fafrell, Quaker Ridge Country Club pro, and Gene Sarazen, who finished second in the British Open, at Westchester-Biltmore Country Club, Rye, N. Y.

Jose Jurado, brilliant young Argentine professional, who set the pace for two days in the British Open, was originally booked to play with Hagen but was forced to abandon a trip to the United States about a week ago.

Hagen is scheduled to play the first half of a seventy-two hole match with Harry Cooper, professional at the Meadowbrook Country Club, Buffalo, in this city a week from Saturday. The match is still uncertain and depends on how rapidly Cooper's injured hand heals. Harry has had his hand in a cast for the past few weeks but may be ready to play June 16th. The second half of the match is scheduled for the Meadowbrook links, June 17th.

ROCHESTER DEMOCRAT AND CHRONICLE, SATURDAY, JUNE 9, 1928

Cooper Plays Practice Round Here for Match with Hagen Next Friday

MATCH LISTED AT C. C. OF R. LINKS ON 15TH

First Half to Be Contested
Next Week; Final Listed
for Meadowbrook

By JOSEPH T. ADAMS

Harry Cooper, "Lighthouse Harry" of the golf links, was in Rochester yesterday. Harry, who is scheduled to play Walter Hagen in the first half of a match over the Country Club of Rochester links next Friday took a turn over the Country Club lay-out, just to get used to the various holes.

In company with P. H. (Hike) Gouverneur, amateur star of the club, and two friends from Buffalo, the new pro of the district, who used to play for a Pacific Coast club toured the links here in fine style. He has had one hand in a cast for some time and fans were beginning to wonder if the Meadowbrook Country Club instructor would be able to go through with his match with the "Hike," who arrived in New York yesterday after his successful quest of his third British open championship.

Harry Beat Walter

Cooper scored a 70 for the eighteen holes, although he hit one ball out of bounds. He said that his hand is still a little stiff but that it is rounding into fine shape for the coming battle with the recognized match-play champion of the world.

Once before the pair met and Harry took Walter's measure down in Texas. Harry has always been eliminated in the National P. G. A. tourney before meeting Walter, so that a fair line on their ability under little pressure is not established. The four straight wins in the P. G. A. tourney, always decided on match play of the thirty-two leading qualifiers, brought Hagen twenty straight victories and a recognition as champion in the art of hand-to-hand struggle.

That Cooper is taking no chances of defeat is indicated by his grasping of a chance to play here. The second half of the match will be contested over the Meadowbrook Country Club lay-out, June 17th.

Cooper was loud in praise of the Country Club course, and announced last night that he figures to keep the former pro at the lay-out a tough battle in the seventy-two hole battle. Thirty-six holes will be played here and thirty-six in Buffalo.

Here for Practice

Harry Cooper, of Meadowbrook Country Club, played over the Country Club of Rochester links yesterday in preparation for his match here with Walter Hagen.

HAGEN WARMLY GREETED UPON ARRIVAL HOME

Admirers Met Walter with Brass Band; British Pros
Also on Mauretania

New York, June 8.—(AP)—Walter Hagen, winner of the British open golf championship for the third time, returned to the United States to-day in triumph and with higher praise for the quality of golf in England than last year when he was quoted as referring to British professionals as being "too gosh darn lazy."

Arriving with him on the Mauretania to the strains of a brass band were Archie Compson and Aubrey Boomer, the Scottish and English pros who trimmed him in match play on the other side although he came off victorious in the big event, the open.

"Compston played remarkable golf," declared Hagen concerning the match at Moor Park, soon after his arrival in England in which the rugged Scot handed him the worst beating of his career by the lopsided score of 18 and 17. Boomer beat him by 3 and 2 in a match in Paris.

Miss Olney, of Culver road, will sail this week for Europe with her mother, Mrs. William R. Olney.

Miss Rowers, who is a classmate of Miss Steele's at Miss Master's School in Dobbs Ferry, is her guest for several weeks.

Miss Backus' engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Backus, of Barrington street.

Miss Ogden will arrive Friday to be the guest of Miss Anne Bristol, of East avenue, for several days.

Mrs. Macomber and Mrs. Gardner are both enthusiastic golfers and will attend the monthly golf luncheon to-morrow at the Country Club of Rochester and play in the Tombstone tournament which will follow.

W. B. Lee Low Net Winner at C. C. of R.; Weldon, Heughes Tie

W. B. Lee, Jr., won low net honors at the Country Club of Rochester yesterday, scoring a 70 to lead one of the biggest fields of the season. Second place honors went to F. C. Goodwin who took a 71. Both had gross scores of 82 but Lee's handicap was one more than that of Goodwin. F. H. Gouverneur shot a 76 for the best low gross score.

At Oak Hill Country Club J. W. Weldon and B. A. Heughes tied for first low net with 73's. Weldon turned in a 77 which won gross honors.

S. J. Head and A. D. Weller tied for low gross in Class A at Brook-Lea Country Club with 88's. W. K. Lea had a 77 to top the low net list.

G. Levis, with a 69, turned in the best net score at Locust Hill Country Club. S. Burbank was second with a 70. Scores:

GEORGE CHRIST TOPS FIELD AT OAKMONT LINKS

Underwood, Eldred, Gordon Gain Places in National Open Qualifier Round

Pittsburgh, June 11.—(Special)—George M. Christ, successor to Walter Hagen as pro at the Country Club of Rochester, with two consistent rounds of 75, led the sectional qualifying round for the Pittsburgh district to determine the fourteen players to compete in the National open this month at Ogema Fields, Chicago.

A. A. Armour, Congressional Club, Washington, an elder brother of the present champion, was second with 133, while third place also went outside the West-Penn district, when Jim Hunter, of Indiana Springs, Washington, finished with 156.

George Underwood, Alcoma Country Club, and former Western New York pro, led the five local qualifiers when he registered 157 the same score as Vincent Eldred, of Olean, N. Y. Jack Gordon, of East Amherst's Transit Valley, was sixth in the list with 158, one stroke better than Charley Rowe, of Oakmont, and Pete Walsh, of Greenville.

Fred McLeod, Columbia Club, Washington, was another visitor to win one of the coveted places.

Wright McClure, Chartiers Heights Country Club, the only amateur in the select circle of qualifiers, had 161. Pete O'Hara, Westmoreland, with 162; Emil Loeffler, of Oakmont, and Fred Brand of Allegheny, each with 163, and Horace Brand, Uniontown, with 164, were the fourteen survivors of the field of 123 that teed off.

Walter Hagen Registers Round of 68 over Country Club Layout

BRITISH OPEN CHAMP TUNES UP FOR MATCH

Displays Brilliant Form
Preparing for Cooper;
Christ Shoots 67

By ELLIOT F. CUSHING

Walter Hagen returned to the course yesterday where he learned golf shots in his boyhood days that later developed him into the world's greatest golfer. Bronzed and tanned by a European sun and wind, the British open champion played a round over the Country Club of Rochester links in preparation for the first half of his seventy-two hole match with Harry Cooper over the same layout to-morrow. Walter shot a sparkling 66, three under par and two strokes better than the 70 that Cooper turned in over the same course last week.

All in all it was a busy day for Hagen. He checked in at The Sagamore along with Bob Harlow in the morning and was busy the rest of the day shaking hands with his many old friends. Championships don't seem to turn the "Hag's" head and he was just as warm in his greeting to Country Club ladies as he was to club members. That's just one of the many traits that make Walter the greatest "cat" in golfdom.

