Highlights of Sports in Rochester, Area in 1953

Red Wing Pennant; Betsy Rawls in Golf; Rochester Royals

By HANS TANNER

Sports in the Rochester area enjoyed a banner year during 1953, with an increase in participation in nearly all athletics.

Sharing the spotlight of the year's activity was the International League pennant won by the Rochester Red Wings, and Betsy Rawls' victory in the first United States Golf Association Women's Open at the Country Club of Rochester.

The sports department of The Democrat and Chronicle herewith presents, in capsule form, a review of the 1953 sports scene in Rochester and the area.

CCR Names New Assistant Pro

Steve Piech, former head golf professional at Penn Hills Country Club in Bradford, Pa. and an assistant in Buffalo last year, has been named assistant to Charlie Bemish at the Country Club of Rochester.

Piech was introduced to club members at the third annual CCR golf clinic and opening luncheon yesterday. He is a member of the Professional Golfers Association of America and holds a Class A membership in that group.

An estimated 100 club members witnessed the clinic, staged by area pros yesterday.

Taking part in the clinic were host pro Bemish, Frank Commisso of Irondequoit, George Vatke of Monroe, Howie DeAngelus and Charlie McKenna of Oak Hill, Joe LaMachia of Locust Hill, Godfrey McGarvey of Brook-Lea and Piech.

The course was officially opened for the 1954 links season in the afternoon, with a few members touring four or five holes.

Children to Re-Enact Age-Old Legends For Easter

THE most joyful season of the year is spring. Easter legends pre-date the first historic Easter Day, but the Christian church, with great wisdom, has incorporated many of the ancient stories in the Easter celebration.

The central theme is, of course, religious observances in all Christian churches, from the formal ritual of orthodoxy to the simplest sort of ceremony. The underlying cause is the same.

Children have a number of age-old myths to re-enact. The Easter Bunny comes, like Santa Claus, during the night, and leaves toys for children to find in the morning. Easter eggs never dwindle in appeal. Home made or store bought, their cheerful spring colors may be edible or not. Fluffy ducklings, Easter baskets, downy chicks or little lambs are all prized by children today.

When Nature is getting ready to put on a spring fashion show of leaves and flowers, it's only right that humans follow suit. The instinct for an Easter "outfit" does not need too much pressure from advertisers. It's inherent in all nature. It's a new beginning, whether a flowered hat or a row of daffodils.

Easter really began for children and their parents yesterday.

The Country Club of Rochester had an Easter egg hunt yesterday morning. Younger children looked for eggs hidden inside the clubhouse while their older brothers and sisters searched for eggs in the surrounding lawns and among tree roots. Afterward a luncheon was served for children and parents. Today family dinners will be held at the club.

At the Genesee Valley Club last evening, the annual "Easter Parade" dinner dance was held. Locust Hill Country Club will serve the traditional ham dinners today along with other choices of meats. Monroe Golf Club had a steak roast and informal dance last evening as part of an Easter celebration and will also serve families during the day.

Whether in March or in April, whether the day is cold or warm, rainy or sunny, Easter is a time of rejoicing. Churches are crowded. People who want to show off new costumes, skeptics who feel a rather shamefaced urge to take part in the centuries-old ritual, and regular churchgoers, all come together today to celebrate Easter.

Rochester Cadet Scores 68

Special to The Democrat and Chronicle

WEST POINT, April 21—Ray Allen of Rochester, in his third year at West Point, yesterday broke his own amateur course record over the U.S. Military Academy golf course with a 68, five under par. He set the former record of 69 last year. No. 2 man on the West Point golf team, he is a member of Country Club of Rochester.

ALLEN

Allen fired the first nine in 31, six under par, after taking a bogey 6 on the first hole. He birdied the next five holes, parred the seventh and birdied the eighth and ninth. He was one over par on the second nine for a 37.

The course, which totals a yardage of 7,051, is an odd one. It's only 10 holes. After the first nine is completed, the 10th becomes the first of the second nine, the original first hole becomes the second and so on.

Allen was playing with three other cadets, Tom Turner, Roy Muith and Jim Howard. After they finished, Allen was due for mess, but was allowed to go out again. This time he played with Walter Browne, the club professional, and they played eight holes in 50 minutes, before darkness set in. Their scores were not reported.

Pair of Ex-Caddies

Golfers Welcome New Pros

By HANS TANNER

Caddying started Steve Piech, newly named assistant pro at the Country Club of Rochester, and John Goettlicher, signed to a like position at Monroe Golf Club, on their golfing careers.

The newcomers to the Rochester area links scene are both members of the Professional Golfer's Association — Piech a Class A member and Goettlicher a D member. Piech is a Class A member because he has been employed as a head pro of a recognized club or course. Class D pros are assistants to head pros at recognized golf clubs or courses.

Piech made his beginning in golf as a caddie at the age of eight at Hamburg's South Shore Country Club. He attended Lackawanna High School and after graduating became caddie master at South Shore in 1933. The following year he became assistant to Bill Loomis. Piech moved to Wanakah in 1935 as assistant to Jack Pritchard and the next season went to Meadow-brook, now Brookfield, to assist Elwin Nagel.

The personable professional left the sport for a while, but moved in as head pro at South Shore in 1944. Steve took over the head pro job at South Park the next three years before moving to the Penn Hills Club in Bradford, Pa., in 1949. Following the 1952 golf season, Piech signed as assistant to Alex Greer at Brookfield for 1953.

He was contacted by CCR pro Charley Bemish early this spring and reported for work April 15.

As evidence of his playing ability, Piech fashioned a five-under par 32 on Locust Hill's back nine in the Western New York PGA championship last fall. Steve finished fifth in the event. On the opposite end of the pole, Goettlicher is just embarking on his pro career. The Johnstown, Pa., native is only 22 and has been playing golf for 10 years.

The course in Johnstown is two blocks from Goettlicher's home—giving him the opportunity of caddying at the age of 14.

He moved into the shop as assistant to Henry Schneck at the Berkley Hills Golf Course in 1949 and was there through last year.

Goettlicher, who is married and has one child, joined the PGA last fall. His best round of golf was a 69 on the par 72 Berkley Hills course. John also recorded a nine-hole score of 31—five under regulation figures—on the same layout.

Football—four years of it at Johnstown—vied with golf for the main interest of the 6-1, 175-pound Goettlicher while in high school.

Monroe pro George Vatke was contacted by Goettlicher between seasons and signed the youthful pro for the 1954 campaign.

The addition of PGA members Piech and Goettlicher to the professional golfers in the Rochester area is an indication of the increasing popularity of golf in this area.

Economist Forecasts Fall Business Upturn

"Look for some business recovery this fall, but not a return to the superbloom of 1953," Dr. Raymond Rodgers, professor of banking at New York University and consulting economist, declared last night at the Country Club of Rochester.

ROCHESTER.

He was in Rochester yesterday to counsel with officers and friends of the Security Trust Co.

"We will have keener competition," he added, "lower margin of profits, and need for increased efficiency. This may seem to be an uphill struggle for some business men in view of abnormal conditions of the last 14 years. But it is a normal condition in America."

Dr. Rodgers cited figures showing the recent business decline has been only 3.5 per cent.

Gross national product total (all goods and services produced) dropped from the peak rate of 371.4 billion dollars in the second quarter last year, he said, to 358.5 billion in the first quarter this year.

Employment dropped from 63,120,000 last July to 60,598,000 in April, 1954, or less than 5 per cent. Reduction of overtime cut hours worked per week from 40.3 to 39.4, or 2¼ per cent, but he added that this is of greater significance than the figures would indicate because it represents extra pay at extra rates.

Dr. Rodgers gave these reasons for confidence:

1. Banking is in sound condition and can make a real contribution to cushioning the impact of any change in trend.
2. Government regulations are preventing speculative excesses which led to the 1929 downfall.

3. Increased economic security with eight billions a year contributed to private pensions, welfare, old age security and unemployment insurance as compared with 463 million dollars in 1929, plus larger private savings now.

4. Increased home ownership and better financing.

5. Rising standard of living and readiness to borrow to buy goods.

6. Higher employment and wider distribution of income.

7. Dynamic economy because the population is increasing at a rapid rate, having passed 160 million and still going strong.

8. Obsolescence is a growing economic factor, including industries buying improved equipment and consumers wanting and purchasing advertised products.

9. Research continually developing new and better products.

10. Our economy is dynamic because it is free. We are free to take great risks, free to dream; ambition is unfettered; success pays off at the cash register.

Doctors to Hear State Legislator

Assemblyman A. Gould Hatch, Rochester Republican, will address the Monroe County Medical Society at its semi-annual meeting at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Rochester Academy of Medicine, 1441 East Ave.

He will speak on "How Your New York State Legislature Works." Five other legislators from the Rochester area also have been invited. They are Senators George T. Manning and Frank E. Van Lare, and Assemblyman J. Eugene Goddard, Paul B. Hanks Jr. and Thomas F. Riley.

The aim of the meeting is to help acquaint members of the medical society with the workings of the legislature. Dr. Fred W. Bush, medical society president, will preside. Four new members will be inducted into the society. They are Drs. Gilbert B. Forbes, Ruth W. Schwartz, David S. Stewart and John H. Morton. Prior to the meeting, a dinner will be held at the Country Club of Rochester.

Business Grads Lack Old Daring, Says Editor

Too much "non-mismanagement" in American business is destroying "some of the fire and dynamism that made America great," Harvard Business School graduates were told yesterday afternoon.

Anderson added that medical and large-scale research while maintaining the "essential vitality and vigor of our teaching program."

Dr. Thomas H. Lanman, director of alumni relations at Harvard Medical School, was moderator of the panel which included Dr. John H. Talbot of the University of Buffalo Medical School.

Two-thirds of applicants for Harvard's Graduate School of Arts and Sciences indicate they need financial aid for their studies, and for the most part these students do not go on to lucrative professions, according to Gordon Huggins, executive director of the Harvard Foundation for Advanced Study and Research. Huggins and Prof. Dexter Perkins, chairman of the University of Rochester's history department and a member of the foundation's council, outlined for alumni the problems the foundation faces.

Graduates Seek Aid

The foundation is comprised of graduate alumni who study arts and sciences, public administration, design or education. At present, Huggins said, the need for financial aid in graduate schools is far greater than at the undergraduate level.

At a session moderated by Dr. Howard C. Seymour, superintendent-elect of Rochester schools, Harvard admissions director Wilbur J. Bender described his "almost impossible" task of evaluating and selecting candidates for admission to Harvard College. McGeorge Bundy, dean of the faculty of arts and sciences, spoke of the problems of maintaining the college enrollment at a size.

Other speakers at the Harvard College session were John U. Monro, director of the financial aid center, and Donald M. Felt, assistant director of athletics.

Jackson M. Bruce, Milwaukee attorney, was elected president of the Associated Harvard Clubs, succeeding Frederic B. Whitman of San Francisco, president of the Western Pacific Railroad. The clubs adjourn their session at 1 p. m. today with a buffet luncheon at the Country Club of Rochester.

Edward C. Bursk, editor of Harvard Business Review and a professor of business administration there, characterized most of today's generation of "professional managers" as "non-mis-managers." He declared:

"American businessmen have always been notable mis-managers — at least until the present generation." But the products of graduate schools of business administration, while making for fewer mistakes than the businessmen of yesterday, have failed to capture their predecessor's individualism and daring, Bursk said. He spoke in Morey Hall at the University of Rochester in an Associated Harvard Clubs panel.

Excitement in Creating

Partly included in the idea of modern professional management, Bursk said, "is the concept of administration as a skill." He added, "You don't become a professional manager simply by going around and slapping your employes on the back."

Some of the individualism of the old-style businessmen without their ruthless excesses, Bursk said, could be recaptured if business administration schools would give students "the excitement of creating something." Such a goal should be instilled in students at least at the graduate school level, he said.

With Bursk on a panel was Stanley F. Teele, associate dean of the Harvard Business School, and Donald M. Wright, director of the school's alumni relations.

In Whipple Auditorium of the UR School of Medicine and Dentistry, Dr. Donald G. Anderson, UR medical school dean, said medical educators must face the fact that research is an important part of medical school work.

Must Pay For Research

Research should not be considered mere "intellectual exercise," Anderson said. It should be thought of as work pursued for the good of society. But society must pay the total cost of research. He declared that the high cost of research was a contributing factor in the high cost of medical education.

Meeting Closed By Harvard Clubs With Lilac Visit

The crimson banners decking the Sheraton Hotel came down yesterday and were packed away for another year as some 350 Harvard University alumni wound up the 57th annual meeting of Associated Harvard Clubs.

Final day of the three-day session was given over to a visit to Rochester's famed lilacs in Highland Park, lunch at the Country Club of Rochester, and golf, tennis and other sports in the afternoon. The majority of the alumni groups left the city last night.

Horace Hart, president of the Harvard Club of Rochester, estimated more than 250 alumni and their wives viewed the lilac display after church in the morning. The luncheon was the final gathering of the whole group. The next meeting of the Associated Harvard Clubs will be held in Cincinnati, O., in May, 1955, Hart said.

Brighton Nabs 72d Straight In Golf, Topping West, 12-0

Brighton High School's golf team won its 72nd straight match yesterday, blanking the West High team at Country Club of Rochester, 12 to 0. The last defeat for Brighton was by East Rochester in 1947.

Don Allen led the victors in medal play with an 80, while Chris Kling and Bill Wahl each had 91.