Plays in Foursome

Hagen came to Rochester unaided and there were no ceremonies or welcome home committees at the New York Central station when he hopped off a westbound flyer. He was whisked away in a high-speed motor and later in the afternoon mulled out by the Country Club for some golf.

Walter played in a foursome with W. Ward, George Christ and F. H. Hoke Gouverneur. Hagen and Ward teamed up and played a best ball match with the Country Club's professional and leading amateur. Christ and Gouverneur carried off honors, George shooting a sensational 29 on the last nine for a 67, one stroke under Hagen.

Hagen teed off the first nine in 19 but slipped to a 25 on the home-ward bucket and lost a chance to crack the course record of 63 held by Christ. Walter played steady golf, sending long screeching drives down the middle of the fairways and pitching to the greens with unerring accuracy. Then too he sent down some of the famous "Hagen putts" that have made him the most feared putter in the game.

Collects Birdies

The homeward journey did not prove as easy for Hagen, who took fives on both the par four, tenth and eleventh. He grabbed a birdie two on the 168-yard fifteenth, getting a twelve-foot put home. He overdrove the sixteenth but made a remarkable recovery from the rough and bagged a birdie three. He laid a chip shot dead to the pin for another birdie on the seventeenth and finished up with a par four on the eighteenth.

Christ's remarkable 29 on the second nine was the first time that 30 had ever been broken on the homeward trek. George is at the top of his game at present and may be heard from in the National Open at Olympia Fields next week.

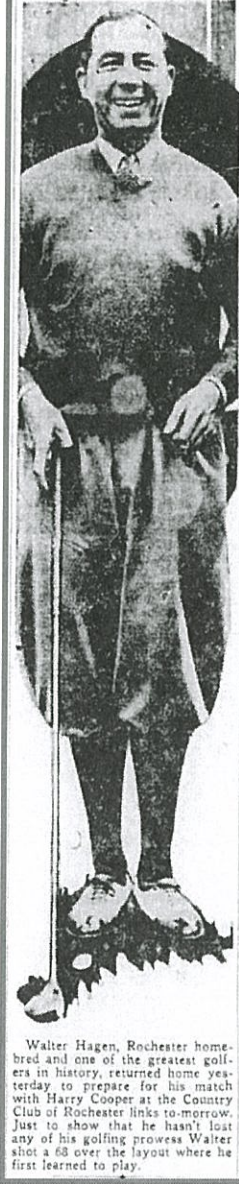

Hagen plans to play morning and afternoon rounds to-day over the Country Club layout. His card yesterday:

Hagen and Cooper Start at 10:30 A.M.

The first thirty-six holes of the Walter Hagen-Harry Cooper match scheduled for the Country Club of Rochester links to-morrow will be played at 10:30 A. M. and 3 P. M. Eighteen holes will be played in the morning and the same number in the afternoon. Tickets will be on sale at the Country Club to-morrow.

Back Home

Walter Hagen, Rochester homebred and one of the greatest golfers in history, returned home yesterday to prepare for his match with Harry Cooper at the Country Club of Rochester links to-morrow. Just to show that he hasn't lost any of his golfing prowess Walter shot a 68 over the layout where he first learned to play.

Detroit to Honor Hagen; Leaves for Open Next Tuesday

Walter Hagen will leave Buffalo following the finish of his match with Harry Cooper Sunday night and his Detroit friends will welcome him when he arrives there Monday morning.

The mayor of Detroit sent a special representative to the dock in New York to meet the Mauretania and give Walter a letter, welcoming him back to America and asking him to inform the Mayor the first opportunity he could get to Detroit. The Motor city is planning a big reception.

While Hagen was speeding to America on the Mauretania he received a wireless from members of the Tam-O-Shanta Club of Detroit, telling him that he had been made a life member of that club, which is the favorite organization of the automobile executives there. Among the members of the Board of Directors are Lawrence Fisher, president of the Cadillac Company and vice-president of General Motors and Walter Chrysler, president of the Chrysler automobile company.

Hagen will remain one day in Detroit and then go on to Chicago for the American open championship.

At the welcome home dinner at the Westchester-Biltmore Club in New York, in which Hagen was made a life member following his first victory in the British open he was presented with $3,000 and a platinum cigarette case. John McKee Bowman, president of the Biltmore hotels, made the presentation speech.

Cooper Leads Hagen In Exhibition Golf Match

Rochester, N. Y., June 15 (AP)—Harry Cooper, Buffalo pro, today led Walter Hagen, three times winner of the British pro, 4 up at the end of the first 18 holes of their 72-hole exhibition match. The second 18 will be played on the course of the Country Club of Rochester this afternoon and the final 36 at Buffalo tomorrow.

Hagen Hammers Par on Arriving Home

Rochester, June 15 — Walter Hagen, British open golf champion and a native of Rochester, returned home yesterday to prepare for his 72-hole match with Harry Cooper, professional at the Meadowbrook Country club, Buffalo. Hagen scored a 68, three under par, over the Country club of Rochester links where the first 36 holes will be played Friday.

COOPER IS LEADING WALTER HAGEN, 1 UP

Pair Complete First 36 of 72-Hole Match

British Open Champion Finds the Bunkers Often

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 15 (A. P.) —"Lighthorse" Harry Cooper, youthful professional of the Meadowbrook Country Club, Buffalo, led Walter Hagen, British open golf champion, 1 up at the end of the first 36 holes of their 72-hole match play over the Country Club of Rochester links today.

A brilliant round of 68 in the morning placed Cooper 4 up on the "Halg," but Walter came back in the afternoon to duplicate Harry's morning score and shave three strokes off the margin held by the Elson pro.

Hagen was constantly in trouble during the morning, his drives finding bunkers time after time. Only his remarkable recoveries saved him from an overwhelming defeat for the first 18. Cooper was straight and true on his tee shots and ran most of his approaches dead to the pin. Harry sunk a 35-foot putt for an eagle two on the 233-yard 18th.

Cooper faltered badly at the beginning of the afternoon round and Hagen squared the match at the 23d green. A 20-foot putt for a birdie two put Hagen one up at the 24th. But Harry got his par on the next green, while Walter was one over. They battled on even terms until the 37th, where Cooper chipped to within a foot of the pin for a birdie three and Hagen missed a 10-foot putt, taking a four. They halved the final hole.

The second round of the match will be played at Buffalo Sunday afternoon.

COOPER LEADS HAGEN ONE UP

Buffalo Pro Tops British Open Champion in First of 72-Hole Match

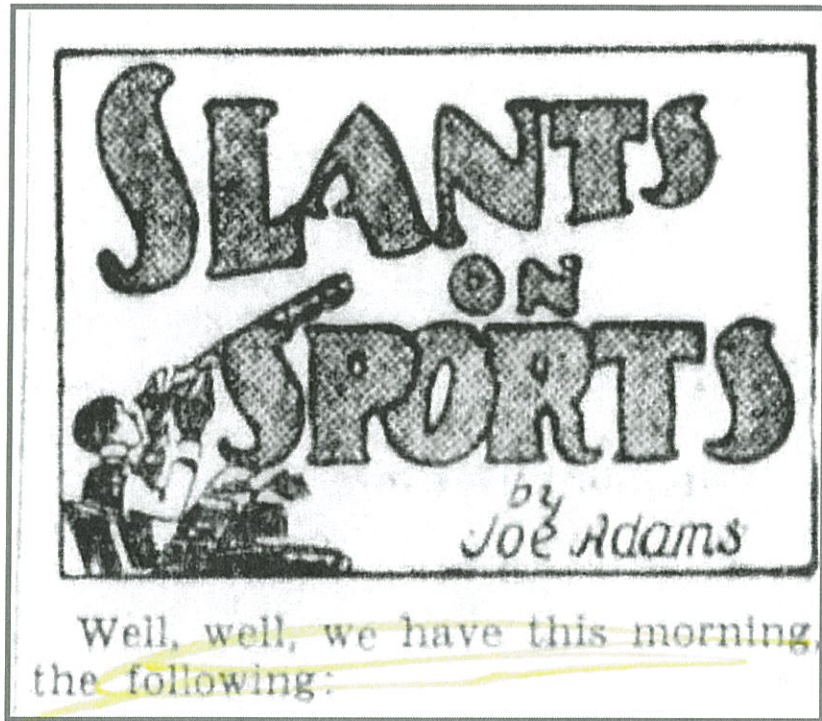

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 16— "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper, youthful professional of the Meadowbrook Country Club, Buffalo, led Walter Hagen, British open golf champion, one up at the end of the first 36 holes of their 72-hole match played over the Country Club of Rochester links yesterday. A brilliant round of 68 up on the "Halg," but Walter came back in the afternoon to duplicate Harry's morning score and shave three strokes off the margin by the Blson pro.

During the morning, Hagen's drives found bunkers time after time. Cooper was straight and true on his ten shots and ran most of his approaches dead to the pin. Harry sunk a thirty-five foot putt for an eagle two on the two hundred thirty-eight yard line sixteenth.

Cooper faltered badly at the beginning of the afternoon round and Hagen squared the match at the twenty-third green. A twenty-foot putt for a birdie two put Hagen one up at the twenty-fourth. But Harry got his par on the next green while Walter was one over. They battled on even terms until the thirty-seventh where Cooper clipped to within a foot of the pin for a birdie three and Hagen missed a ten-foot putt, taking a four. They halved the final hole.

'Lighthouse' Harry Cooper Shows Way To Walter Hagen

Rochester, N. Y., June 15.—(AP.)—
"Lighthouse" Harry Cooper, youthful professional of the Meadowbrook
County Club, Buffalo, led Walter
Hagen, British open golf champion, one up at the end of the first 36 holes of their 72 hole match play over the country club of Rochester links today. A brilliant round of 68 in the morning placed Cooper 4 up on the "Haig" but Walter came back in the afternoon to duplicate Harry's morning score and shave three strokes off the margin held by the Bison pro.

Hagen and Cooper played more than an "exhibition" match yesterday at the Country Club of Rochester. Both are "red-hot" for the victory in this battle, which drew more than 1,000 fans to the links.

Hagen was typical in his non-chalent manner of play, with an easy stroke and seemingly effortless gait, while Cooper had a more determined look in his eye, more nerves to keep under control on his swing, and he showed in his shots that he had more to gain by a victory than did Walter. They'll finish the battle Sunday, and it should be enticing enough to cause many to make the trip from this city to the Meadowbrook club.

BUFFALO STAR GRABS LEAD IN OPENING ROUND

Has Walter 4 Up at First
Eighteen; 'Haig' Shaves
Lead in Afternoon

By ELLIOT F. CUSHING

All of the fine golf qualities that are Walter Hagen's, packed into one fine round, failed to overhaul youthful Harry Cooper, of Buffalo, in the first thirty-six holes of their seventy-two hole match played over the Country Club of Rochester links yesterday. Walter being one down at the close of the day's play. Going to the nineteenth tee, at the beginning of the afternoon round, the "Haig" trailed "Lighthorse" Harry by four holes as a result of a brilliant 68 registered by the visiting professional in the morning.

Then came a "Hagen comeback," a brilliant 33 for nine holes and Walter hit the turn at the twenty-seventh one up. It was just what the gallery of over 1,000 golf fans had anticipated, and it had the dapper Harry somewhat worried as he stepped up to drive at the twenty-eighth tee. Harry had never had the pleasure of seeing a Hagen comeback and he didn't fancy being the victim of one.

Cooper Grasps Chance

But Hagen's trusty putter, usually his best weapon, failed once more as it had throughout the morning and Cooper, steadying himself, battled on to catch his old foe at the twenty-ninth green with a birdie three and step out ahead once more at the next hole with a par five while Walter was taking a six.

They matched stroke for stroke until the thirty-fourth of the afternoon where Hagen squared the match with a birdie two but Harry bagged a birdie three on the thirty-fifth to ward off any possibility of a "Hagen finish," taking Walter into the lead. They halved the thirty-sixth and shook hands with Cooper. H up.

And so what started out to be a "Hagen finish" was killed off in the stretch by a fighting youth who refused to concede defeat. All of the company that carried Walter to victory at Midlothian, Brae-Burn, again in Dallas, Texas, two years ago at the twenty-fourth, the first time he had been behind all day. The shop brought a deafening band of applause for the overflow gallery that had come to see a "Hagen finish."

Walter after Win

Walter appeared serious minded about his task when he stepped out to the first tee in the morning at- tention in a bright yellow sweater and white knickers. Perhaps Walter was thinking of a certain afternoon scene in Dallas, Texas, ten years ago where he first met Harry Cooper on actual links warfare. Harry, quite young and self confident at that time, had thrown so many challenges at our Walter that he finally agreed to play him.

On that day "Lighthouse Harry" dubbed out a 10-and-9 triumph over the "Peerless Haig" and whether he admits it or not Walter has always looked forward to the day when he could repay the compliment to Mr. Cooper.

So when Walter, as bronzed as ever and a trifle heavier than in other years, glanced off at the spongy meadows and rolling fair- ways he pictured an ideal setting in which to repay dapper Harry. He was playing over the course where he learned the game as a boy; was surrounded by a gallery of friends and admirers and was at the top of his game with the British open crown somewhere in his huge golf bag.

Cooper Takes Lead

But Walter, determined as he was, ran into trouble before three holes had been played. His little iron putter went back on him at the second green where a ten-footer hung on the lip of the cup just an inch short of its target. He was in a bunker on his drive on the third hole but made a fine recovery, but went two down when Cooper ran an approach dangerously near the cup and took a par four. Walter required five strokes but pulled himself together on the next two holes which were halved with fours.

Hagen's lone kill in the first eighteen was registered at the 217-yard sixth where he collected a par three after "blowing" an easy putt for a birdie two. They hit the turn with Cooper one to the good and playing more consistent golf than his more experienced rival. The British open champion's drives continually found their way to the awning bunkers and only some remarkable recoveries turned the match from becoming a rout for Cooper.

But that's what makes Hagen the world's greatest golfer. He accepts penalty as part of the game. He's never down until he's out and yesterday was no exception to the rule. He played out of the rough continually from the eleventh tee to the sixteenth because of a slight mist to his drive. Many golfers could have blown up under these conditions.