In matches at Lake Shore Franklin defeated Monroe, 7 to 5, and Charlotte won over East, 7½ to 4½, while Irondequoit forfeited to Marshall. Jim Insantino of East was low medalist at Lake Shore, having an 89, while Bill Jollis of Charlotte and Bob Walth of Monroe each had 91.

Only the matches between city school teams count in the Interscholastic League standings.

Friday's matches, all listed at Lake Shore, are: Marshall vs. Franklin, Irondequoit vs. Monroe, East vs. West and Brighton vs. Charlotte.

CCR, Brook-Lea, Locust Hill Winners

Monroe maintained a slim lead in the Twilight Golf League last night despite a 29-25 setback at the Country Club of Rochester.

The Monroe golfers now hold a one-point edge over defending champion Brook-Lea, which resumed its winning ways with a 33½-to-20½ victory at Oak Hill. Last week Brook-Lea's 15-straight win streak was broken by Monroe.

In last night's other match Locust Hill topped Ridgemont, 30½ to 23½, at Locust.

Low gross in the sweepstakes at each course was 79. Ed Randall at Oak Hill, Owen Luckhurst at Locust Hill and Jack Eisen-schmidt at the Country Club were the gross winners.

Harry Krall Registers Durand Hole-in-One

HARRY KRALL of 3000 Alexander St., yesterday scored the third hole-in-one reported in Rochester this week when he dunked his five-iron tee shot on the 144-yard 6th hole at Durand-Eastman Park.

Playing in a foursome with his wife, Lois, James Kundall and Irwin Fox, Krall completed the nine holes in 49 strokes.

4 Score 79 to Lead Ad Club Golfers

Three Oak Hill golfers and a Midvale swinger walked off with the honors as the Rochester Ad Club opened its 1954 golf season yesterday.

A record field of 123 golfers participated, and none of them could master the rugged Country Club of Rochester layout. Larry Sterling, Leo Simpson and Bruce Koch were the Oak Hillers who fired 79s and Galli Zambito was the Midvale golfer who matched that mark.

Previous high entry in an Ad Club links event was 96 at Oak Hill last season. Yesterday's tourney also served as the qualifier for the club's season-long match play tourney. Scores:

Franklin, West Win School Golf Tests

Franklin, West and Irondequoit won Interscholastic Golf League matches yesterday at Lake Shore Country Club. Franklin downed Marshall, 9½ to 2½, West routed East, 11 to 1, and Irondequoit beat Monroe, 8 to 4.

Franklin, West and Irondequoit

Franklin, West and Irondequoit won Interscholastic Golf League matches yesterday at Lake Shore Country Club. Franklin downed Marshall, 9½ to 2½, West routed East, 11 to 1, and Irondequoit beat Monroe, 8 to 4.

Pompa of West was low scorer with an 84, while Bufano, his teammate, had 88. Jim Moore of East and Mike Cortese of Franklin each scored 89.

Monday's matches, at Lake Shore, will show Marshall against Monroe, Irondequoit playing Franklin, and West meeting Charlotte. In a non-league match, East will play Brighton at Country Club of Rochester. Brighton will be seeking its 74th straight win.

Spring Brings Birds, Buds and Golf Club Tourneys

THERE is nothing rigid about the game of golf.

It can be a fast or slow game. Topflight players and would-be topflighters aim for best (or low) scores. But plodders and strollers have a lot of fun, too.

To watch an expert send a ball soaring over the fairway is an inspiration to even a clumsy beginner. One may reflect, "With enough practice maybe I'll do that some day."

Even a person playing alone always has a competitor—his own best score. Added to competition (one's self or one's opponent) there is time for wider enjoyment. Springy turf delights the walker, casual visits on a tee please the gregarious. Nature, although tailored to a purpose, is alive with birds; the seeker of a lost ball may find flowers in the out of bounds woods.

Golf has another advantage. There are no age limits. One hears of grandfathers and grandmothers playing a sound game or youngsters giving parents well-played opposition.

Beginning about a month ago, Women's Golf Assns. have been on the links every Wednesday.

The most important event for the Women's Golf Assn. at Oak Hill Country Club will be held in June. The ninth annual handicap tournament will be climaxed with presentation of the Clarence Wheeler trophy. About 75 members of the association will take part.

Mrs. Merle Scott is chairman of the association, Mrs. Frank Dana, vice chairman; Mrs. Donald Thomas, secretary; Mrs. Joseph Wilson, assistant secretary, and Mrs. Ben Delmonaca, treasurer.

Mrs. Burt Kling is chairman of the Wheeler trophy tournament and Mrs. Lawrence Sterling is handicap chairman.

President of the Women's Golf Assn. of the Country Club of Rochester is Mrs. John H. Castle Jr. Mrs. Martin Donahoe Jr. is vice president and Mrs. Paul T. Freund, treasurer. Secretary is Mrs. Alexander Beach. Mrs. Butler Cox is chairman of the invitation tournament to be held Aug. 19 through Aug. 21. She will be assisted by Mrs. George Trainor. Mrs. Douglas Coupe will be in charge of the program.

Officers at Monroe Golf Club's Women's Golf Assn. are Mrs. Jean E. Floberg, president; Mrs. Walter Taylor, vice president and chairman of the golf committee; Mrs. Ralph Culley, secretary, and Mrs. Edwin H. Williams, treasurer. The association will hold a white elephant sale early next month.

Glenz-Knope Nuptials Held In Blessed Sacrament

THE marriage of Mrs. Franklin A. Knope of Gregory Hill and a corsage of yellow sweet-heart roses.

Mr. Glenz was attended by his son, Edward J. Glenz of this city. The ceremony was held at 9 a. m. The ceremony was

Brighton Golfers Down East High In 11-1 Test for 74th Straight Win

Brighton High's golf team continued to roll yesterday, overcoming East High, 11-1, at the Country Club of Rochester. It was the 74th straight win for Coach Ray Marling's forces, who haven't been beaten since 1947. Brighton's Don Allen, a Country Club member, took honors for the day, carding an 80. Norbert Haefner, also of Brighton, posted an 82.

It was the third straight this season for Brighton. The team's next match is against Marshall at Irondequoit Country Club Thursday. In all, 10 matches are left this season.

In Interscholastic League matches yesterday, West, paced by Vince Pompa's 74, and Gerry Bufano's 83, blanked Charlotte, 12-0, Monroe beat Marshall, 8½ to 3½, and in a non-league match Mike Cortese fired an 85 to lead Franklin to a 11-1 win over Irondequoit. The latter three matches were played at Lake Shore.

Ontario Golf Course Will Open Saturday

Ontario Golf Club will celebrate the opening of the 1954 golf season with a buffet dinner at the club Saturday night. Steve Ferentz, former assistant at the Country Club of Rochester, is the new head pro and reports the course is still a little wet—but should be in fine shape soon. His brother Pete, a pro at St. Andrews Gold Club in West Chicago, Ill., dropped into Rochester for a quick visit over the weekend.

Mrs. Trainor Wins Golf Test

By BRUCE KOCH

In men's golf circles around Rochester Sammy Urzetta maintains his superiority year after year. It's the same in the women's ranks. Jean Trainor of Country Club of Rochester got the 1954 Woman's Rochester District Golf Assn. season off to its usual start yesterday as she won the one-day medal-play tourney over Oak Hill's West Course with an 89.

Ninety-eight women turned in cards in yesterday's inaugural, 12 smashing the 100 mark. Another Jean, Mrs. Charles Giambrone of Locust Hill, took runnerup honors in the gross department with a 92 score.

Lowest net score of the day was shared by two Irondequoit women, Mrs. Norman King, a Class B swinger, with 97-19-78, and Mrs. Saul Frankel, a Class C handicapper, with 101-23-78.

Mrs. William Warren of CCR made a clean sweep of Class A honors for the East Ave. layout by taking net laurels with 94-14-80.

Class D net and gross was won by still another CCR divot-digger, Miss Marietta Dryer with 113-27-86.

Low gross and three low nets in each class made the prize list. Mrs. Frank Thomas won the draw for Class D third net. Scores:

CLASS A

Mrs. W. Warren (CCR) 94-14-80, Mrs. C. Giambrone (LH) 92-11-81; Mrs. W. Frickey (BL) 98-15-83, Mrs. R. Davies (Mon) 94-10-84, Mrs. L. H. Shultz Jr. (Staff) 98-13-89, Mrs. Geo. Trainor (CCR) 89-2-87, Mrs. R. Morris (CCR) 97-10-87, Mrs. R. Wilson (Mon) 96-9-87.

Highland Unit Holds Annual Luncheon

THE Country Club of Rochester, tastefully decorated with spring flowers, was the scene yesterday of the annual spring luncheon of the Women's Auxiliary of Highland Hospital.

Those taking office were introduced after the luncheon and business meeting by Mrs. Donald W. Hook, retiring president.

Mrs. Edward Wood is the new president. Other officers are: Mrs. Floyd C. Bratt, first vice president; Mrs. Eli Levin, second vice president; Mrs. Hugh Pfluke, treasurer; Mrs. J. P. Friedman, recording secretary, and Mrs. E. Howard Burnes, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Patrick Davlin was chairman of the luncheon hostess group.

A BOOK TO PASS ON—"Robert's Rules of Order" was the fitting book which Mrs. Donald W. Hook, center, retiring president of Highland Hospital auxiliary, passed on to her successor at yesterday's annual luncheon meeting at Country Club of Rochester. She is shown with Mrs. Patrick Davlin, left, chairman of hostesses for the event, and Mrs. Floyd C. Bratt, who was introduced as the new fist vice president.

For the Second Time—A Women's Open

THE RELATIVE merits of stroke and match play will be good for an argument in any old, or young, locker room. Not until last year, however, did the United States Golf Association offer a tournament of stroke play to the nation's women players, amateur and professional.

Today it announced its second Women's Open championship to be played at the Salem Country Club in Peabody, Mass., Thursday through Saturday, July 1-3. They will play 72 holes.

The entry fee is $10 and must be received at USGA headquarters, 40 E. 38th, New York 16, N.Y., by 5 p.m. Monday, June 21. Your handicap must be five or less to get in, except that former USGA women amateur champions are eligible, regardless of handicap.

The Ladies Professional Golfers Association of America last year asked the USGA to assume responsibility for the conduct of the tournament. The winner was Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., at the Country Club of Rochester. She and Jacqueline Pung of Honolulu shot 302, but in the playoff Miss Rawls shot a beautiful 71 to Mrs. Pung's 77. Only 37 women played.

Indications are that this year's event will be much larger. The women play 18-hole rounds Thursday and Friday and the 40 lowest scores and any ties for 40th place will play 36 holes Saturday. In case of a tie there will be an 18-hole playoff. If that ends in a tie, the contestants continue, hole-by-hole, until one player wins.

The USGA will distribute a total of $7,500 in money among the top 12 professionals who return 72-hole scores, the winner going away with $2,000, the runnerup $1,500. Twelfth place gets $100.

Brighton Wins, Extends Golf Streak to 75

Brighton High School's golf team, coached by Ray Marling, rolled to its 75th straight win in a span of seven years yesterday by blanking Marshall High at Irondequoit Country Club, 12 to 0.

Again Don Allen was low medalist, as he scored an 82. He was followed by Bill Wahl with an 84, while Norb Haefner and Jerry Pellett each had 86.

On Tuesday Brighton will play in a four-team match at Country Club of Rochester, against Le Roy Central, Monroe High and Allendale.

Cochranes' Invitations Sent

MR. and Mrs. Craig Parsons Cochrane of Thomas Avenue have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Martha Hopkins Cochrane, to the Rev. John Charles Kimball, son of Mrs. Charles H. Kimball of New London, Conn.

The wedding will take place at 3:30 p.m. Saturday, June 12, in St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The attendants will be Mrs. James C. Cochrane of Riverdale, matron of honor, Miss Dorothy O. Reed of Rochester, Mrs. William A. Kimball of New London and Mrs. Richard Chapman of New Haven, bridesmaids.

William A. Kimball will be best man for his brother and the ushers will be James C. Cochrane, brother of the bride, Robert Johnston of Chestertown, Md., the Rev. Gladstone Stevens of Rochester and the Rev. Donald Hungerford of Manchester, Conn.

The reception will be held at the Country Club of Rochester.

E Graduates List Social Events

A SERIES of social events is scheduled in connection with the 99th annual graduation exercises of the Academy of the Sacred Heart. Graduation will be at 2 p. m. Friday at the Academy chapel.

Junior class members will entertain seniors at a tea at the school on Tuesday. Class rings will be presented and class prophecies will be read.

Juniors and seniors will be entertained at a dinner party Wednesday at the Genesee Valley Club and on Thursday the faculty will entertain the graduating class at a banquet.

Saturday evening will be the time of the formal after graduation party, an event sponsored by the Alumnae Assn. for graduates and academic class pupils. The party will be held at the Chatterbox Club.

Preceding the formal event, graduates will be guests at a punch party to be given by Irene Winans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Winans of Harvard Street. Following the event parties will be given at the home of Ann Dowling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Dowling of Melrose Street, and Carol Moynihan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Moynihan of Wilmer Street.

Today, following Mass, class members will be entertained at brunch at the Country Club of Rochester, an event given by Mrs. C. J. Paisley.

Polo Field Sold To Home Builder

The Country Club of Rochester has sold for $16,500 its old polo field of 12½ acres, which it had not used for three decades.