Hagen Starts Over

Cooper went two up at the eleventh with a par four while it took Walter two strokes to get out of a bunker. Harry bagged an eagle two at the sixteenth, running a thirty-five foot putt into the cup for the longest one of the day. Walter had a birdie three, but it was wasted. It's not many times that you can't win a hole with a birdie but that was just one of the unfortunate breaks that the "Haig" encountered in the morning. Walter, apparently unsteady, "blew" a three-foot putt at the eighteenth

As Cooper Took One-up on Hagen

Dapper and cocky "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper, of Meadowbrook Country Club, on right, took a one-up lead on Walter Hagen, on left, yesterday in the first half of their seventy-two hole match over the Country Club of Rochester links. The pair will resume their match at Buffalo to-morrow over the Meadowbrook Club links with thirty-six holes.

HAGEN, COOPER PLAY FINAL 36 HOLES TO-DAY

Pros Renew Hostilities at Meadowbrook Country
Club, Buffalo

Walter Hagen and Harry Cooper renew hostilities in their seventy-two hole golf battle this afternoon at Meadowbrook Country Club, Buffalo, where the final thirty-six holes will be contested. "Lighthouse" Harry enters to-day's play one up on the redoubtable "Haig," who trailed the Buffalo shot maker around the Country Club of Rochester links Friday.

Play in to-day's match will begin at 10:30 o'clock Eastern daylight time, which is 9:30 o'clock Rochester time. The afternoon round will begin at 3 o'clock. The Meadowbrook Club is located off Sheridan drive about ten miles east of Buffalo. A shot-by-shot description of to-day's play will be sent over the air by Station WMAK, of Buffalo.

Meadowbrook Country Club and Buffalo golf fans in general are pretty well heated up over the match between the two golf giants. All Buffalo is pulling for a Cooper victory. It will mean quite a bit to Harry if he is able to trounce the British open champ and he will give his best efforts to turn the trick to-day.

Hagen played a practice round at Meadowbrook yesterday to get the "feel" of the lay-out. All courses look alike to Walter and it wouldn't be surprising to see him stage a comeback against Cooper to-day.

"If you hit them straight, your good on any course," said the "Haig" out at the Country Club the other day. And that's just what he intends to do at Meadowbrook.

HAGEN TO PLAY CHRIST HERE IN 36-HOLE MATCH

Walter Will Return Early Next Month for Event
at Country Club

Walter Hagen will return to Rochester early in July to play George Christ, Country Club of Rochester professional, in a thirty-six hole match over Christ's home links, according to an announcement made in Buffalo yesterday by Bob Harlow, Hagen's manager. Hagen will play in the American open at Olympia Fields this week but win or lose will be come back here to play Christ.

"George is a mighty fine golfer," said Harlow. "There are few in Western New York who realize his greatness but we hear his name spoken quite often while touring about the country. Over the Country Club lay-out George is almost unbeatable but if anyone has a chance of doing it Walter has."

Incidentally Hagen is one who thinks Christ has a great chance in the open this week. "Olympia Fields just fits George's game," said the "Haig" out at the Country Club the other day. "All you have to be is straight and that's George's best asset." Walter has played the Chicago course several times and was crowned Western open champ there last season.

DISTRICT GOLF BODY TO HOLD INITIAL EVENT

Sixteen Players from Each
Club to Play at Country
Club Thursday

The Rochester District Golf Association will hold its first event over the Country Club of Rochester links Thursday afternoon. Sixteen players from each member club, Country Club, Oak Hill, Monroe and Brook-Lea, will tee off in foursomes.

Prizes will be awarded to the team with low net and gross while individual awards will also be made. Play is scheduled to begin at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

The association was formed at a meeting several months ago. Tournaments will be played throughout the summer at the various courses of its members. The starting times for Thursday's play will be announced to-morrow.

GOLF GROWS WITH EVENTS TO ADD SPICE

Two Section Events To-day,
One To-morrow with Open on Chicago Lay-out

The game of golf and interest in the sport has grown rapidly this season, and the players are eagerly awaiting the competition and the returns from events listed to-day and to-morrow. The Ad Club members will tee off this afternoon at 1 o'clock over the old course at Genesee Valley Park in a flag tourney which is expected to draw a record number, while more than 100 members of the Women's Golf Association of Western New York will compete over the Niagara Falls lay-out in an eighteen-hole play tourney this morning.

With the National open's first round scheduled over the Olympia Fields course to-morrow morning, interest has reached the peak in that event while the first Rochester District Golf Association contest is scheduled at the Brook-Lea Country Club links to-morrow afternoon. Four clubs will take part in this event, the Country Club of Rochester, Oak Hill, Monroe and Brook-Lea being members of the new body.

Professionals in the open event who will be watched with more than common interest will be Walter Hagen and George Christ, former and present Country Club of Rochester professionals; Jack Gordon, of Buffalo's Transit Valley lay-out and well known here; Harry Cooper, who played Walter Hagen here last Friday, and Vinc Eldred, of Olean, also of the Western New York P. G. A.

Rochester District Golf Body Lists First Tourney To-day

The first event of the newly-organized Rochester District Golf Association will be played this afternoon over the Country Club of Rochester links, starting at 1 o'clock. Sixteen players of each club have been bracketed in foursomes, to leave the first tee at seven-minute intervals.

Team and individual prizes are offered in the competition, with net and gross for each division. The team total in the gross will be based on the scores of the sixteen competitors of each club while the net will be the gross with the total handicap of the sixteen entries deducted.

That the Class of play will be high is certain, with the state amateur champion of 1927 and the man he defeated in the finals in the first foursome Arthur Yates, of Oak Hill, is the title-holder and F. H. Gouverneur of the Country Club of Rochester, was the runner-up, while Joe Caldwell, of Monroe Golf Club, and Mark Trivison, of Brook-Lea Country Club, will match shot for shot with the pair.

In each foursome of the day there is one man of each of the four clubs of the new association. The pairings follow:

- 1.00—P. M.—F. H. Gouverneur, C. C. of R. Arthur Yates, Oak Hill, Joseph Caldwell, Monroe, and Mark Trivison, Brook-Lea.

Compston Shoots 69, Hagen 70 on Eve of National Open Tourney

BRITISH STAR SHATTERS PAR BY 2 STROKES

The 'Haig' Turns in Pair of 35's; Players Tee
Off This Morning

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—Great Britain today bowed indignantly at remaining well on America for the recent victory of Walter Hagen in the British open golf championship. The indignation came when Archie Compston overseas star who a spectacular 69, two under par in the final practice round over the No. 4 course at Olympia Fields Country Club on the eve of the national open tournament.

It was the same tall and powerful Briton who took Hagen in's camp by the preliminary rounds of 15 and 17 just before the British open. It was the 'Haig,' however, who left Compston finding in third place three strokes to the bad when the championship was decided at Sandwich.

Incidentally, Sir Walter scored no worse than 35-35-70 to-day, which was one under par for the second time. Both these Titans of the links are hungry for victory in this meet, as Hagen has not won it for nine years, and wants to add it to his British and P. G. A. championships, while Archie wants to remove the compliment for the American victory in his home country.

McLeod in Fine Form

This does not mean the battle for

McLeod in Fine Form

This does not mean the battle for the title now held by Tommy Armour of Washington is to be a duel between these two experts, for the present wearer of the crown is playing good golf, having scored two 7's over the Olympic links. Even to-day, two players in addition to Compston and Hansen broke par on the difficult 6,725 yard links.

One of these was Freddie McLeod of Washington, who was National champion in the dim past, and the other was Craig Wood of New York. McLeod missed a short putt on the eighteenth green for a 69, while Wood, a stalwart youth, burned up the first nine in 31 strokes, three under par. He got in trouble a couple of times coming home and took 38.