The land was deeded to W. C. Baird Corp., 3140 Monroe Ave., Pittsford, building contractor. It is in the rear of 28 acres in Clover St., Brighton, that the firm previously had acquired from other owners. The home builder plans to subdivide the land as The Fairways Subdivision. The Country Club of Rochester, 2935 East Ave., Brighton, was represented in the deal by William J. Bruckel of Nixon, Hargrave, Devans & Dey. Jack A. Kaman of Kaman, Berlove & Kaman appeared for the purchaser.

June 17 Deadline Set For Qualifier at CCR

THE Country Club of Rochester will be the scene of an 18-hole qualifier for berths in the State Amateur golf tourney, June 21.

Deadline for entries is June 17. Blanks may be obtained at pro shops and should be mailed to Mike Hall, qualifying chairman, 175 N. Water St., Rochester. The state tourney, won last year by Tommy Goodwin, will be held in Elmsford, July 7-11.

116 Feminine Golfers Paired For Junior-Senior Tourney

A field of 116 women golfers has been paired for the Woman's Rochester District Golf Assn. Junior-Senior tournament at the Country Club of Rochester Tuesday.

been defeated since 1947 when East Rochester turned the trick.

Chris Kling of Brighton set the scoring pace with 77, seven over par, while Jerry Pellett added 83, Norb Haefner 87 and Rog Harvie 89 to the Brighton cause.

added 83, Norb Haefner 87 and Rog Harvie 89 to the Brighton cause.

Pittsford's Dean Trippe and Mer Humes had 90 apiece, John Pearce hit 92 and Pete Cunningham 101.

In Interscholastic League play yesterday West toppled Franklin, 10½ to 1½, for its fourth win without defeat. It was Franklin's first loss. Other matches played at Lake Shore saw East best Marshall, 7½ to 4½, and Monroe beat Charlotte, 7-5. Vince Pompa of West was low score at the lake side course with 88.

Mrs. Hoesterey Senior Golf Leader

Mrs. Morris Wins Junior

By BRUCE KOCH

Mrs. Robert Morris of the host club and Mrs. Carl Hoesterey of Monroe shared honors in the Women's Rochester District Golf Assn. Junior-Senior tournament at the Country Club of Rochester yesterday.

Mrs. Morris, a 10-handicap swinger, scored 40-43-83 to win the Junior event, while Mrs. Hoesterey registered 45-47-92 to win in the Senior Division.

A field of 104 competed, 55 in the Senior and 49 in the Junior.

Low net score for the day was shared by Mrs. Morris and another CCR golfer, Mrs. William Warren, formerly Judy Weis. Each had 73. Mrs. Warren posted 87 with a 14 handicap. The tourney's low handicap player, Mrs. Butler Cox, also of the CRR, had 85-8-77.

A quartet of swingers failing to make the prize list (82 in the Senior and 78 in the Junior) came in for some honor by scoring the only birdies of the day. Mrs. Bobby Davies of Monroe scored a 3 in the 18th, while Mrs. Walter Frickey of Brook- Lea deuced the 1stth, and Mrs. P. Rutherford and Mrs. Lary Griffing of Oak Hill each scored a two on the fourth. Leaders' cards:

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Craig Parsons Cochrane of Thomas Avenue and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Charles H. Kimball of New London, Conn., and the late Mr. Kimball. The Rev. George L. Cadigan performed the ceremony.

A reception was held at the Country Club of Rochester.

The bride was gowned in white taffeta with a pearl embroidered veil. She carried white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. James C. Cochrane of Riverdale was matron of honor. Miss Dorothy O. Reed, Mrs. William A. Kimball of New London, Conn., and Mrs. Richard W. Chapman of New Haven, Conn.,

Baron Golfers Gets 78th Win

The Brighton High School golf team closed out its season over the Country Club of Rochester course yesterday by gaining its 77th and 78th straight victory, turning back Pittsford and Irondequoit.

The Baron Linksmen walloped Irondequoit, 12-0, and took an 11 $\frac{3}{4}$ -1 $\frac{1}{4}$  decision from Pittsford. Pittsford and Irondequoit halved their match, 6-6.

Low man for all schools was Brighton's Nub Haefner, who turned in a 75. The Twelve Corner's freshman was followed by teammates Don Allen, 81; Rog Harvie, 84, and Jerry Pellett, 86. Low man for the remaining schools was Pittsford's Dean Tripp, who carded an 87.

Ad Club Medal Handicap Test Set Tomorrow at Ridgemont

Four score Ad Club golfers, piloted by Chairman Albert J. Moore Jr. and Vice Chairman Charles W. Jack, will congregate at Ridgemont tomorrow for the second event on their 1954 schedule, a medal handicap tournament. Chairman Moore reports a slightly smaller entry list than the record-breaking 118 who played on May 19 in the qualifying round at the Country Club of Rochester.

Tomorrow, warns match play Chairman Charles B. Zeitler, will be the final day for the conclusion of first-round matches in the eight flights for as many Ad Club individual trophies. After that, 64 players will be left in competition for the Dollinger, Genesee Ribbon and Carbon, Knopf Clothes, Seven-Up, Chemical Sales, Alumaroll, Art Jennings and Rivers Furniture awards, which are at stake, respectively, in flights A through H.

Post entries will be accepted, but the tardy signers-up will be assessed the customary three-stroke penalty on handicaps. Entries:

33 Golfers Slated In State Amateur Qualifier at CCR

AT least 13 berths for the New York State amateur golf championship, to be played at Elmsford, July 7-11, will be at stake in the sectional qualifier at the Country Club of Rochester tomorrow.

Harry Harman, local official, was informed by state secretary Whitey Masters of Binghamton yesterday that the 33 entrants for the Rochester area would be shooting for at least that number of positions in the championship.

Golfers Tony Losito, Eyler Qualify for State Amateur

Elmirans Tony Losito and Gene Eyler were among the 14 successful qualifiers yesterday in Rochester for the New York State Amateur golf championship July 7-11, but two other local golfers failed.

Eyler, a University of Tennessee student whose family recently moved to Elmira, fired a 75—five over par—and Losito came in with a 78 on the Country Club of Rochester course.

Phil Losito, Tony's brother and a qualifier last year, failed to make the grade this time along with John Moretti. Phil was ousted in the second round last year, 1 up, by Dr. Rocco Impaglia of Auburn in a heartbreaker.

Eighteen-year-old Terry Thomas of Canandaigua wound up as a medalist with a 73 after the first hole of a playoff with Jerry Liebel and Johnny Quinzi, both of Rochester.

The others who qualified, according to the Associated Press, and their scores are:

Bruce Koch, Rochester, 75; Leo Simpson, Rochester, 77; Ray De Pauw, Canandaigua, 77; Jim Cioeci, Canandaigua, 78; Pedro Martinez, Rochester, 78; Hy Tomezak, Rochester, 79; Ed Church, Canandaigua, 79; Robert Stenzel, Churchville, 79, and Chuck Anthony, Ontario, 79.

Thomas Leads Rochesterians

ROCHESTER (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Jerry Thomas of Canandaigua fashioned a three-over-par 73 at the Country Club of Rochester yesterday to lead 14 qualifiers for the New York State Amateur golf championship to be played July 7-11 at Elmsford.

In Johnny Quinzi and Jerry Liebel, both of Rochester, also scored 73, but lost to Thomas on the first hole of a playoff.

Other qualifiers included Ray De Pauw, Canandaigua, 77; Jim Ciocci, Canandaigua, 78; Ed Church, Canandaigua, 79; Robert Stenzel, Churchville, 79; and Chuck Anthony, Ontario, 79.

14 Gain Berths

Thomas Captures State Golf Medal

By HANS TANNER

Terry Thomas, youthful Canandaigua Country Club golfer, is a stern believer in the old adage, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Thomas won the medal in the qualifying round for the New York State Amateur Golf Championship by birdieing the first playoff hole at the Country Club of Rochester yesterday. He finished his qualifying round with 73, and then sat by the 18th green as first Jerry Liebel of Oak Hill and then Johnny Quinzi of Midvale matched his figure.

It was only last Friday that Terry deadlocked Owen Luckhurst of Ridgmont for the medalist prize in the Country Club of Rochester Invitation over the same course, only to lose out on the second playoff hole.

A field of 29 attacked the CCR's par 70 layout yesterday, with 14 gaining berths in State championship play at Elmsford July 7-11. It took a score of 79 or better to qualify for the trip.

Others who qualified were Bruce Koch of Oak Hill, Gene Eyer of Elmira, Leo Simpson of Oak Hill, Ray DePauw of Canandaigua, Jimmy Ciocci of Canandaigua, Tony Losito of Elmira, Pedro Martinez of Locust Hill, Hy Tomczak of Ridgmont, Ed Church of Canandaigua, Bob Stenzel of Churchville, and Chuck Anthony of Ontario.

Thomas ran into trouble on the par 3 fourth hole, catching the lip of a trap with his tee shot and winding up with a double-bogey 5. Quinzi made the turn in a two-over regulation 37 and came to the 17th tee needing two pars for 72. But he took a bogey on the 17th and settled for his 73. Liebel, who had three birds—all in a row on the 6th, 7th and 8th holes, had the best chance to win the medal in regulation. He finished the first nine in a one-under 34 and though he slipped somewhat coming back, needed only a par on the 368-yard 18th for a 72. His tee shot carried far down the right side of the fairway, but his wedge to the green fell short into a trap and he took a 5.

TERRY THOMAS

... wins medal at CCR

Hill, who finished among the leaders, withdrew because he couldn't attend the State test. His withdrawal cut out the necessity of a playoff at 79. . . Oak Hill's Leo Simpson had an interesting streak on the incoming nine. After a par on the 10th, Leo went double-bogey, double-bogey, triple-bogey, birdie, eagle before winding up with three pars. He made it with a 77. . . Ray Lang of Oak Hill finished out of it as a result of four balls out-of-bounds, while clubmate Harry Illingworth shot himself out with a 10 on the 17th hole.

Buffalonian Wins WNY Golf Play

By HANS TANNER

Mrs. Richard H. Guelich Jr. of the Park Club, Buffalo, carded an 85 yesterday at Irondequoit Country Club to lead the Women's Golf Assn. of Western New York medal tournament.

One stroke behind were Mrs. George Trainor of the Country Club of Rochester and Mrs. Herbert Astmann of Transit Valley. A field of 77 women started in the tourney, with a brief electrical storm forcing 15 to retire to the clubhouse.

The rain apparently didn't bother Mrs. Guelich much. She played in the downpour for about a half hour. She registered pars on all three of the par 3s on the first nine and made the turn in a five-over-men's par 41, despite double-bogey 6s on the fifth and eighth holes. The Buffalo woman needed 44 strokes on the back nine—the three-lined new nine.

Mrs. Astmann bogeyed the first hole and then took a triple-bogey 6 on the 151-yard second hole, but wound up the first nine with 44 and took 42 strokes coming back for her 86. After recording a 42 on the front nine, Mrs. Trainor went eight over men's par on the next six holes before finishing with three pars and a 44.

Low net in Class A went to Mrs. Lewis Gladbois of Brookfield with 93-13—80. Mrs. Astmann was second with 86-3—83, followed by Mrs. Trainor with 86-1—85. Miss Elaine Forgie of the Country Club of Rochester and Mrs. Anne Valaer of Lancaster tied for gross honors in Class B with 97s. Miss Forgie had a net 80 and Mrs. Valaer a net 83. Mrs. Arthur Bartlett of the Country Club of Buffalo posted 99-17—82 and Mrs. Stephen Lines of Monroe 102-19—83.

Mrs. W. J. Darch of Stafford won Class C gross honors with 107. Low net prizes were won by Mrs. Paul Rutherford of Oak Hill with 109-25—84, Mrs. Donald Thomas of Oak Hill with 110-25—85, and Mrs. Saul Frankel of Irondequoit with 109-22—87.

Crump-Harris

SIX little flower girls preceded the bride when Miss Anne Richardson Harris was married to the Rev. David A. Crump at 4 p. m. yesterday in St. Paul's Episcopal Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harris II of Portsmouth Terrace. The bridegroom, rector of St. Luke's Church, Brockport, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Crump of Alfred. Bishop Dudley S. Stark and the Rev. George E. Cadigan performed the ceremony.

A reception took place at the Country Club of Rochester.

The bride wore a gown of white taffeta, en train, and carried lilies of the valley and orchids.

Mrs. James E. McKelvey of Great Neck was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Susan Metcalf of Greenwich, Conn.; Miss Martha Beale and Mrs. Louis D'Amanda. All were dressed in white organdy with a green taffeta sash and carried salmon pink geraniums.

The flower girls, who were dressed like the bridesmaids, were Shary and Susan Page, Susan and Molly Harris and Katherine and Casey Harris.

Dr. Malcolm L. Crump, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were the Rev. Philip Gresham, the Rev. Donald Aitken, the Rev. Edward Kryder, the Rev. Donald Grindy, Dr. Stephen Saunders, Edward R. Harris, brother of the bride; James E. McKelvey, Edwin Taylor, Richard Cross and Douglas Thomson.

The bride is a graduate of Foxhall School, Lenox, and also a graduate of Wells College. The bridegroom was graduated from Alfred University and from Virginia Theological Seminary.

The couple have left for a wedding trip in Quebec and Vineyard Haven, Martha's Vineyard.

... Emily Naramore

Emily S. Naramore Is Bride Of Douglas P. LaBudde

IN a ceremony at 4:30 p.m. yesterday in Third Presbyterian Church, Miss Emily Sabey Naramore became the bride of Douglas Post LaBudde. The couple repeated their vows before the Rev. William H. Hudnut Jr., D.D.

THE former Miss Naramore is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Copeland Naramore of Council Rock Avenue. Mr. LaBudde is the son of Mrs. Post LaBudde of East Avenue.

A floor-length gown of imported chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta was chosen by the bride. With it she wore a fingertip veil of French illusion and a small cap of lace trimmed with seed pearls. Her flowers were white roses, stephanotis and lilies of the valley.

The bride's twin sister, Mrs. Douglas C. Rich of Charlotte, N.C., was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina gown of ballet blue lace over taffeta and carried yellow roses and delphinium. Bridesmaids were Miss Janet LaBudde, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Sally Naramore and Miss Jeanne Naramore, cousins of the bride; Mrs. John Lawless, Mrs. Donald Crossland of Denver,

Area Golfers Eye State Test

Five Rochesterians and six area golfers will make bids in the New York State Amateur golf tournament beginning Wednesday at Fair View Country Club, Elmsford.

Two of the Rochester entries—Gerry Liebel and Bruce Koch, both of Oak Hill, will meet in the second round if they survive the opening day's match. Other Rochester players are Leo Simpson, Oak Hill; Hy Tomczak, Ridgemont, and Pedro Martinez, Locust Hill.

The area players are Ray DePauw, Terry Thomas, Jimmy Ciocci and Ed Church, Canandaigua; Bob Stenzel, Churchville, and Chuck Anthony, Ontario. Johnny Quinzi, co-medalist in the sectional qualifier at the Country Club of Rochester, will be unable to make the trip because of a bad leg. Pairings:

8:18 a. m.—Tomczak vs. Len Byan, Briar Hill; 9:06—Liebel vs. William Fisher, Westchester; 9:12—Koch vs. Bill Gagliardi, Westchester; 9:48—DePauw vs. Robert Monk, Knollwood; 11:12—Simpson vs. Stan Ziobrowski, Edison; 11:30 Thomas vs. Joe Marra, Tamarack.

Michael feels that the West Course can be made into a better test of golfing skill, but that the East Course offers better gallery vantage points.

It is not surprising that Michael went into the business he did. The first golf course in Western New York was built on his great-grandfather's farm in Buffalo in 1897. Elmer assisted his father as greenskeeper and caddied at the Park Club after his father left what was then Buffalo Country Club and is now Grover Cleveland Park. In 1916-17, Michael helped with the construction of Orchard Park Country Club. He became assistant greenskeeper at the Park Club in 1919 and was in charge of reconstruction of the Delaware Park public course. Elmer was named head greenskeeper at Transit Valley in 1925, and then moved to Oak Hill in 1929.

Does he find time to play golf? Although working around a golf course the year around, Michael only manages to play one or two rounds a year now, although 20 years ago he used to shoot in the high 70s and low 80s consistently.

Michael completed his 25th year as superintendent of grounds at Oak Hill Country Club June 17, and has held the same position at the Country Club of Rochester for the past seven years.

The veteran greenskeeper has three championship golf courses to keep in shape, besides the rest of the grounds at both clubs. In addition, he is directing the building of the driving range at Oak Hill which so far has resulted in the removal of about 1,500 trees and the shifting of 18,000 yards of earth.

Elmer lives in Pittsford with his wife, Hester, and daughter, Susan, a student at Pittsford Central. He and his men—he has 30 this summer and carries five or six men the year around—start at 7 a. m. each day. Michael doesn't finish until 6 or 7 p. m. and sometimes has to go back during the night to check the watering of the greens. As his assistant, Elmer has Lynn Kellogg.

Altogether, Michael is in charge of taking care of 325 acres on the Oak Hill property alone. There are 90 acres of fairways at Oak Hill, which are treated with 3,300 gallons of weed killer twice a year. During the winter, Michael and his crew work in the wooded parts of the property and recondition the equipment.

National tournaments have been keeping Michael busy in recent years. The United States Golf Association's National Amateur was played over Oak Hill's East Course in 1948 and last year the USGA Women's Open was played at the CCR. Now Michael and his men must get one of Oak Hill's two courses in championship shape for the National Open in 1956. USGA and club officials have not yet decided which course will be used.

Lillich-Cooley Duo Gains Golf Crown

An Oak Hill combination of Chip Lillich and Cobey Lou Cooley captured the Locust Hill Junior Scotch Invitation golf tournament at Locust Hill Country Club yesterday.

It took a playoff, however, as the Lillich-Cooley net score of 68 was matched by Dean Tripp and Emily Weller, both of the Country Club of Rochester. Fourteen teams competed in the event, the first of its kind in the Rochester area.

Chip and Cobey Lou registered an 87 gross score, which with their handicap of 19 gave them a net total of 68. Dean and Emily posted an identical 87-19-68 aggregate. In the sudden-death playoff, the Lillich-Cooley combination picked up a bogey 5 on the first hole to edge the Tripp-Weller tandem which had a 6.

Low gross honors went to Norb Haefner and Joyce Gill, both of Locust Hill, who had an 85. Results:

Low gross, Norb Haefner (LH)-Joyce Gill (LH) 85. Low net, Chip Lillich (OH)-Cobey Lou Cooley (OH) 87-19-68, Dean Tripp (CCR)-Emily Weller (CCR) 87-19-68, Jim Moore (LH)-Virginia Keehley (LH) 95-20-75, Bill Shortsleeve (LH)-Ade Balzer (LH) 88-13-75, Jeff Morse (LH)-Cindy Thompson (Mon) 96-20-76, James Raweliff (Mon)-Linda Taylor (Mon) 102-25-77, Robert Hyder (LH)-Ann Hildreth (LH) 102-21-81, John McAmmond (OH)-Joan Youngman (OH) 100-18-82, Arthur Foti (Ridge)-Roberta Hunter (Ridge) 108-23-85, Robert Reinhard (LH)-Marilyn Maston (OH) 112-24-88, Robert Graden (LH)-Joan Ruby (LH) 123-25-98, Tom Hyder (LH)-Karen Widing (LH) 135-25-110, Charles Watson (LH)-Babette Gillette (LH) 152-25-127.

George Eastman Kept Brilliant Beeneey From Scoring Zero on Test

LIKE kernels of popcorn to which heat has been applied, stories about George Eastman keep bursting forth these days.

Dr. John R. Williams recalled one as he stood under the canopied terrace of the Eastman House shortly before Mr. Eastman's natal home, brought here from Waterville and restored, was dedicated.

"It was in 1923," said Dr. Williams, "and Dr. Frederick G. Banting, the Canadian physician who discovered insulin, was in Rochester. I had been doing some work with insulin, too, and we conferred."

(Dr. Williams was the first physician to use insulin preparation in the United States.)

"That was the year Dr. Banting won the Nobel Prize in medicine, and Mr. Eastman had heard about him, of course. James S. Havens was Mr. Eastman's lawyer and a close friend, and his son, James D. Havens—the artist who now lives in Fairport—had diabetes. The insulin preparation was given to him, the first person in this country to be so treated.

"Mr. Eastman was so impressed with Dr. Banting that he met the Canadian physician and me at lunch at the Country Club of Rochester and told Dr. Banting that if he would come to Rochester, he would build and equip for him the most modern laboratory in the world so that he could continue his research.

"Dr. Banting said: 'I'm sorry, Mr. Eastman, but my allegiance is to my own country, Canada. I couldn't consider such an offer.'

Mr. Eastman nodded, apparently understanding fully the Canadian doctor's patriotic position. Then he turned to me a moment later and said: 'Dr. Williams, there is a young man who deserves a halo.' It was a typical Eastman recognition of an individual's position."

* * *

MY OWN contribution to Eastman lore is cut from different cloth. But, by George, I may as well get into the reminiscing department, too.

Our family moved back to Rochester, the native heath, in January, 1930, after a few years in Utica. The Utica Free Academy was a regular high school which had no truck with such educational innovations as "junior high," and there was some difficulty, later ironed out thanks to the existence of East High School, when it came to making the transition to the Rochester public school system.

I enrolled at Monroe High, as most geographically logical. This being the end of the semester, examinations were scheduled within a week after I broke into the lineup. And it was decreed that I take the exams in each of my courses. That posed a problem, because one course was local civics and I didn't have the vaguest idea about the Rochester civic scene. But the rules called for every member of the class to take the final examination, and take it I must. They might as well have handed me a book of Chinese poetry and told me to translate it into Turkish.

* * *

THE EXAMINATION was, as I recall, comprised of 50 questions asking "What kind of government does Rochester have?," "Who are our state legislators?," "Who is our postmaster?," and such things.

I was at a complete loss. All I knew about Rochester was wrapped up in one name—two words—"George Eastman."

They passed out the examination papers. Every question that called for an answer that WASN'T a man's name, I skipped. In answer to every question that DID call for a man's name I wrote: "George Eastman."

He was the mayor, the postmaster, the chief of police, the leading citizen, the head of the U.S. Weather Bureau station, the city treasurer, the state senator, the assemblyman, the commissioner of public safety, the County Republican leader, the County Democratic leader, the president of the Community Chest, the constable of the 14th Ward.

He was THE MAN.

When the teacher returned my paper to me a few days later, she held it out at arm's length, as though it were some strange animal.

At the top of the page was the grade, in red crayon—"2 per cent."

It turned out that one of my "George Eastman" answers was correct.

I was always rather grateful to Mr. Eastman for that.

Mrs. Trainor Wins 2nd in State Golf

SARANAC INN, N.Y., July 16 (AP) — Miss Barbara Bruning of White Plains today won her third New York State Women's golf championship with a 244 total for 54 holes of medal play.

The 22-year-old Wellesley College graduate shot 80 in the third and final 18-hole round to climax her comeback after being out of competition for a year because of illness. She had 86 the first day and 78 yesterday.

Mrs. George Trainor of Country Club of Rochester captured the runner-up spot with a 3-over-par 77—the best round of the tournament—for a total of 247.

Two former champions were tied one stroke behind Mrs. Trainor.

Mrs. Max Berger of Buffalo, the defending champion, turned in an 81 today for her 248 total and Mrs. Ruth Torgenson of Garden City, a five-time winner, shot 84 for the same total.

Mrs. Thomas Cantwell, mother of five from Saranac Lake who led the first day of the tournament suffered bad breaks on the back nine today and finished with 86 for fifth with 250.

Strong winds buffeted the 6,303-yard course throughout the tourney and today the entrants were annoyed by persistent black flies.

Saranac Inn also will be host to the 1955 tournament, which will consist of two days of senior division play followed by three days of medal play for the championship.

The top scores by rounds and totals:

Mrs. Trainor to Defend Title in WNY Tourney

Mrs. George Trainor of the Country Club of Rochester will lead a record field of 130 women into the Women's Golf Association of Western New York Championship at the Park Club in Williamsville this week.

The event starts tomorrow and lasts through Friday, and there are no post entries.

Mrs. Trainor is the defending champion. Among the chief threats for the title are Mrs. Maxon Berger of Buffalo, who won the 1953 New York State crown while she was Miss Cookie Swift; Miss Janet MacLeod of Buffalo, WBDGA champion; and Mrs. John Pennington of Buffalo, a former Women's Western winner. Pairings:

BUFFALO, July 20 — Mrs. George Trainor of the Country Club of Rochester, the defending titlist, was the only Rochester area entry to advance through the first round of match play in the annual Women's Golf Association of Western New York individual championship tournament yesterday at the rain-soaked Park Country Club course.

Mrs. Trainor, braving a steady downpour, played sparkling golf to oust Mrs. Herbert Maxwell of the Lancaster Country Club, 3 and 2. Mrs. Trainor, one of the pre-tourney favorites, toured the first nine with a one-over-par 39.

Mrs. William Warren, a teammate of Mrs. Trainor's, and Mrs. Robert Davies of the Monroe Country Club, bowed out in the championship flight.

Mrs. Warren dropped a 4 and 3 decision to Mrs. Robert Seiffert of the host club, while Mrs. Davies was beaten, 4 and 3, by Mrs. John Pennington of the Country Club of Buffalo.

48 Teams Paired In CCR Bestball

Forty-eight teams have been paired for the second annual Country Club of Rochester invitation bestball tournament over the East Avenue layout tomorrow and Sunday. Players will be allowed three-quarters of their club handicap, with the strokes coming as they fall on the card.

Sammy Urzetta, ex-Amateur champion, and Helmer Jaysane will defend their title. The pairings:

His 144 was well within qualifying range. The sunburned Rochester pro three-putted for two bogies on the front nine, overshot the 9th green for another and picked up one birdie when he holed a 15-foot putt on the 7th.

On the back nine, he drained an 18-footer and a six-footer to precede his fine effort on the 18th, but bogied the 15th when he was over the green into some bushes. Commisso was out in 38 and back in 34.

Lyons parred eight holes on the front nine and capped the steady round with a bird on the par eighth. He had two bogies on the back nine. Cards:

Hagen Cheers As Commisso Duplicates 72

Special to The Democrat and Chronicle

ST. PAUL, July 22 (AP)—With Walter Hagen applauding in the gallery, Frank Commisso of Irondequoit Country Club, Rochester, today duplicated his first round 72 to qualify for the professional tournament's match play competition starting tomorrow.

Toby Lyons of Jamestown, N. Y., rallied from a first-round 75 to post 72 for 147 to just make the qualifying grade.

Hagen stood off the 18th fairway as Commisso prepared for his 3-iron approach and shouted to Frank: "Hit one for good old Rochester".

Commisso complied, and it was one of the gaudy shots of the tournament, stopping only a foot from the pin. Commisso was down in three for a birdie on a hole which was par 5 before being downgraded for the tournament.