And there were many others within three or four strokes of the leader in the dress rehearsal, including a 71 by George Von Elm of Detroit, formerly amateur champion, an approximate 72 by Bobby Jones of Atlanta, who incidentally got a 70 for himself yesterday and 73 by Aubrey Hunter of France. This figure was regular among those reporting 70's being Johnny Farrell and Willie Burke of New York, Francis Gillett of Milwaukee and Ed Dudley of California.

Predictions are common among the contestants that Tom Armour, a 206, is likely to win the event, and there were a goodly number of such ones, including Jack Hutchinson, A. Espinosa, Joe Turussa and Bob MacDonald.

More rain threatened to-night, but having a dress rehearsal during the playing of the first round to-morrow, the course should be in good condition.

Oak Hill Linksmen Capture First District Tournament

Golfers from Oak Hill Country Club won the initial Rochester and District Golf Association tourney held over the links of the Country Club of Rochester yesterday afternoon. Oak Hill's combined medal score totaled 352, nine strokes better than the score turned in by the Country Club linksmen. Brook-Lea finished third with a medal of 1,498 while Monroe's score was not counted because it did not have a full team.

Kirkwood to Play at Brook-Lea Club

Joe Kirkwood, Australian trick shot golf artist and one of the leading players in the game, will play an exhibition match over the Brook-Lea Country Club links, Friday afternoon, August 3d. Kirkwood will play in a foursome with Charley Lombard, Brook-Lea professional; George Christ of the Country Club of Rochester and Charley McKenna of Oak Hill Country Club. After the match Kirkwood will give an exhibition of fancy shots.

Bobby Jones Leads Field in Open with 144; Hagen Trails Georgian by Three Strokes

By JOSEPH T. ADAMS

(Sports Editor of Democrat and Chronicle)

Olympia Fields Country Club, Chicago, June 22.—This race for the open golf championship threatens to develop into a 1-2 amateur finish, with Robert T. Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, and George Von Elm, of the Tam-O-Shanter Club, Detroit, present and former amateur titleholders, in the front posts. Jones to-day played through eighteen holes of the most strenuous golf, with fairways lined with fans on either side at all times, and scored a par 71 for the lay-out, while Von Elm had a 72.

tion Harry Cooper, of Buffalo, slipped almost out of sight with an 82 for a 146 total, leaving George Christ, of the Country Club of Rochester, as the leading resident competitor from Western New York with 151, as a result of his 75 to-day and 76 yesterday. He is but seven strokes back of the leading professional and but nine strokes back of Jones.

Christ Stays In

Christ finished with his 151 well among the sixty-four low scores of the two days' play, holders of which will continue to-morrow in the golden quest, with thirty-six holes of medal play. Christ had a 38 on the same as on Thursday, and followed it with a 37, three strokes better than his effort of the day before.

Christ was over par on each of the final, seventh and ninth holes, still hitting his woods good and putting well. On the third he was short in the right of the green and his pitch, safely placed, failed to catch the corner of the green. He polished up woods and dropped his first putt for a five. On seven his tee shot was aimed into the unforgiving region of the heavy woods from where he played short toward the green. An approach and two putts sufficed. At the ninth his second missed the green and he took two putts after getting onto the carpet.

On the first five holes of the second nine he was off line twice with his drives, and both times had no chance to show for the green with his second. On twelve he had to pitch onto the fairway and on fourteen a left handed shot was necessary, due to the position of the ball in a clump of willows. On fifteen he three putted his first green of the day. Then came the thirteenth.

He started an easy three on the sixteenth, the ball stopping four inches short of the cup on his second putt. On seventeen he dropped his first birdie, a ten-foot putt slipping into the hole after a fine and better pitch.

Grabs Another Birdie

Another birdie fell before his teeth on the thirteenth, a tough hole with the wind against the player. George was well out with eleven, which were, everything considered, the best that I have ever seen them working. He reached a trap at the side of the green on his second. Here he put his niblick on the green and keeping the putting touch, ran a thirty footer into the cup, amidst the applause of 1,000 fans clustered about the big carpet.

It was a rousing finish to insure that Christ could continue in the play, typical of the spirit of the Country Club player who does not know what tough luck means. George kept plugging on holes eight thirteen and sixteen. He was but from two to four inches short for deuces, but he smiled as he took his 3's and kept plugging along the route.

Jack Gordon, of Transit Valley, Buffalo, had a great start, out in 36 strokes and home on the first five with even 4's, but he slipped to an eight on fifteen, where Christ took his only six, and then closed with a par and two holes one each over par. He finished with 78 just as the storm clouds blew up a real threat of rain. His thirty-six hole total is 157.

Vincent Eldred, of Olean, again had a 43 going out. His card showed 7's on the first and third, and he played the last six holes of the first round in even fours. He came home in 38 strokes for a total of 81 for the day and 160 to date.

Compston Has Poor Round

Achille Compston, of England, overseas, has a poor round coming home taking 46 strokes to boost his total to 81 for the day and 157 for the two rounds. Jim Barnes has 153 and Gene Saracani is back in the field with a 154.

Tommy Armour, defending champion, tallied 75 for the day and went to bed thinking over a two-day assemblage of 151 strokes. And right here it might be well to mention that Charles "Chuck" Evans, amateur and former open champion, took ninety whacks to get around the course.

Johnny Farrell turned a score of 74 to mount his score for the first half of the play to 151 where Mac Donald Smith also is able to coast for the night.

Aubrey Boomer, of the St. Cloud club France, keeps another foreign threat in the running with his 152 aggregate.

Bill Mehlhorn, the last man to turn in his card, tallied the final qualifying score at 157. Sixty-four will tee off to-morrow after a pairing to-night as a result of their scores.

Craig Wood of Bloomfield, N. J., had the best round of the day, playing steady golf to better par by one stroke with a 70. He had birdies on the 1st, 13th and 18th while he slipped one over on the fourteenth and fifteenth holes. His thirteen pars denotes the steadiness of his game. His card:

Out 4 4 4 4 4 3 4 3 4--34
In 4 4 4 2 5 6 3 4 4--36--70

1,000 Follow Jones

Wood's total is now 149 and the fear is growing here that he has hit one of those unbeatable strides. He played his second nine on the opening day in 35 strokes giving him his last three nines of the competition in those figures. He had one nine hole total of 32 as he scored a 70 in practice.

Bobby Jones had two birdies to keep up front although he hit a half dozen poor shots on which he needed recoveries first on the first hole and one on the fourth to add to his gallery of close to 4,000 fans who waited for his starting hour. He slipped on the ninth and tenth a stroke to par and finished in even figures for his 71. Jones was handicapped by the gallery, which marshals of the course found hard to control for him, and his partner Johnny Farrell. The card of Jones:

Out	4	4	4	3	4	3	4	3	5	34
In	5	4	4	3	4	5	3	4	5	37 71

The finish to-morrow seems to be centered around Jones, Von Elm, MacFarlane and Hagen, based on the past consistency of their games and their ability to stand the gaff under trying conditions. That a record open crowd will see the play is assured if fair weather continues. The downpour to-day lasted but an hour.

Dark Horses Fall Out

These high speed boys of the first quarter, the fast breaking dark horses who were strokes ahead of the nationally known stars at the close of the first eighteen, started to dwindle toward the three-eighth hole and when the first nine of today's play was completed most of them were watching their figures mount rapidly. After the half way mark was reached, none of the first seven, who topped Thursday's play were entirely out of the competition, but only one, Bill Leach, of Philadelphia, with a 146, remained as a threat in to-morrow's three-quarter and "stretch" runs.