Country Club Schedules Dance for Tonight

DINNER, dancing and entertainment are on this evening's social agenda of the Country Club of Rochester, in celebration of its second annual two-man best ball tournament now being held.

An orchestra will supply the music for dancing, which will be preceded by a dinner, beginning at 8 p.m. The world's champion Barber Shop Quartet, "The Buffalo Bills," are to be the guest entertainers.

John W. Gates Jr. is chairman of the committee in charge of the event; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas d McFarland are entertainment H

Jack Herman, Sibley Annex CCR Bestball

By BRUCE KOCH

Harper Sibley Jr. and Jack Herman held grimly to their lead to win the Country Club of Rochester's second invitation bestball tournament yesterday with a 128 score, 12 under par.

Sibley, a 19-handicap player from the home club who shot the best score of his life, an 88, Saturday to lead his team to a 63, turned the reins over to partner Herman of Irondequoit yesterday and the team scored a 65.

Making a desperate bid for a title repeat were Helmer Jaysane and Sammy Urzetta. Sammy, the ex-National Amateur champ who had rough going Saturday, stole some of the champs' thunder with a 4-under-par 66 on his own ball yesterday.

Jaysane, who fired his second 76 in two days, came to Sammy's aid on three holes and the pair posted 63. Added to their opening-round 67, it gave them 130 and a second-place tie with Bob Levis of the CCR and Monroe's Cal Bassett. This team was second opening day with 64 and scored 66 yesterday to hold a tie for that spot.

Nelson Millard and Fletch McAmmond of Oak Hill shot a sizzling 63 yesterday for a 131 36-hole score and fourth place. Hugh Shirey and Owen (Lucky) Luckhurst of Ridgemon had the luck of the draw on their side and beat out three other teams for fifth spot with 132.

The CCR layout was made slightly easier yesterday as some front tees were used and the players really tore into it. Besides Urzetta's 66, George Trainer, who plays from both CCR and Oak Hill, and Bob May, also of Oak Hill, fashioned 68s. Ray Allen Jr. had 71, brother Don Allen and Bob Eckis of Buffalo 72s and Henry Hamlin scored his second straight 73.

Ray Allen Jr. teamed with Capt. Bill Grim of Sampson Air Force Base for 133 — the same score they tied Jaysane and Urzetta with last year. This year it didn't even get them in the money. Urzetta's card:

Par, out	444	344	514-75
Urzetta	444	343	434-33
Par, in	453	435	344-35-35-70
Urzetta	444	434	343-31-33-66

Pat Lesser's 72 Clips Record

Pat Lesser, former winner of the Country Club of Rochester Women's Invitation, cracked the qualifying tournament with a three-under-par 72 that also rubbed out Indianapolis' Broadmoor Country Club's women's record. She shot two eagles in the course of the round.

It took a score of 86 or better to qualify for the championship flight of 32. Twelve-year-old Garin Williams of Urbana, Ill., missed by two strokes. Only Carol Diring of Tiffin, Ohio, in addition to Miss Lesser, was able to break par 75. Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore matched it.

A Soviet army quartet bettered the world record for the 3,200-meter relay race in Kiev with a time of 7 minutes, 26.8 seconds, Moscow reported. The listed world mark is 7:28 set by a team of Czechoslovak army runners. However, the Soviet four did 7:27.6 on July 20.

Mike Green, of Miami Beach, and Donald Dell, of Bethesda, Md., both former National boys champions, breezed to first round victories in the National Junior Tennis tournament at Kalamazoo, Mich. . . . Sweden completed the rout of France's Davis Cup team, sweeping the two final singles matches at Paris. Mainstay Sven Davidon was scarcely pressed in winning the final match on the European Zone finals.

Tennis queen Maureen Connolly said she would leave Mercy Hospital in San Diego, Calif. Thursday but that a leg injury would keep her away from court play for about 2½ months. Her right calf was gashed and the smaller bone of the lower leg was cracked when her horse brushed her against a cement truck July 20.

Medalist Ousted In Women's Golf

By HANS TANNER

Medalist Mrs. Robert Morris of the Country Club of Rochester was eliminated by Monroe's Mrs. Bobby Davies in the Women's Rochester District Golf Association championship quarterfinal round yesterday at Brook-Lea Country Club.

The defending champion and seven-time winner, Mrs. George Trainor of the CCR, gained today's semifinals with an 8-and-6 victory over Mrs. William Barrows of Oak Hill.

Joining Mrs. Trainor and Mrs. Davies in the semifinals are Mrs. Jack McCarthy, unattached, and Mrs. Butler Cox of the CCR. Mrs. McCarthy posted her second straight easy win, beating Miss Dorothy Fox of Ridgmont, 5 and 4. Mrs. Cox handed Durand's Miss Lois Patchen a 3-and-1 defeat as the latter could not keep her usual steady game in hand.

Mrs. Trainor against Mrs. McCarthy in what could be the best match of the tournament, and Mrs. Cox against Mrs. Davies.

Despite a triple bogey 7 on the first hole and a double bogey 5 on the third hole, Mrs. Davies made the turn in 45—holding a 2-up lead over Mrs. Morris. Pars on the 11th and 12th gave the Monroe representative a 4-up margin, and after dropping the 13th, she took the next two holes to close out the match.

Mrs. Charles Hart of Oak Hill registered the best round reported yesterday as she carded an 85 in winning her second-flight match. Brook-Lea's Mrs. Merton Gundry carded the lowest round of her four-year links career as she finished with a 44-51—95 total. It was the third time she has been under 100 since playing golf.

RESULTS:

Championship Flight—Mrs. G. Trainor (CCR) def. Mrs. W. Barrows (OH) 8 and 6, Mrs. J. McCarthy (Unatt) def. Miss D. Fox (Ridge) 5 and 4, Mrs. R. Davies (Mon) def. Mrs. R. Morris (CCR) 5 and 3, Mrs. B. Cox (CCR) def. Miss L. Patchen (Dur) 3 and 1.

Sports in Brief

Pat Lesser Wins 1st Test in Golf

Pat Lesser, former winner of the Country Club of Rochester women's invitation golf tournament, was pushed to 18 holes before defeating 16-year-old Anne Quast, 2 up, in a first-round match in the Women's Western Amateur in Indianapolis.

Miss Lesser, who set the qualifying record for the tournament and course with a three-under-par 72 Monday, was two over par for the round. Defending champion Claire Doran whipped Polly Martin, 5 and 4 . . . First baseman Ferris Fain of the Chicago White Sox underwent surgery in Chicago and the attending physician said the torn knee cartilages were "worse than expected." Dr. John Claridge said Fain will remain in Mercy Hospital for at least three weeks. Claridge added that there is a possibility Fain won't be able to play any more this season.

Mrs. Trainor Wins, 3-2, For 11th WRDGA Crown

Mrs. George Trainor of the Country Club still rules Rochester women's golf with an iron hand. She won her eighth straight Women's Rochester District Golf Assn. championship yesterday, defeating Mrs. Bobby Davies, a game competitor from Monroe 3 and 2, at Brook-Lea.

Mrs. George Trainor of the Country Club still rules Rochester women's golf with an iron hand. She won her eighth straight Women's Rochester District Golf Assn. championship yesterday, defeating Mrs. Bobby Davies, a game competitor from Davies, a game competitor from Monroe, 3 and 2, at Brook-Lea. It was the 11th time since 1937 that the Country Club swinger has won the WRDGA meet.

Mrs. Davies, who has been playing golf only six years, was only 1 down to her experienced foe after 12 holes.

It was an interesting, see-saw battle, with Mrs. Davies taking the lead on the second hole with a par 5, only to have the champion come back with par wins on the difficult third and fourth holes. Mrs. Davies reached the 407-yard fifth with two wood shots and evened the match with a 4, but dropped one behind again on the long seventh, when she played the rough most of the way for a bogey 6. On eight Mrs. Davies missed her second shot but recovered with a fine 7-iron four feet from the pin for a par 4 and a win to even the match.

Mrs. Trainor's steady regulation play won the next two holes, but again Mrs. Davies rallied, this time stopping her approach iron inches from the pin for a birdie on the 480-yard 11th. That put her only 1 down, but after a halving the 12th in bogey 4, she faltered to a 6 on 13 to lose the hole. Then Mrs. Trainor recovered beautifully from behind a trap on the 14th for a par win to put her 3 up. The next hole was halved and the match ended.

Mrs. Trainor, finishing out the round, carded an 82, while Mrs. Davies hit 86.

Mrs. William Warren, the former Judy Weis of the CCR, won consolation honors by defeating Monroe's Mrs. Richard Wilson, 4 and 2. Cards:

Par, out	453	454	543	-37
Mrs. Trainor	563	455	553	-41
Mrs. Davies	554	545	644	-42
Par, in	553	544	543	-38-37-75
Mrs. Trainor	554	545	5
Mrs. Davies	644	655	5

Mrs. Trainor wins, 3 and 2.

Wing, Cannan Record 70s To Pace Golf Sweepstakes

Bert Wing's two-under par 70 at Ridgemont Golf Club and Jack Cannan's one-under regulation 70 at Lake Shore Country Club paced local golf sweepstakes yesterday.

Other low scores were registered by Bud Habes with 71 at Durand, Tony Cagnazzo with 72 at Genesee, Harry Illingworth and Bob May with 73s at Oak Hill, Don and Ray Allen Jr. with 73s at the Country Club of Rochester and Pedro Martinez with 74 at Locust Hill.

CCR—Low gross, Ray Allen Jr., Don Allen 73; low net, P. Bush 78-8—70, L. B. Swift Sr. 86-16—70, B. C. Smith 89-18—71, H. Jaysane 80-8—72, R. C. Milow 86-14—72, A. Stern 80-7—73.

Sister Team Scores 2-Day 149 Total
To Win Western New York Bestball

By HANS TANNER

A sister combination proved better than a mother-and-daughter twosome in the Women's Golf Assn. of Western New York handicap bestball tournament at Monroe Golf Club.

Miss Pat Brady and Miss Virginia Brady, from Cherry Hills, Canada, carded a 75 in yesterday's final round to go with Tuesday's 74 for a total of 149. One stroke back were Mrs. Vincent Bennett and Mrs. Robert Morris, both from the Country Club of Rochester. The latter tandem—mother and daughter—faded to an 80 yesterday after Tuesday's leading 70.

Two teams were tied for third at 152 in the field of 61 twosomes. Miss Helen Senke and Mrs. Paul Rutherford, Oak Hill members, added an 80, to Tuesday's second-place 72 for 152, while Mrs. Arnie Johnson of Oak Hill and Mrs. Bobby Davies of Monroe came back with a 77 after a 75 Tuesday.

In the blind draw, Miss Senke and Mrs. Rutherford were awarded third place. Eight prizes were awarded in The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle and Times-Union Partner's Tournament—with the winning tandem taking down the Buffalo Evening News Trophy.

Scores yesterday were generally higher, since each player was allowed only three-quarters of her handicap, instead of the full handicap used Tuesday.

Mrs. Thomas McGrattan of the Country Club of Buffalo recorded the low individual round yesterday—an 81. Mrs. George Trainor of the CCR had 82, while Mrs. Herbert Astmann of Transit Valley had 85 and Mrs. Davies and the CCB's Miss Janet MacLeod registered 86s. Miss Marietta Dryer of the Country Club of Rochester turned in the lowest nine of her links career—a 47.

150 AND UNDER

Miss P. Brady (CH)-Miss Brady (CH) 74-75—149, Mrs. V. Bennett (CCR)-Mrs. R. Morris (CCR) 70-80—150.

152

Mrs. H. Johnson (Oak Hill)-Mrs. B. Davies (Monroe) 77-75—152.

The Lang-Thomas duo paced a field of 29 teams over the East Course. Double rounds of match play today and tomorrow will decide the title—won last year by Bobby Hill and Tony Cagnazzo.

One stroke behind Lang and Thomas were their playing partners yesterday — Dr. George Trainor of Oak Hill and Bob Eckis of Buffalo's Park Club. Deadlocked at 70 were the teams of Hill and Cagnazzo, Harry Ilingworth (OH) and Tom Huber (Syracuse), and Bill Pulsifer (OH) and Tony Durante (Midvale).

It took a score of 74 or better to make the championship flight of 16 teams.

Lang and Thomas worked well together in manufacturing the 68. Terry's 20-footer dropped for a bird on the second hole, Ray rolled in an eight-foot putt for a birdie on the fourth hole, and Ray came through with 15-footers for birds on the seventh and eighth holes to put the team four under regulation figures. A bogey on the 403-yard ninth hole left the tandem with a 33 at the turn.

Both bogied the long 13th, but Terry stroked in an eight-footer for a bird on the 14th. Thomas' tee shot on the 451-yard 17th faded into the woods but he finally got down for a birdie 4. Yesterday's scores:

Hole-in-One Tournament

Pros Try Their Skill Sunday

Want to see how its done? Rochester and area golf professionals will take their shots in the Hole-in-One Tournament sponsored by The Democrat and Chronicle and Times-Union Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

Seventeen have already signified their intention to appear and try their hand at the event. A trophy will be awarded to the pro piling up the most points.

For persons interested in seeing just how it's done by pros, bleachers have been set up and will be used for the duration of the tourney, which starts tomorrow at 9 a.m.

Godfrey McGarvey, pro at the Brook-Lea Country Club, will handle the microphone Sunday night, introducing the various professionals.