First to find the pace too fast was Frank Ball of Atlanta, who came home after an early start with an 81 for 151 for the day. He was even with Jack Gordon's partner, Leo Diegel, of White Plains, who

He took his par on the tenth, and then followed with three birdies, the one on eleven dropping after a fine shot on the green with a No. four iron, in place of the putter due to the heavy rains. He dropped another one under par score on the twelfth with perfect play and then dropped a deuce on the short thirteenth after a beautiful pitch and twenty-foot putt which found the mark.

Another par fell before his marvelous stroke on fourteen and he dropped a putt of close to thirty feet for his birdie on the 555-yard fifteenth. On sixteen he took a par when his putt stopped an inch from the cup, and he finished the round with pars on seventeen and eighteen.

In Trouble at Eighteenth

On eighteen he was so anxious to shoot that he pushed his second way over to the right, almost to the tenth fairway, in the toughest, longest grass on the course. He used his driver on this shot, hoping to get home. He pitched past the pin, too, took two putts and scored his 72 to stick very much in the running.

Tied with Hagen at 147 is Willie MacFarlane, who won the title in 1925 after a play-off with Bobby Jones. This course suits Willie's straight game with the woods and accurate iron play and he is to be feared. Henry Ciuci, first of the dark horses of the first day, is also on the 147 perch with his 77 to-day and yesterday's 70. MacFarlane had rounds of 73 and 74 to keep right in the running.

Other former champions and favorites to win this year's title are not nearly as well placed as this

The excellent round by Jones brought his thirty-six hole total to 144 strokes, while Vom Elm is tied with Bill Leach, of Philadelphia, the first of the pros, at 146. Von Elm finished in a driving rain, getting a birdie on seventeen when he used a No. 3 iron for a putter and bounced the ball through the water into the cup from a distance of fifteen feet. He followed this birdie with a splendid recovery from a trap on eighteen and a better putt for a birdie four to be put one over par for the day.

Hagen Comes Back

Right behind Von Elm and Leach, however, at 147 is none other than the old "Come from behind Kid," Walter Hagen, Rochester homebred, who seemingly was out of the running on the twenty-eighth tee, which he reached to-day in forty strokes, after some erratic putting on the first nine. His putter came back to-day, however, on the way home, through a terrific downpour to score a 32, the best single nine of the tourney, and one of the greatest ever scored in competition of this nature.

Misses Collett, Van Wie and Orcutt Survive Buffalo Round

Buffalo, June 26.—(AP)—Three favorites survived the first round of match play in the eighth annual invitation women's golf tournament at the Buffalo Country Club to-day, although one of the trio barely succeeded in edging out a victory.

Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, R. I., former national champion who needed 43 for the first nine holes of her match with Miss Alice Beadestone of New York, and had trouble on the inward journey, went to the final green before she triumphed, two up. Here Miss Collett's third shot was dead to the pin, but she missed an easy putt. The five, however, was good enough to win.

Displaying the finest golf of the day's play, Miss Maureen Orcutt, of Englewood, N. J., another favorite, turned in a card of 38 for the outward nine and eliminated Miss Maude Rosa, of Ottawa, on the eleventh green, 9 to 7.

The third of the trio, Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago star who won the tournament last year easily disposed of Miss Ann Jeanette Hunter, of Pittsburg. The match ended on the twelfth green, the Chicago girl winning, 3 to 6.

Peggy Wattles of Buffalo, the western New York champion defeated a club mate, Miss Marlon Morgan, 3 to 2.

The winners of to-day's matches were paired for to-morrow as follows:

- Glenna Collett vs. Miss P. J. Macomber, Toronto
- Maureen Orcutt vs. Beatrice Galtlin, New York
- Virginia Van Wie vs. Bernice Wall, Oakbrook, Wis.
- Peggy Wattles vs. Miss J. W. Federman, New York
- Patricia Stiefel, Wheeling, W. Va., vs. Miss J. W. Taylor, Evanston, Ill.
- Miss Helen Payer, Ottawa, vs. Miss Helen Payson, Portland, Me.
- Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., vs. Eileen Kinsella, Montreal
- Louise Purdie, Youngstown, Ohio, vs. Joseph Roberts, Abingdon, Pa.

First Flight Results

Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, defeated Miss Alice Beadestone of New York, 3 up.

Miss Maureen Orcutt defeated Miss Maude Rosa, of Ottawa, 9 and 7.

Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, defeated Miss Ann Jeanette Hunter, of Pittsburg, 8 and 6.

Miss Peggy Wattles, Buffalo, western New York champion, defeated a clubmate, Miss Marlon Morgan, 3 and 2.

Miss Helen Payson, Portland, Maine, defeated Miss Adele Hutchings, Buffalo, 5 and 4.

Miss Joseph Roberts, Abingdon, Pa., defeated Miss Cecil Eastare Smith, Toronto, 5 and 4.

Miss Beatrice Galtlin, New York, defeated Miss Evelyn Mills, Ottawa, 7 and 1.

Miss Patricia Stiefel, Wheeling, W. Va., defeated Miss Dalton Raymond, Baton Rouge, La., 1 up.

Miss Helen Payer, Ottawa, defeated Miss Ruth Batefelder, Boston, 3 and 4.

Miss W. L. Federman, New York, defeated Miss Harida Frost, Springfield, Ohio, 4 and 3.

Miss Edith Quier, Reading, Pa.

Box 9 B Macomber of the Country Club of Rochester, defeated Miss Helen Little club-mate, here to-day in the second flight of the Buffalo Country Club invitation women's tournament. Miss Macomber triumphed after a hard struggle with the younger star on the nineteenth hole. Miss Macomber will face Miss Esther Klink of Park Club Buffalo, in the second round to-morrow morning.

Mrs. Macomber, Miss Little Qualify for 2d Flight and Will Meet To-day

Buffalo, June 25.—(A)—Getting a brisk and thoroughly businesslike golf pace, Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, former National woman champion and winner of the Buffalo Country Club invitation tournament in 1923 and 1924, took down the honors of the qualifying round of the 1928 tourney to-day over the slightly soggy course, leading by six strokes the present national champion, Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago. Miss Collett gathered a cluster of fours and threes to total 81 while Miss Van Wie chalked up an 87, an eight, a seven and a couple of sixes creeping into her usually good card.

Buffalo took a share of the qualifying laurels when Miss Peggy Wattles shot an 88 to tie with Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., another ranking golfer for third place.

The tournament was started under sunny skies and a smiling sun. A shower spoiled some of the afternoon hours but soon passed.

Buffalo, June 25. — (Special) — Mrs. Dewitt Macomber and Miss Helen Little, both of the Country Club of Rochester, qualified for the second flight in the eighth annual women's invitation tournament which opened to-day at the Country Club of Buffalo. The luck of the draw brings these two Flower City contestants together in the first round of match play on tomorrow morning. Mrs. Macomber had a 52-51-103 round in the qualifier, while Miss Little required three strokes more, having a 64-52-104.

Rochester Women in Victories at Buffalo

Buffalo, June 27.—(Special)—Two Buffalo women, Mrs. Dewitt B. Macomber, and Miss Helen Little, both of the Country Club of Rochester, won by default in their matches in the women's invitation tourney of the Buffalo Country Club here to-day. Mrs. Macomber now is in the third round of the second sixteen while Miss Little is playing in the beaten eight of the second sixteen. Miss Esther Klinck, of the Park Club, Buffalo, defaulted to Mrs. Macomber and Mrs. Phillip Stevenson, of Long Island, did not face Miss Little.

Rochester's Golfers Will Aid in Giving 'Baby' Tourney Life

Some twenty or more Rochester golfers will compete in the "baby" tourney of this district, the New York state open championship at Syracuse, July 6th and 7th. When the New York State Golf Association booked the tourney for the Onondaga Country Club, golfers of this district greeted the announcement with pleasure and many amateurs and professionals have made arrangements for taking in the event.

Already George Christ of the Country Club of Rochester; Walter Bemisl, of Geneseo; Steve Riley, unattached pro; Bill Lawson, Joe Müller, Elwin Nagell and Herbie Kling, of the Genesee Valley Park links, and other stars have arranged to make the trip. It is expected that practically every club amateur with a handicap of six or under will be in the lists when the medal play starts.

UTICA STAR IN DEADLOCK WITH ROCHESTERIAN

Lowest Scoring Qualifier of Six Year's Life of Event
Run by Country Club

By JOSEPH T. ADAMS

Parfax H. Gouverneur, of the Country Club of Rochester, and A. R. Hatfield, Jr., of Yahnundata Country Club, flashed brilliant scoring rounds of 73 each to tie for the medal in the qualifying round of the sixth annual Country Club of Rochester invitation tourney yesterday. The Rochester star was home one stroke ahead of the field until late in the afternoon, when young Dick proved his way to a par on the seventeenth by virtue of a long putt and one recovery from a trap to make the round a deadlock.

The pair tallied the same nine-hole totals, only in the opposite manner. "Mike" going out in 39 strokes and closing with a 34 while approaching the home green, with the Utica sharp-shooter mounting his total to 39 coming home after making the turn in 34 shots. Both played without incident, getting their putts in regular fashion, although Gouverneur did break his match mullack on the eleventh on a perfect shot, an effort which sent the ball within ten feet of the cup on the hole for an easy par.

Hatfield 'Blows' on 17

Hatfield "blew" his chance to be medalist in this event on the seventeenth hole, with an erratic putt, as he saved it on the eighteenth with the sinking of a long try on the carpet. "Mike" was straight on all his drives, finding the rough on but two tee shots.

While Gouverneur and Hatfield were scoring the second best rounds of the six-year play, eclipsed only by last year's medal winning 70 of Ervin Nagel, the rest of the field was scattering a string of pars along the route with such reckless abandon that the highest scores to enter the first flight were 79, the lowest yet in the tourney.

Heimeiz Has 74

J. John Heimeiz, of Lancaster, had the third position in the list with a 74, even then having a ball out of bounds on number 14. He was playing his first round over the course and is a feared match play competitor, for that type of play which starts his morning.

Right behind Heimeiz came John I. Day and William B. Macomber, of the Country Club of Rochester, with 75 totals, while from there to the remaining eleven of the first sixteen were strung out. Fillmore K. Robeson, of the C. C. of R., had a 77 but was forced to drop from the event.

Due to the size of the field, the largest ever to compete in this annual fixture, seven sixties were drawn for match play. Scores over 100 were tossed into a hat and drawn to complete the seventh bracketing, while draws were made in all other 16 positions. T. S. Lunt was drawn into the third listing, although tied in the second sixteen scores.

Low net honors for the day were taken by the Country Club of Rochester players with a total score of 1,234. Oak Hill was second with 1,242 and Brook-Lea third with 1,299. Sixteen players from each club with the exception of Monroe which was only able to muster a fourteen-man team competed.

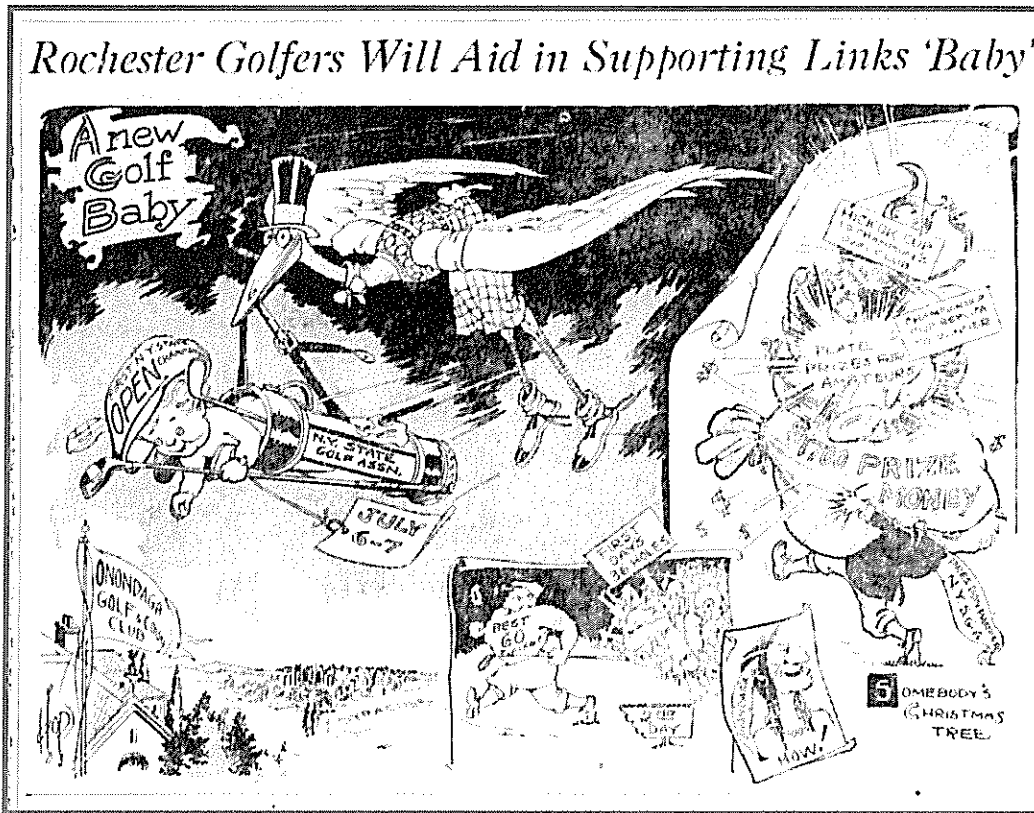

F. H. (Hike) Gouverneur, of the Country Club, turned in a 73 for the best gross score of the day. George Blair, of Oak Hill, won low net honors with a 71. Scores

Later Entry List

In addition to the first round championship there will be a special contest for the American League trophy awarded to the pair of players from the same club for the best two bats in the score of the day. These players must be made in appearance of the time for making the best hit. The award was won last year by the Chicago Cubs, who carried through the last of Edwin Davis and George Kiefer.

Saturday a baseball of eighteen teams will be played by non-division in any of the division, while an award goes to the best pitcher of today's qualifying round.