Those contacted last night who

GODFREY

GEORGE
COLLINS

agreed to attend were: George VandenBrul, Ridgemont; George Vatke and Joe Goettlicher, Monroe; Charlie McKenna and Howie DeAngelus, Oak Hill; Joe LaMachia, Locust Hill; John Dewhirst and Freddy Purchase, Lake Shore; Pat Rosata, Brook-Lea; Frank Comisso, Irondequoit; Armand Lannutti, Durand; Charlie Bemish, Country Club of Rochester; Jimmy Comisso, Canandaigua; Steve Ferentz, Ontario; Joe Redant, Le Roy; Joe Diego, Livingston, and George Collins, Genesee Valley.

The event will run daily through Sunday on a 110-yard range on The Meadows at Genesee Valley Park. Times will be from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, from 2 p.m. until 9 p.m. Sunday. Clubs and balls will be provided, although players may bring their own clubs if they so desire.

Everyone over 16 years of age, regardless of residency in the area, is eligible to compete. No club affiliation is necessary.

Net 56 Leads Women's Fourball Field

Finishing just before the rain, wind, thunder and lightning, the foursome of Mrs. Elmer Reibold and Mrs. Merle Scott of Oak Hill, and Mrs. William Warren, CCR, and Mrs. Bobby Davies, Monroe, scored a net bestball of 56 to take a four-stroke lead in the first round of the Oak Hill women's fourball tournament over the West course.

This foursome was the first to start and the only one to miss at least some of the storm. In second place at 60 strokes were Mrs. T. Culler and Mrs. E. Bauer of the host club, and Mrs. L. Phillips and Mrs. L. Bliss of Ridgemont, while at 61 came Mrs. F. Metildi and Mrs. B. Del-Monaco of Oak Hill and Mrs. W. Allen, CCR, and Mrs. S. DePasquale, Midvale. Five foursomes finished at 63.

The teams yesterday used their full club handicaps, with three-fourths of the handicaps to be used in today's final 18 holes.

The best individual score of the day was turned in by Mrs. George Trainor, CCR, with a 81, while Mrs. Warren, a member of the leading team, had 85, Mrs. Davies 86, Miss Lois Patchen 88, and Mrs. Scott 92.

In scoring their 56 the leading foursome saw Mrs. Reibold par the par-5 15th hole for a net eagle 3. Mrs. Davies parred the first and 9th for net birdies, Mrs. Warren birdied the seventh for a net eagle and parred the 10th and 12th for net birdies. Mrs. Scott had pars on the 4th and 8th for net birdies. Their card, with women's par:

Par out .....	445	345	534—37
Team .....	344	244	323—29
Par in .....	444	435	435—36—73

Barbara Bruning Wins CCR Tourney With Total of 233

Barbara Anne Bruning, of Whippoorwill Country Club, White Plains, won the fifth annual Country Club of Rochester Women's Invitation Tournament yesterday with a 54-hole score of 233, three shots ahead of Mrs. George Trainor of the host club, the defending champion.

Miss Bruning, New York State champion, scored an 81 yesterday after two rounds of 76. Mrs. Trainor scored 79 for a 236 total. Mrs. Maxson Berger of Westwood Country Club, Buffalo, finished third with 238, scoring the lowest single round of the tournament yesterday, a 74, even women's par.

These three dominated the field. Miss Shirley Smith, of Binghamton Country Club, who was in the fight for the title after opening rounds of 82 and 79 for 161, soared to 85 yesterday for 246.

Miss Bruning was presented with the tournament trophy by Mrs. Butler Cox, general chairman of the tournament, and her name will be inscribed on the Mrs. Frank Gannett perpetual trophy, which remains at CCR.

Miss Bruning, a relaxed player who hits a long ball, was out in 39 yesterday, two over women's par, and back in 42, five over. However, playing with Mrs. Trainor and Miss Smith, she gained a shot on Mrs. Trainor on the first nine to have a 6-stroke lead. There was little doubt of the outcome from that point. Mrs. Trainor picked up three shots with her second-nine 39.

Mrs. Berger, so disappointed after her round of 80 in Friday's play, drove home to Buffalo Friday night and took a putting lesson from Jack Gordon, Western New York's oldest active professional. It paid off yesterday with her round in 74. She had 10 one-putt greens.

TROPHIES—Barbara Anne Bruning, left, holds permanent trophy she won in Country Club of Rochester Women's Invitation Tournament yesterday, while Mrs. Butler Cox, tournament chairman, holds Mrs. Frank Gannett Trophy, which remains at club and inscribed with Miss Bruning's name. Miss Bruning had 233 total.

MRS. ROGER HETZEL, of the Lancaster Country Club, competed in the Country Club of Rochester Invitation tourney last week.

She placed fifth in the three-day medal tournament which was played on what was formerly Mrs. Hetzel's home course.

The tournament coincided with a family vacation in Rochester.

Mrs. Trainor Registers 83 To Win Stafford Tourney

*Special to The
Democrat and Chronicle*

STAFFORD, Aug. 31—Chilly, rainy weather didn't bother Mrs. George Trainor of the Country Club of Rochester as she posted an 83 here today to win the Women's Golf Assn. of Western New York on-day medal tournament at Stafford Country Club.

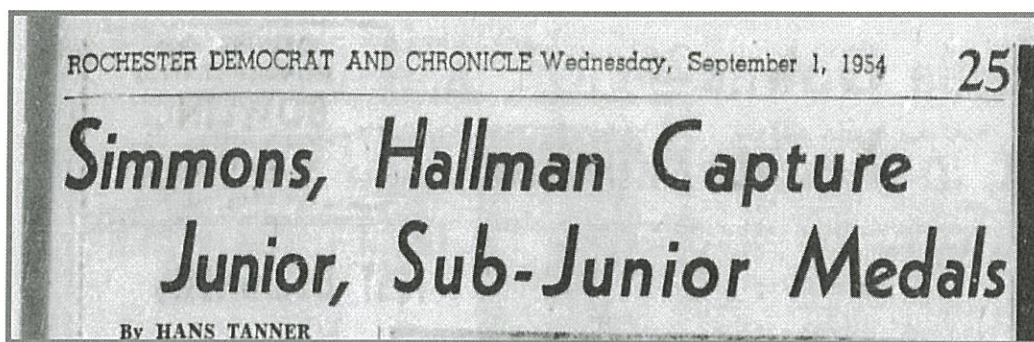

Only other contestants able to better 90 were Mrs. Sam Wettlaufer of the Country Club of Buffalo with an 88, and Mrs. William Warren of the CCR with an 89.

Mrs. Trainor's fine round included a chip-in for a birdie 2 on the 12th hole.

Low gross honors in Class B went to Miss Pat Brady of Cherry Hills with 101, while Mrs. Howard Nickols of Genesee Valley snared gross honors in Class C with a 107 total.

Mrs. Warren captured first low net in Class A with 89-10-79, followed by Mrs. L. H. Schultz Jr. of Stafford with 93-12-81, Miss Virginia Brady of Cherry Hills with 95-12-83, and Mrs. Howard Starett of Cherry Hills with 90-5-84.

In Class B, net honors were taken by Mrs. Sperry Minner of Wanakah with 106-17-89, followed by Mrs. J. M. Ryan of Stafford with 105-14-91, Mrs. Murton Gundry of Brook-Lea with 109-18-91, and Mrs. Glen Cannon of Brookfield with 108-16-92. Mrs. Millard Judd of Genesee won Class C net honors with 111-21-90, followed by Mrs. Herbert Murphy of Orchard Park with 111-20-91, Mrs. Robert Perry of Wanakah with 113-20-93 and Miss Marietta Dryer of the CCR with 123-24-96.

By HANS TANNER

Warren Simmons of Canandaigua and Bob Hallman of Oak Hill finally captured medalist honors in the Rochester District Golf Assn. Junior and Sub-Junior Championships at Locust Hill Country Club yesterday.

Three youths deadlocked for the Junior medal and two for the medalist prize in the Sub-Junior division in Monday's qualifying round. The boys putted out every hole in yesterday's first round matches to determine the medalists.

Simmons registered a 76 to take the prize in the Junior division from Jerry Bufano of Genesee and Paul Schojan of Midvale, while Hallman's 89 topped Oak Hill's Chip Lillich in the Sub-Junior.

Playing in intermittent showers over the already soggy Locust Hill layout, the field of 143 players was cut more than in half in yesterday's match play. Losers in the championship brackets of the Junior and Sub-Junior divisions moved into first flight competition. Except for the championship flights, the youthful linksmen will play foursomes under the Goodall system.

Defending champion Chris Kling of Oak Hill advanced to under the Goddard system.

Defending champion Chris Kling of Oak Hill advanced to the second round in the Junior with a 2-and-1 win over John Bisig of Midvale. Kling had two bogeys and a birdie as he posted a 73. His opponent today—Norb Haefner of Locust Hill—reported an even-par 72 as he ousted Jim Grassi of Midvale, 2 and 1. Simmons' 76 was good enough to eliminate Vince Pompa of Genesee easily, while Schojan's 83 bested Tom Dalbey of Oak Hill. Bufano was beaten by Jim Infantino of Midvale, 4 and 3, after being even at the turn. Other first-round victors were Don Allen of the Country Club of Rochester, who finished with 78; Dick Mahar of Oak Hill, and Dick Habes Jr. of Durand.

Today's quarterfinals pit Infantino against Habes, Simmons against Mahar, Schojan against Allen and Kling against Haefner.

Simmons registered a 75 as he ousted Oak Hill's Dick Mahar by a 4-and-3 margin. Kling was forced to go an extra hole before beating Norb Haefner of Locust Hill in the day's most exciting match.

Joining Simmons and Kling in today's semifinals are Jim Infantino of Midvale and Don Allen of Country Club of Rochester. Infantino went 19 holes before downing Dick Habes Jr. of Durand, while Allen carded a one-over par 73 in handing Paul Schojan of Midvale a 4-and-3 setback.

Today's semis list Infantino against Simmons and Allen against Kling.

In the Sub-Junior, medalist Bob Hallman of Oak Hill was eliminated by clubmate Jimmy Craib, 4 and 3. After making the turn all even, Craib won the 12th, 13th and 14th holes before birdieing the 15th to close out his opponent. Jerry Abel of Durand surprised Oak Hill's Chip Lillich, 2 and 1, and Bob Dubiel of Durand beat clubmate Gary Stahl, 3 and 1, in the other matches. Jon Porter of Oak Hill advanced to the semifinals by default. Craib will play Porter and Abel will oppose Dubiel today, insuring an Oak Hill versus Durand final tomorrow.

The Kling-Haefner match saw Kling twice battle back from deficits to win. Both pored the first two holes before Haefner ran in a putt on the 344-yard third for a birdie 3. Chris birdied the 511-yard fourth to even the match again, but a deuce on the 208-yard seventh hole and a par 3 on the ninth gave Haefner a 2-up lead at the turn.

WARREN SIMMONS

Pars were good for wins on the 10th and 11th holes for Kling, but Haefner birdied the 12th to go ahead again. The match stayed that way until the 18th, where Haefner's shot was trapped and Kling won with a par 4. Chris captured the match on the 19th hole as he rammed home a 6-footer for a par 4 and Haefner missed a short approach, leaving himself a 12-footer in which the ball just slid by the cup for a bogey.

Warren Simmons Defeats Mahar

Warren Simmons of the Canandaigua Country Club advanced to the semifinal round in the junior division of the Rochester District Golf Assn. Junior and Sub-Junior Championships yesterday at Locust Hill Country Club.

Simmons scored a 75 to defeat Dick Mahar by a 4 to 3 margin. Mahar playing out of Oak Hill lost the first two holes to Simmons and was three down after the first nine. Simmons took a five-hole lead with wins on the 10th and 12th holes and finished off his rival on the 15th after Mahar won the 13th hole.

Other winners yesterday were Chris Kling of Oak Hill, Jim Infantino of Midvale and Don Allen of Country Club of Rochester.

Today's semis find Simmons playing Infantino and Allen playing Kling.

Simmons Faces Allen In Finals

At Locust Hill this morning Warren Simmons, Canandaigua youngster playing out of the Canandaigua Country Club will face Don Allen, Brighton High School golfer in the finals of the Rochester District Golf Assn. Junior Championship.

Simmons won the honor of getting into the finals by handing Jim Infantino, Midvale's ace a 6 and 5 defeat yesterday in the semi-finals, while Allen defeated Chris Kling of Oak Hill on the last hole with a fine putt that hung on the lip of the hole and then dropped in. Allen plays out of the Country Club of Rochester.

Steady play all the way was what scored the victory for Simmons. Infantino, saw his ball go in a creek on the 2nd and three pulled on the 3rd and 4th. Simmons was four up at nine and closed his opponent out with par wins and the 12th and 13th.

Bemish, Vanden Brul to Be Honored by Clubs This Week

Two local golf professionals will be honored this week with "pro days." day, Friday is reserved for a women's inter-club match, and Saturday and Sunday for mem-

Charlie Bemish's days begin at the Country Club of Rochester Wednesday with women's day. Non-members may play on Thurs-bers. Greens fees are $2.00. At Ridgemont George Vanden-Brul will be feted Thursday through Sunday. Starting times for Saturday and Sunday must be obtained in advance by calling GLENWOOD 7816.

Country Club Plans Year Of Fun

A PROGRAM of events, ranging in type from an old clothes party to a formal dance, has been set at the Country Club of Rochester during the fall and winter months and extending into late spring.

The first in nine Junior Subscription dances was held last evening at the club.

On Oct. 15, the old clothes party will be held, along with a treasure hunt and a square dance. A "talent night" is set for Nov. 19 and there will be dances in December, January, February and March. The December dance will be the annual Christmas formal and an ice skating party will be part of the January affair.