The entry list includes 124 names of whom 100 have no record of all-time runs, having a slight competition from other than newly enter bats, which are well represented, with the exception of the Old Tim stars who will be in the field tomorrow and Saturday for the League of the League play, starting in June 30 and every week. The fielding list:

100. A. M. Lee, Boston, 100 runs.
 101. W. W. Foster, Boston, 100 runs.
 102. J. E. Foster, 100 runs.

HOPE TO STOP WIN STREAK OF STAR VISITORS

Have Won but One of Five Invitation Tournaments;
Medal Round To-day

One new name will be inscribed on the Country Club of Rochester invitation tourney trophy, as a result of the sixth annual event of that organization which will open with a medal play qualifying round of eighteen holes to-day, to be followed to-morrow and Saturday with match play in five sixteens. None of the four previous winners, Arthur (Ducky) Yates, 1923; Roland Ticknor, Syracuse, 1924; W. Hamilton Gardner, Buffalo, 1925 and 1926; and W. Henry Comstock, Buffalo, 1927, will be back for the 1928 event which lists 130 entries, the largest ever.

Rochester golfers, in particular, are out to stop the sweep of the out-of-town linksmen, which has resulted in the last four tourneys being won by visitors. The first and only Rochester win was scored by Arthur Yates, of Oak Hill, present state amateur champion, in the first event of the club.

DICK HATFIELD LOSES SECOND ROUND MATCH

Falls Before Yountakah Star
Golfer, 2 and 1, in
C. C. of R. Event

By JOSEPH T. ADAMS

Four star linksmen, semi-finalists in the sixth annual invitation tourney of the Country Club of Rochester, are bracketed for match play this morning in what may prove to be greater matches than the finals between the two winners, to take place this afternoon. This morning Fairfax H. Gouverneur and Gordon Taylor, Jr., are bracketed in the upper half while J. C. H. Bonbright and R. R. Adams, are listed in the lower pairing.

Gouverneur and Bonbright will be "carrying on" in the hopes of being the first Country Club of Rochester player to win their own organization's tourney, while Taylor is from York Downs Country Club and Adams is a member of the Yountakah Country Club. Gouverneur had a 73 in the qualifying round, Taylor had 79, Bonbright finished with 77, and Adams tallied a 76 for his round.

To enter the semi-finals, just two strokes from the championship award, Gouverneur trimmed S. P. Emerick, of Oswego, 3 and 2, in a round marked by "Hike's" consistent play, and then eliminated his club-mate, John B. Day, 6 and 5. Day watched Gouverneur tally a 36 out and be one under even four's on the forward journey, while John missed several three-foot putt to give the runner-up last year's state title play a one-sided victory. Gouverneur strayed from the fairway time and time gain with his tee shots but three long putts and some excellent second shots from the rough enabled him to stay in the title flight.

Semi-final Pairings Bracket Gouverneur-Taylor, Bonbright-Adams

Adams Beats Hatfield

Adams furnished the surprise of the day, after eliminating Jack Tucker in the first round, 3 and 2. The Yountakah star put out A. R. Hatfield, of Yackonadasis, Ultra, 2 and 1, in the afternoon. Hatfield, who tied Gouverneur for the medal round, was wilder than usual and fell before the steady stroking of Adams, now looked upon as a threat for the championship.

J. H. Wallace defeated H. J. Heinzen, 2 and 1, in the first round to eliminate one of the favorites, but fell in the afternoon to Taylor, 3 and 1. Taylor played the afternoon eighteen in an approximate 70 strokes, after winning over Dr. R. H. Kunstader by default in the first round. Dr. Kunstader was suffering from a heavy cold and did not care to venture into the morning downpour, which marred the day's play a trifle.

Some Long Matches

Honbright reached the semi-finals by putting out W. A. Clark in the morning round, 8 to 6, one of the hoped margins of victory of the day, and then by defeating W. B. Macomber, a climber, 2 up, in the afternoon session.

The longest match of the day was found in the second round of the second sixteen, when Channing B. Lyon, of Genesee, defeated R. G. Hoffman, Country Club of Rochester, 1-up, on the twenty-first green. In the third sixteen R. D. Price won over Robert Reilly, 1-up, on the twentieth green.

Other lengthy matches found Dr. W. D. Edwards trimming F. W. Allan, 1-up, 19 holes, in the second round of the third sixteen, I. E. Seranton winning over W. H. Kiefer, 1-up, 19 holes in the first round of the beaten eight, third sixteen, C. G. McKay defeating W. Hill 1-up, 19 holes, in the first round of the fourth sixteen, and Goodwin defeating Washburn, 1-up, 19 holes, in the second round of the same division.

Way down in the seventh sixteen F. G. Wallack defeated B. M. Weller on the twentieth hole to win by 1-up margin, and continue in the quest of special prizes donated by H. Dean Quimby and Dr. Fitch.

The tourney will close to-day with semi-final and final rounds in the fourteen divisions, along with a handicap best-ball, two-ball four-some event this morning for eliminated players and a handicap medal play round this afternoon, entrance in which is barred to finalists.

Medalists of Country Club of Rochester Tourney

Medalists of the Country Club of Rochester tourney, F. H. Gouverneur, of the Country Club of Rochester, on right, and A. R. Hatfield, Jr., of Yahnundasis Utica, met with success in their first rounds yesterday, but Hatfield dropped from the tourney in the second round, losing to R. B. Adams, as Gouverneur went along to defeat John E. Day, and stay in the running.

Some Long Matches

Bonbright reached the semi-finals by putting out W. A. Clark in the morning round, 8 to 6, one of the longest margins of victory of the day, and then by defeating W. B. Macomber, a clubmate, 2 up, in the afternoon session.

The longest match of the day was found in the second round of the second sixteen, when Channing B. Lyon, of Genesee, defeated R. G. Hoffman, Country Club of Rochester, 1-up, on the twenty-first green. In the third sixteen R. D. Price won over Robert Reilly, 1-up, on the twentieth green.

Other lengthy matches found Dr. W. D. Edwards trimming F. W. Allan, 1-up, 19 holes, in the second round of the third sixteen; I. E. Scrantom winning over W. H. Kiefer, 1-up, 19 holes, in the first round of the beaten eight, third sixteen; C. G. McKay defeating W. Hill 1-up, 19 holes, in the first round of the fourth sixteen, and Goodwin defeating Washburn, 1-up, 19 holes, in the second round of the same division.

Way down in the seventh sixteen F. G. Walloch defeated B. M. Weller on the twentieth hole to win by 1-up margin, and continue in the quest of special prizes donated by H. Dean Qunby and Dr. Fitch.

The tourney will close to-day with semi-final and final rounds in the fourteen divisions, along with a handicap best-ball, two-ball four-some event this morning for eliminated players and a handicap medal play round this afternoon, entrance in which is barred to finalists.

MISS COLLETT, HELEN PAYSON REACH FINALS

Clash To-day in Buffalo Country Club Tourney; Peggy Wattles Loses

Buffalo, June 29.—(AP)—Glenna Collett, former National champion, and Helen Payson, of Portland, Me., will meet in the finals of the Country Club's eighth annual women's invitation golf tournament to-morrow.

Maintaining the same brilliant game that has marked her play throughout the tournament, Miss Collett to-day decisively defeated Beatrice Gottlieb, of New York, 6 and 5, while Miss Payson's opponent in the semi-final, Peggy Wattles, of Buffalo, went down to defeat, 3 and 2.

Miss Collett piled up an imposing lead right at the start, winning the first three holes, and she reached the turn four up on her opponent. Thereafter it was only a question as to how far the match would go. It ended on the thirteenth, where Glenna placed a fine iron shot to within eight feet of the pin to win the hole and the match.

To-day's cards:

Glenna Collett—
Out 4 4 5 6 4 3 5 3 5—39