Members of the steering committee will be hosts at the concluding dance in May. They are Mr. and Mrs. George L. Todd, general chairmen, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Alberts, Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Connor Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. Donahoe Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Fairchild Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Gordon, Dr. and Mrs. Earle B. Mahoney, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. William W. McQuilkin and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Sanders Jr.

CCR Women Retain Title In District Team Tourney

The Country Club of Rochester's feminine golf squad successfully defended its Women's Rochester District Golf Assn. team championship yesterday, scoring an eight-stroke win over Brook-Lea on the CCR course.

Nine teams competed, with the CCR women scoring a handicap total of 491. Mrs. William Warren made the biggest contribution with her 88-12-76, and Mrs. Butler Cox had 87-8-79.

Marie Collins set the pace for the runnerup Brook-Lea team, scoring 91-15-76. Low gross went to Lois Patchen of Durand, who carded an 85. Oak Hill did not field a complete six-woman team and therefore was not eligible for a team award. Scores:

Junior League Sponsors TV for Children

FRIDAY the Junior League of Rochester will begin a new venture in education—a television program for children.

For 12 consecutive Fridays "Story Tree," designed for youngsters from 5 to 9 years of age will appear from 5:15 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Channel 5.

Miss Dorothy Dividio, a teacher in School 42, will pick a tale from the "Story Tree" based on the theme of discovery. An element of surprise at the end of each broadcast will provide "cliff-hanger" suspense to carry until the next Friday.

The League has been concerned over the quality of TV programs for children and members have worked all summer making permanent scenery for the program.

The educational TV committee includes, chairman, Mrs. Arthur Stebbins, assistant chairman, Mrs. Mortimer R. Anstice Jr., and research, Mrs. Alexander Beach and Mrs. Richard Gearhart, Miss Emily Van Voorhis will be stage manager. Mrs. Edward Macomber will have charge of properties and cast; art, Mrs. Harold Lloyd; board adviser, Mrs. William Allen and clerical, Mrs. Harold P. Field.

League members, with their husbands, will be an appreciative audience Tuesday evening when Mrs. Rockwell Stephens of Woodstock School, Woodstock, Vt., will be guest speaker at a dinner meeting at the Country Club of Rochester.

The title of Mrs. Stephens' talk will be "Who's Bored?" Members report that her last talk before the local League on the subject of the adolescent child was so full of wit and common sense, that husbands have requested permission to hear her Tuesday.

While in town Mrs. Stephens, a former assistant professor of education at Wellesley College, will be the guest of the Rev. and Mrs. George L. Cadigan of Barrington Street.

Allen Leads Golf Qualifiers

Sixteen-year-old Don Allen of Brighton, Rochester District Golf Assn. junior runnerup, scored a 75 over his home course, the Country Club of Rochester, to win medal honors in the Monroe County qualifier for this weekend's Section 5 tourney.

His score was seven shots better than Norb Haefner, another Brightonite, who carded 82. Terry VanHouten of Webster was third with 83, and Paul Schojan of East Rochester was the final qualifier with 84.

Chris Kling and Billy Wahl, a pair of highly-regarded Brighton players, had to be content with alternate positions with 85 and 85, respectively. The sectionals will be played at Lake Shore.

2 Russer Games Reslated Tonight

Rain washed out last night's scheduled doubleheader in the Russer softball tournament. The double elimination test will resume tonight at Russer Stadium.

Women Golfers Elect Mrs. Morris

Mrs. Robert Morris of the Country Club of Rochester was elected president of the Western New York Women's Golf Assn. yesterday at the group's annual meeting at Oak Hill Country Club.

Moving into the first vice president's position was Mrs. Robert Seiffert Jr. of the Park Club, Buffalo. Mrs. Harlow Webber of Brook-Lea Country Club was elected second vice president, Mrs. George Dobie of Locust Hill Country Club, secretary; Mrs.

Leo Ward of the Park Club, assistant secretary; Mrs. Maurice Forman of Irondequoit, treasurer, and Mrs. Joseph Ryan of Stafford Country Club, assistant treasurer.

A sweepstakes was held in conjunction with the meeting and luncheon. Mrs. Robert Davies of Monroe and Mrs. Arnie Johnson of Oak Hill shared low gross honors with 90s. Mrs. Glenn Williams of Oak Hill was next with 94, followed by Mrs. Howard Kol-pien of Oak Hill with 101.

Nine-hole sweepstakes winners

—Low gross, Mrs. A. Johnson (OH) 45. Low net, Mrs. J. Noonan (OH) 46-7-39, Mrs. G. Williams (OH) 46-6-40, Mrs. R. Strawhecker (OH) 51-11-40, Mrs. C. Valent (TV) 47-6-41, Mrs. D. Coupe (CCR) 48-7-41, Mrs. R. Davies (Mon) 45-3-42, Mrs. C. Hoesterey (Mon) 47-5-42, Mrs. L. Wiltse (LH) 49-7-42, Mrs. H. Kolpien (OH) 49-6-43.

Mrs. Wiltse Named WRDGA Prexy

Mrs. Leo Wiltse of Locust Hill Country Club was elected president of the Women's Rochester District Golf Assn. yesterday at the association's annual meeting at Locust Hill.

Brook-Lea's Mrs. Harlow Webber was named vice-president, Mrs. Sam Altman of Irondequoit, secretary; Mrs. Arnie Johnson of Oak Hill, was elected treasurer, and Mrs. Butler Cox of the Country Club of Rochester will take over as handicap chairman.

The group will sponsor a sub-junior and junior tournament for girls next year. Mrs. George Trainor of the CCR is in charge of the event. The only stipulation to enter the tourney is that the girls' parents must be members of a country club in the Rochester District Golf Assn.

A meeting of the board and club representatives is scheduled for March to draw up the official tournament slate. A four-women bestball event probably will replace the junior and senior tournament. There will be four classes next year—A, B, C and D. The handicap allowable in competition will be 28.

There are 170 members of the association, with a list of 50 waiting for membership. Because of the long waiting list, a change in the by-laws created a committee that will replace inactive players with players on the application list. The committee consists of Mrs. Trainor, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Maurice Forman of Irondequoit, Mrs. Wiltse and Mrs. Carl Hoestery of Monroe.

Dues in the organization have been raised to $7 for 1955.

MR. AND Mrs. Robert Beale of Commodore Parkway will entertain at the Country Club of Rochester at dinner today prior to the rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Martha Ann Beale and Donald B. Clark, which will take place at 5 p.m. tomorrow in Third Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Donald G. Clark of Clark Road will entertain at the wedding breakfast tomorrow morning.

Miss Beale is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Beale of Brunswick Street and Mr. Clark's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Clark of Clark Road.

Commisso Honored by Fellow Pros

Frank Commisso, golf professional at Irondequoit Country Club, was the guest of honor at a surprise party last night at the club.

The affair was conducted by the Western New York Professional Golfers Assn. in recognition of Commisso's winning the WNYPGA championship for the 10th time.

Joe LaMachia of Locust Hill, past president of WNYPGA, presented an inscribed trophy to Commisso. Each of the 17 pros present at the banquet made a short speech.

At the affair besides Commisso and LaMachia were: Babe Urzetta, assistant pro at Irondequoit; Steve Ferentz, pro at Ontario; Pat Rosata, assistant pro at Brook-Lea; Godfrey McGarvey, pro at Brook-Lea; Jerry Purchase, pro at Lake Shore Golf Range; George Collins, pro at Genesee Valley; Armand Lannutti, pro at Durand; George VandenBrul, pro at Ridgemont; Charlie Bemish, pro at Country Club of Rochester; Howie DeAngelus, associate pro at Oak Hill; Ray Feller, pro at Hornell; Jimmy Commisso, pro at Canandaigua; Mike DeGregory, pro at Braemar; Joe Redanty, pro at Le Roy; Joe Diego, pro at Livingston, and Charlie Paris, pro at Silver Lake.

Babe Urzetta is scheduled to leave Rochester Saturday for California, where he will practice and pick up the pro tour in Los Angeles during January.

BUELL CRITCHLOW, who took over the headmastership of the Allendale School a year ago last summer and already has the largest enrollment of pupils in the school's history, in his early manhood was such a good golfer that he knocked Arthur (Ducky) Yates out of the Onondaga Country Club's invitation (Ducky didn't even shake hands after the match), and was runner-up to our own Jack Tucker in the Country Club of Rochester invitation. At Amherst he managed and played on the varsity golf team for three years, but now hardly plays a round of golf a year. He is all schoolman. Besides dedicating himself to the job of constantly lifting the school's academic standards, he has—praise be!—insisted that older boys attend classes decently attired, and that means jackets and neckties.

Mrs. Critchlow, a former reporter for The Buffalo Courier-Express, shares her husband's academic zeal. It is her practice to write pep letters to boys who were graduated last year and who are now doing their stuff in colleges and universities. The Critchlows are fine people, and I hope they are here to stay.

Tumult And Shouting

Ouimet, Hagen Make
U.S. Golf Conscious

By GRANTLAND RICE

Tumult And Shouting

Ouimet, Hagen Make U.S. Golf Conscious

This is the seventh of a series of 24 articles from Grantland Rice's autobiography "The Tumult and the Shouting." Mr. Rice, the former dean of American sports writers, finished his memoirs shortly before his death.

By GRANTLAND RICE

A man's true colors will surface quicker in a $5 "Nassau" than in any other form of peacetime diversion that I can name.

Golf lends itself nicely to the nineteenth hole, a period of refreshment, happy talk and commiseration. I've got a host of stories there, not only from and about golfers but with headlines of every sport and business. Peeled down to his shorts, a highball in one hand, an attested score card in the other, it's hard for a man to be anything but himself.

Three amateurs, from 1907 through 1916, played leading roles in the golf destiny of this country — Jerry Travers, Chick Evans and Francis Ouimet. They won both our Amateur and Open titles.

Travers Won Four

Travers was the first on the scene. Not physically equipped to reach and hold any sustained height, he nevertheless won our Amateur crown four times—in 1907, 1908 and in 1912, 1913—and the Open in 1916.

New York born, Travers rates as one of the half dozen greatest of 72 holes of medal play over the rough par-71 layout, it was Vardon, Ray and Ouimet — all tied.

More than 3,000 braved a steady drizzle for the playoff. The smart money expected Ouimet to crack wide open. Instead he cracked the two British rocks with a precise 72, defeating Vardon by five strokes and Ray by six.

The match was written up as "The Shots Heard Round the World"—and advanced golf's popularity with the masses at least 10 or 20 years. Ouimet had fired the imagination of thousands of youngsters who had known only baseball, football and perhaps basketball. Kids began swinging a battered mashie iron as well as a bat.

Enter Walter Travis

Another figure I must include here is Australian-born Walter J. Travis, who began playing the game at 36. He won the United States Amateur crown in 1900, 1901 and 1903 and the British Amateur in 1904, when an antagonistic Travis outgamed and out-shot the supremely antagonistic British at their own game. A slight figure, the cigar-chewing Travis, under pressure, had the physical and mental toughness of a mule skinner.

"What is your secret," I asked Travis one day.

"I never hit a careless shot in my life," he replied. "I bet only a quarter but I play each shot as if it was for the title." He was hard boiled, grouchy and tough but I liked Walter Travis immensely.

McDermott Burns Out

As burning as any of the early greats, I won't forget our first American gamecock, McDermott, who won the United States Open in 1911 and 1912. He beat Vardon and Ray in the 1913 Shawnee Open.

A fighter, McDermott, would wager any amount on himself in practically any match he played. The fire of his own intensity burned out the little fellow and following the 1913 Open, McDermott went mentally astray and vanished into a home where he's been ever since.

Years after he was put away, Johnny was brought to a well-known Staten Island course where he shot a 70. He hadn't seen a golf club in years.

The quicker the average weekend golfer can forget the shot he dubbed or knocked off line—and concentrate on the next shot—the sooner he begins to improve and enjoy golf.

Hagen's Recovery

I once saw Walter Hagen make 19 mistakes during one round in a North and South Open at Pinehurst in 1924. He finished with a 71, ultimately winning the tournament. A mistake meant nothing to him. Neither did defeat. He scorned second place. "The crowd remembers only the winner. I'd as soon finish tenth as second," he said.

It was in 1912, while I pounded out my column, "The Spotlight" (a title that Frank Adams suggested), that this same Hagen, a young caddy then, was pounding the fairways of the Country Club of Rochester.

In those days golf was pretty much restricted to the exclusive social centers around Westchester county and Long Island. I like to play the game and enjoyed writing about it—which cut little cheese in New York. Golf got scant notice in the metropolitan papers, and Francis Albertanti, then our assistant sports editor, disparaged its importance like most editors.

In Albertanti's book, golf was something played by unemployed sheep herders and "coupon-clipping stiffs." It didn't belong on the sports pages.

Backed By London Times

Backed by the London Times, this pair came to America during the Summer of 1913 and toured the country giving exhibitions before record crowds at record fees.

Vardon, a well-built fellow with his publicized, overlapping grip, was the complete stylist. Ray, however, was a ponderous, stoop-shouldered bear of a man who affected a walrus mustache, a Sherlock Holmes pipe and the ability to lunge into the ball with more brute strength than anybody this side of "Brisbane's gorilla."

Neither man was a talker, but Vardon, possessed of biting intelligence, could be civil. As for Ray, he was usually as dour as an elephant with a sore foot.

Three-Way Tie

That 1913 Open, played at the Country Club of Brookline, a Boston suburb, was, nevertheless, considered a shoo-in for Vardon or Ray. Into this picture walked unassuming Francis Ouimet, a 20-year-old local, as Boston as the cod and just as cool. At the end competitors who ever played any game. He had Ben Hogan's concentration. He couldn't use a driver so he used a No. 1 iron off the tee. Never long but straight as a string, he crushed opponents with his approaching and putting.

Chick Evans, the Chicago marvel, was playing title golf in 1906 and still plays superb golf today—48 years later, the length of our friendship. Chick, with his extra-long hickory shafts, won the Open in 1916, the Amateur that same year and again in 1920.

Sweet Foot Action

A truly fine iron player, Chick had the sweetest foot action I've ever studied. Had he been able to putt with the killing coolness of Travers, there would have been no stopping him for at least ten years.

Our third great amateur before the age of Jones was Francis Ouimet, of Boston. As a young ex-caddie, Ouimet was most responsible for golf's sudden boom in America.

By 1913 the United States had outgrown its knee britches in practically all sports except golf. The Scotch and British dominated at golf, with Harry Vardon and Ted Ray, two of John Bull's finest. Vardon had won the British Open five times and was to win it again in 1913. Ray took it in 1912.

States Amateur crown in 1900, 1901 and 1903 and the British Amateur in 1904 when an antagonistic Travis outgamed and outshot the supremely antagonistic British at their own game. A slight figure, the cigar chewing Travis under pressure had the physical and mental toughness of a mule skinner.

"What is your secret," I asked Travis one day.

"I never hit a careless shot in my life," he replied. "I bet only a quarter but I play each shot as if it was for the title." He was hard boiled, grouchy and tough but I liked Walter Travis immensely.

As burning as any of the early greats, I won't forget our first American gamecock McDermott, who won the U. S. Open in 1911 and 1912. He beat Vardon and Ray in the 1913 Shawnee Open. A fighter, McDermott, would wager any amount on himself in practically any match he played. The fire of his own intensity burned out the little fellow and following the 1913 Open, McDermott went mentally astray and vanished into a home where he's been ever since. Years after he was put away, Johnny was brought to a well-known Staten Island course where he shot a 70. He hadn't seen a golf club in years.

The quicker the average weekend golfer can forget the shot he dubbed or knocked off line—and concentrate on the next shot—the sooner he begins to improve and enjoy golf.

I once saw Walter Hagen make 19 mistakes during one round in a North and South Open at Pinehurst in 1924. He finished with a 71, ultimately winning the tournament. A mistake meant nothing to him. Neither did defeat. He scorned second place. "The crowd remembers only the winner. I'd as soon finish tenth as second," he said.

in Albertanti's book, golf was something played by unemployed sheep herders and "coupon-clipping stiffs." It didn't belong on the sports pages.

Theophilus England Niles, the Mail's managing editor, called Albertanti into his office one day to ask why golf wasn't receiving space.

"Golf? What's golf?" asked Francis.

"Why, it's a game—an important game," replied Niles. "A lot of big businessmen are playing it."

"Then put it on the financial page," retorted Albertanti.

Francis Quimet's dramatic victory over Vardon and Ray in 1913 helped to give golf popular appeal, but it remained for Hagen to supply the human interest, to put the throbbing kick into the game.

Blessed with a pair of strong, quick hands, Hagen was trying to choose between golf and baseball as a career. Extraordinarily keen at shagging golf balls, on the fly or on the bounce, young Walter caught the eye of Andy Christie, the club professional. Christie promoted the youngster to the pro shop, sweeping and cleaning up, but before long Hagen's hands were busy wrapping, straightening and mending hickory shafts and burnishing iron clubheads.

In 1912, the National Open was to be played at nearby Buffalo, and Hagen, then Christie's assistant, asked if he might enter.

"Not a chance," replied Christie. "I don't mind giving you three days to go up there and watch and perhaps learn something. But I'm not letting any twenty-year-old kid make a fool of himself in that fast Open crowd."

When Hagen returned from his short sabbatical, he told Christie, "They're not the players I'd expected."

EIGHT professionals from RDGA member clubs were present. Look for some noticeable changes to be made in the layouts of the Ridgemont and Country Club of Rochester courses. Ridgemont is ready to install a complete watering system and will have a couple of artificial lakes, while a proposed widening of Elmwood Avenue would cause some changes at CCR.

Mom Spanked Hagen for Early Golf Play

DETROIT, Dec. 22. (UP)— It has been 10 years since Walter Hagen last swung a golf club but the former king of the links still follows the game closely and he doesn't need much prodding to reminisce about the days when he dominated the fairways.

Hagen, who celebrated his 62d birthday yesterday, gave up golf during the mid-1940s without explanation but the thought of losing to a new generation of golfers was believed to have hastened his decision.

The reason for his retirement is his secret. How he got his start in golf is not a secret.

"I was about 5 at the time," Hagen recalled. "Pa used to play euchre with one of the men from the Country club of Rochester (N. Y.) which was just down the lane from our place.

"The man always carried a long cleek on his visits to our house. One day he brought along three golf clubs. I broke a lamp, hit the man on the shins, put a few dents in the woodwork and lost a decision to Ma."

From that start, Hagen rose to become one of the most successful golfers the world has ever known. He won the PGA crown five times, the British open title four times and the United States open championship twice.

"The Haig," was only 21 when he won his first major tournament—the United States open at Chicago in 1914. In the three decades that followed the fun-loving Hagen won more than 75 tournaments. His earnings were estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Psychology played a big part in Hagen's success. He would ponder over a simple shot to make his opponent think he had a difficult lie. His rival would usually have a letdown when Hagen plunked the ball close to the pin.

What does Hagen think about the present game and golfers?

"The game is a lot longer now than it was in my day," Hagen said. "That's due to better equipment. But there isn't one outstanding golfer now that Ben Hogan has quit the tournament trail. I'd say that Gene Littler and Pete Thompson have a chance to become outstanding golfers. But they'll have to work on their game to do it."

play. The first two extra holes were halved.

On the next hole, Hagen dropped an eight-foot putt for a par. Diegel was only three feet from the pin but a slope made his putt appear difficult.

Diegel examined the contour closely. So did Hagen. Walter decided Diegel would sink the putt. But he waited. As his opponent addressed the ball, Hagen announced "I concede the putt, Leo. Let's play another hole."

Flustered by the concession, Diegel topped his drive on the next hole and lost the match.

"There have been a lot of stories like that attributed to me," Hagen said. "And most of them are true."

Hagen Won't Tell Why He Gave Up Golf

DETROIT AP — It's been 10 years since Walter Hagen last swung a golf club but the former king of the links still follows the game closely and he doesn't need much prodding to reminisce about the days when he dominated the fairways.

Hagen, who celebrated his 62nd birthday yesterday, gave up golf during the mid-1940's without explanation but the thought of losing to a new generation of golfs was believed to have hastened his decision.

Hagen Sees Littler, Thompson as Best of Current Pro Golfers

WALTER HAGEN, who celebrated his 62nd birthday in Detroit, Mich., this week and who hasn't swung a golf club in 10 years, predicted that only Gene Littler and Peter Thompson of the current playing golf pros have a chance of becoming outstanding performers. "But they'll have to work on their game," says Walter.

The Haig stated that, "there isn't one outstanding golfer since Ben Hogan quit the tournament trail."

Hagen went on to years of golfing fame after winning the United States Open for the first time in 1919, when he was professional at Country Club of Rochester.

*Ex-Player of Hockey Here
Envisions Revival of Sport*

By STEVE FITZGERALD

A former Rochester Hockey Club player is looking forward to the opening next year of the Community War Memorial with high hopes of a revival of his favorite sport in the not too distant future.

Leo O'Halloran, 584 Whitlock Rd., Irondequoit, who started playing ice shinny around the age of 7 — "as soon as I was able to tie on a pair of skates" — sees no reason why this city should not be a hot center for both amateur and pro versions of the puck sport.

Now turning 52, O'Halloran first learned how to handle himself on ice in his native Guelph, Ont., and when 15 started playing on the home team in the Intercity League of the Junior Ontario Hockey Assn. He continued active in the sport until he came here in 1924, when he joined the local club.

Hockey is as popular with Canadians as baseball is on this side — the top Dominion sport, whose ace players are acclaimed as Americans revere a Babe Ruth or Ted Williams. And so, while admitting he was never any great shakes at the game, O'Halloran takes a bit of pride in recalling that in his OHA days he played against such eventual stars as Howie Morenz, Dutch Kane and

On Your Christmas Skates!

BY HELEN KING

There are millions of people who will be skating on ice in the next few weeks. It is a time of joy and excitement for many of them. It is a time when the winter weather is at its best and the sun is shining brightly in the sky. It is a time when the children are out and about and the adults are enjoying the sport. It is a time when the ice is at its best and the skaters are at their best.

There are many different styles of skating. Some are simple and easy to learn, while others are more difficult and require a great deal of practice. No matter what style you choose, it is important to wear the proper equipment and to be careful on the ice. Skating is a fun and exciting sport, and it is a great way to enjoy the winter months.

There are many different places where you can go skating. Some are indoor rinks, while others are outdoor rinks. No matter where you go, it is important to be safe and to have fun. Skating is a great way to spend your winter days, and it is a great way to enjoy the beauty of the winter season.

So, get out there and enjoy the winter months. Skating is a fun and exciting sport, and it is a great way to enjoy the winter months. So, get out there and enjoy the winter months. Skating is a fun and exciting sport, and it is a great way to enjoy the winter months.

... "thought I was killed"

Bill Cook, all now enshrined in Canada's Hockey Hall of Fame.

"I'll never forget the time, when I was a raw rookie, that I tried to body-check Morenz," the ex-Guelph amateur recalled yesterday. "He sent me sprawling without hardly moving his body. I sure thought I was killed."

But hockey is not as rough as many fans think — not as dangerous as football — in his opinion. His only physical memento of his playing days is a broken nose, he pointed out, adding, "and what athletic kid doesn't get that in any kind of contact game?"

"I see no reason why hockey shouldn't be as popular with American boys as it is in Canada, particularly in Rochester, now that we have the artificial outdoor rink at Genesee Valley Park and will have the War Memorial indoor rink," O'Halloran said.

"It's just a matter of proper training and long practice. In hockey you play from the hips down, whereas in speed skating the whole body comes into play. A kid can soon be taught how to protect himself, body check, turn on a dime, and all that. Then you have shinguards, pads and the rest. I'm high on it as a healthful, safe sport for youngsters."

The ex-Canadian, long a Kodak employe, recalled such fellow Rochester Hockey Club and Kodak team players as Roy Gifford, Art Jackman, George Fowler, Bob Kidd and one "Sharpie" back in the '20s and early '30s. Phil Burnham was coach of the city six. They played on the outdoor rinks of the Country Club of Rochester, Cobbs Hill and on the indoor ice at Edgerton Park.

The game is much faster now than when he played it, O'Halloran pointed out.

"There's lots more skating and passing — like in football and basketball — since forward passing came in. In my day we could only lateral."

Bolstering his hopes for a hockey revival here is the promise of Frank Selke, manager of the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, that Rochester eventually will have an American Hockey League team, playing against the Buffalo Bisons in that minor loop. Selke conferred on that prospect here with the War Memorial Commission a fortnight ago.

A full-scale schedule, however, will not be possible until the fall of 1956 because of the opening of the American Bowling Congress tournament (lasting three months) in April of that year.

A big factor in the potential popularity of the ice game here is the large number of Canadians now residing in the area — all ardent fans — and the proximity of the Dominion as player recruiting territory.

Memorial Service Set Today for Clara Hale

A memorial service for Mrs. Clara Andrews Hale; widow of a long-time president of Lawyers Cooperative Publishing Co. and a civic leader in her own right, will be held at 4 p. m. today in the chapel of Colgate Rochester Divinity School.

Mrs. Hale died Saturday (Jan. 15, 1955) at the age of 94 in her home at 19 Prince St. Her health had been poor for some time.

The Rev. Wilbur Eddy Saunders, D.D., president of the Divinity School and Mrs. Hale's son-in-law, and the Rev. C. Everard Deems, pastor of First Baptist Church, will officiate at the service.

Twice in her life Mrs. Hale was honored for her humanitarian works during wartime. The king of Serbia conferred upon her the Kosovo Medal for service during World War I. In the second World War, she was given a Red Cross certificate "in recognition of meritorious personal service."

She was born in Rochester, the daughter of the late Ezra and Betsy Andrews. After graduation from Rochester Free Academy and Wellesley College, she joined the faculty of McMasters University in Toronto, Ont., where she taught for two years.

She married the late William Barton Hale, who later headed the Lawyers Cooperative Publishing Co. for 35 years. Their son, Ezra A. Hale, now is president of the firm.

Highlights of her extensive community activities were the presidency of the women's board of Rochester Institute of Technology; holding office in the Hillside Children's Center, and the regency of Irondequoit Chapter, American Daughters of the Revolution.

She also was a charter member of the Century Club and held associate memberships at the Genesee Valley Club and the Country Club of Rochester. She belonged to First Baptist Church.

In addition to her son, survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Stanhope Foster of Long Island, Mrs. Wilbur Eddy Saunders of Rochester and Mrs. John C. Trahey of Webster; a sister, Miss Kate Rider Andrews; six grandchildren, Thomas H. Gosnell, Arthur James Gosnell Jr., William B. Hale II, Miss Ann Hale, Andrews Hale and Mrs. Glenn Jepsen, and six great-grandchildren.
